Nixon Finds No "Bottleneck" At Refugee Center

Says Flow To Camp Kilmer Could Be Hiked

CAMP KILMER, N.J., Dec. 27 (AP) — Vice President Nixon inspected this Hungarian refugee headquarters today and said he found no "bottleneck" that would prevent increasing the flow of the immigrants to America.

Nixon, who has indicated he favors increasing the present quota of 21,500 refugees, said he thought Camp Kilmer would be able to process 500 a day "in the very near future."

The camp currently is sending out 275 refugees a day, a spokesman said. At that rate the present quota of 21,500 will have been processed by Feb. 19.

However, the spokesman said machines to be installed tomorrow night would enable the center to send out 500 refugees a day, enabling the project to be completed Jan. 22.

Nixon, Relief Group Meet

Nixon ate lunch here, toured the camp and then met with the President's Committee on Hungarian Refugee Relief in closed session.

Afterward, he issued a statement and held a news conference.

He noted that less than two per cent of the refugees had to stay at Kilmer for more than two weeks. Asked if the rate of resettlement is holding up plans to bring in more refugees, he said it was not.

The 500-a-day figure, he said, is an "adequate" rate to "take any number of refugees that are anticipated."

AFL-CIO Cooperating

Nixon said the refugees will not be sent to areas where there is unemployment and added that there are "plenty of places" where labor shortages exist.

He said the AFL-CIO had given "superb" cooperation in waiving union dues and applications.

In his prepared statement, he expressed confidence that "the people of the United States will respond with contributions."

Before coming here for a few hours prior to returning to Washington, Nixon had conferred with former President Hoover in New York on the refugee problem and called the refugees "a national asset" to America.

Four Indicted In Bizarre Oil Map Theft Case

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 27 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted four men for conspiracy in connection with the theft from Gulf Oil Corp. of geological oil maps whose value was termed "fabulous." Two geologists were named as co-conspirators, but not indicted.

The 19-member grand jury returned the indictment after a two-hour session in which it heard two key government witnesses, including a former Gulf Oil geologist named as the employe who stole the maps.

He is 47-year-old Thomas W. B. Smith, a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh. Smith had been employed by Gulf for 25 years before being dismissed last January.

Texas Geologist Named

The grand jury presentement referred to Smith and John Marvin Leivia, 34, Orange, Tex., geologist, as "unindicted co-conspirators."

Indicted on charges of conspiring to transport stolen property—maps — in interstate commerce were:

Odie Richard Seagraves, 70, well-known Houston, Tex., oil and natural gas promoter.

Irving Milner, about 40, formerly of New York and now believed to be somewhere in Canada, according to the government.

Brothers Indicted

Emanuel Lester, also known as Emanuel Lieberman, 32, of New York, serving a prison term for attempted extortion of slain financier Serge Rubeinstein.

Edward Lieberman, 30, of New York, brother of Emanuel and president of the U.S. Tackless Corp., New York carpet firm.

In New York, Seagraves and Lieberman waived a hearing before a U.S. commissioner and were continued in $5,000 bail each pending their appearance for pleading to the Pittsburgh indictments Jan. 18. Lester, who changed his name from Lieberman in the 1940s, remained in jail.

In charge is Benjamin F. Fairless, retired board chairman of U. S. Steel.

Traveling with Fairless today were United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis, President Colgate W. Darden Jr. of the University of Virginia, and Vice Chairman Jesse W. Tapp of the board of directors of the Bank of America.

Negroes Fear Violence, Call Off Bus Rides

Validity Of Florida Segregation Laws Put Before Courts

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP)—The validity of Florida's segregated bus seating laws was put before both federal and state courts today, shortly after a band of about 40 jeering white teenagers caused Negro leaders to call off a scheduled demonstration of desegregated bus riding.

Cities Transit, Inc., filed suit in U.S. District Court asking a declatory decree on whether the bus line, which Negroes are seeking to integrate, is bound by state and city laws requiring segregated seating, with Negroes at the rear and whites at the front.

At the same time, the city filed a surprise suit in Circuit Court asking that the company be forced to operate its buses on a segregated basis or forfeit its franchise within 30 days.

Franchise Suspended

The city last midnight suspended the Cities Transit franchise on the ground the company was not enforcing segregated seating against Negro riders being urged by their leaders to sit where they please on buses. The company operated buses today, however, contending the city's action was illegal.

U.S. Dist. Judge Dozier Devane tonight granted the company a temporary injunction restraining the city from interfering with bus operations until the validity of the segregated seating laws is settled.

Company Seeks Damages

In addition to asking the federal court to decide the validity of Florida's segregated seating law, the bus company's suit also seeks $100,000 in damages from the five city commissioners, the city manager and the police chief as individuals.

A crowd of some 200 white persons were gathered at the main downtown transfer point when the Reg. C. K. Steele, leader of the Negroes' drive to integrate the buses, and 16 officers and members of the Inter Civic Council arrived to carry out their announced intention of boarding buses and taking front seats, reserved by law for white patrons.

Although Steele and his group backed away from riding the buses, smaller groups and individual Negroes were seen riding in the front sections of buses at intervals during the late afternoon.

Film Premiere Held In Prison

STORMVILLE, N. Y., Dec. 27 (AP)—For perhaps the first time, the world premiere of a Hollywood movie was held today inside a prison.

Some 2,100 convicts at Green Haven State Prison here hooted and roared with laughter at RKO'S "Public Pigeon No. 1" a broad comedy of prison life.

It starred Red Skelton with Vivian Blaine and Janet Blair. The girls, in technicolor, drew whistles from the convicts.

A prison guard was stationed at each end of every aisle during the two showings needed to accommodate all the prisoners.

The prisoners had selected Skelton as their favorite comedian and Warden Edward M. Fay had asked that the picture be shown as the regular Christmas week movie. RKO arranged the premiere with the approval of the State Dept. of Corrections.

Ike Names 'Jock' Whitney Ambassador To Britain

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — President Eisenhower today chose a millionaire financier, sportsman and philanthropist, John Hay (Jock) Whitney, for the key diplomatic post of ambassador to Great Britain.

Whitney, a 52-year-old golf partner of the President's and one of his early political supporters, will take over the big London embassy in February when the resignation of Winthrop W. Aldrich, the present ambassador, takes effect.

Eisenhower accepted Aldrich's resignation today with "the utmost reluctance." The 71-year-old former chairman of the Chase National Bank has represented American interests in Britain for four years.

Whitney, in his first diplomatic post, will be confronted with the immediate task of helping rebuild Anglo-American relations to the high level that existed before the Anglo-French invasion of the Suez Canal zone.

Whitney's appointment was the most important one so far disclosed by the administration in its reported move to name some 30 new envoys within the next six months.

The President is understood to have decided to send Whitney to London after receiving assurances that he would stay on the job as long as the White House needed him.

Whitney is the senior partner of J. H. Whitney & Co. organized in 1946 to help finance the growth of new industries. In the same year Whitney established the John Hay Whitney Foundation which carries out a number of educational projects.

North Sumatra Revolt Leader Surrenders

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Dec. 27 (AP) — Indonesia's central government announced tonight that the leader of North Sumatra's army revolt has surrendered and has been replaced by a loyal officer.

Information Minister Sudibjo confirmed a radio report from Medan that there has been a transfer of power to Lt. Col. Djamin Gintings.

He said the government was waiting for a full report on what the acting governor of North Sumatra, Sutan Komala Pontas, described as a still serious situation.

This move may save the Indonesian Cabinet and solve the present crisis, well-informed sources in the capital said.

But there were mounting reports from other parts of Indonesia that unrest and dissatisfaction with the government of Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo were growing.

The Medan radio said the leader of the revolt, Col. Mauldin Simbolon, had been arrested by Gintings in the takeover.

Sudibjo told reporters that Simbolon had "given himself up voluntarily."

Gintings, named by President Sukarno to replace Simbolon when Sukarno announced dismissal of the revolt leader from his command, pledged loyalty to the President. Then Gov. Pontas summoned all government, army and police officials in Medan to discuss the situation. Sudibjo said. Later Pontas went on the Medan radio to plead with the people to remain calm.

K. H. Dashlan, chairman of the Orthodox Moslem party, who arrived from Medan, said he saw Simbolon's house surrounded by tanks.

Dachlan reported:

"The officer in command of the tanks called to Simbolon over a megaphone: 'Col. Simbolon, you had better surrender. If not we will open fire.'"

Dachlan said he had not heard any firing and assumed Simbolon surrendered.

Tanker Plane Crash In Alaska Kills Eight

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 27 (AP)—An Air Force tanker plane carried its eight-man crew to death last night on a snow-covered mountainside northwest of here.

The Air Force reported a ground party and two helicopeters today reached the spot where the four-engine plane struck, exploded and burned. There were no survivors.

The Pentagon announced the plane's home base was Turner Air Force Base at Albany, Ga.

The air officials declined to say whether the KB29, a tanker version of the World War II B29, was loaded with gasoline for aerial refueling.

New York Presses "Mad Bomber" Hunt

Device Found In Grand Central Terminal

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP) — A bomblike device was found in Grand Central Railway Terminal today only hours after officials said the city would post a $25,000 reward for capture of a tormenting "Mad Bomber."

It was possible the police had a second tormenter on their hands, for the device discovered in Grand Central was of a different design than those the "Mad Bomber" has planted for the past 16 years.

Police meanwhile were plagued with telephone calls of a hoax variety announcing that bombs had been planted at scattered places in the city—such as Coast Guard headquarters, the Egyptian U.N. headquarters, a department store, a theater and a hospital.

Another "Bomb" Promised

And a note found in Grand Central promised that another "bomb" would be found there.

City officials said informally the Board of Estimate, the city's highest ruling body, would approve a $25,000 reward tomorrow for information leading to the capture and conviction of the "Mad Bomber."

The Patrolmen's Benevolent Assn. said it was offering $1,000 in addition.

The Grand Central excitement started when a woman ran up to Tom Desmon, who runs a newsstand, and handed him a grim-looking device made of aluminum pipe. It was closed at one end and had a watch at the other.

Area Cleared By Police

She said she found it in a nearby telephone booth in a lower-level passageway near 45th St.

Desmond hastily placed the device in a box and notified police.

Police cleared the area to nassersby, while bomb squad experts removed the device to an isolated courtyard baggage area. It was kept under guard there until the bomb squad's specially-constructed metal truck arrived and took it away for examination.

Army Proposes Manpower Cut, 'Pentomic' Units

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Army proposed today to reduce the manpower of its divisions and reorganize them for atomic warfare.

It asked the White House and Defense Department to approve the creation of new "pentomic" units made up of five combat groups instead of the present three regiments. The word "pentomic" apparently is a combination of the Greek "penta," meaning five-element, and atomic.

The Army plan would make a 3,700-man reduction in the present 17,455 strength of an infantry division; a 5,600 cut in the 17,100-man airborne division and a "minor" reduction in the 14,684 strength of an armored division.

Application Period

The plan would be started during the coming year, but would require a considerable period" for application to all the 19 divisions of the Army.

An Army announcement stated "the numerical reduction in the division strength does not result from an over-all reduction in the requirements for military manpower but reflects a redistribution of strength throughout the combat zone."

Official Army spokesmen declined to elaborate on this.

They consequently left unclear the size of U. S. Army forces in Europe, where five divisions are deployed as part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization defenses on the continent.

European Slash Indicated

The five divisions are made up of three infantry outfits and two armored units.

If the reduction outlined in the announcement is followed, it would seem at least an 11,100-man cut in infantry strength, with a small reduction in armored force strength, is contemplated for the European force. But the reference to a "redistribution of strength throughout the combat zone" left unexplained whether a counterbalancing buildup is contemplated or whether combat strength reduction in Europe actually is on the way.

Pa. Plane Crash Fatal To Three

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 27 (AP) —A twin-engine plane recently acquired by Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. crashed and burned in a wooded area nine miles north of here near the Ohio line today. All three persons aboard were killed.

The plane, a converted Navy Super Ventura, took off from the Youngstown, Ohio, airport on an instrument familizarization flight shortly before 2 p.m. State police said it crashed a short time later.

The dead, identified by officials of the Ohio firm, were:

A. L. Tucker, of Youngstown, the firm's chief pilot.

Whit Tillotson, of Toledo, the copilot who joined the firm only a few weeks ago.

Al Gravelle, of Yankee Lake, Ohio, a copilot-mechanic.

The craft crashed near Pulaski, Pa., just a few miles east of Youngstown. Two volunteer fire departments fought the blaze, but the plane was totally destroyed.

Weeks Predicts Another Record Business Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Business may expand at a slower rate in 1957, Secretary of Commerce Weeks predicted today, but "barring grave emergency," the economy as a whole should set records.

"On balance, I expect 1957 to be a better year than 1956," Weeks said in a year-end statement. Employment, income and production all should go higher than this year's record totals, he declared.

Calling attention to economic problems ahead, Weeks put inflation at the top of the list. Noting that consumer prices rose 2½ per cent from November, 1955, to November, 1956, he said:

"Government, business, labor and consumer all have a responsibility in fostering healthy growth and in avoiding attitudes encouraging to an inflationary boom or other excesses."

412 Billion Output In '56

The nation's output in the past year totaled 412 billion dollars in value, a rise of about 21 billions or more than 5 per cent above 1955. The rate of output as the year ended was considerably higher, but Weeks noted that about half the 1956 gain in the value of goods and services produced reflected the rise in prices.

Business confidence in the future was reflected in record-breaking investment in new plants and equipment, he said, to a total more than fifth higher than the 1955 outlays.

Personal Income Climbs

Personal income climbed to a total of 325 billion dollars for the year, 6 per cent above 1955, while wages and salaries—the most important type of income—were 7 per cent higher.

There were two million more jobholders than in the previous year, with employment averaging 65 million over the year. Employment in manufacturing did not advance, however, and in July was lowered by the steel strike.

The secretary estimated that disposable personal income, meaning the money kept by consumers after payment of taxes, was up about 6 per cent in dollars. Because of price rises, however, the real purchasing power of such income gained only 4 per cent.

Jersey Standard Stakes Billion Dollars On Boom

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) staked 1¼ billion dollars today on a continued worldwide boom in oil.

That's the amount the big company will spend improving its facilities and searching for oil and natural gas next year.

The spending program will be the largest the company ever has undertaken. It's 20 per cent more than Jersey Standard spent this year.

Eugene Holman, chairman of the board, said the decision to go ahead with the huge capital outlay was taken in the belief that world demand for oil would continue to rise despite "current uncertainities" in the Middle East.

He said the company feels that not only will 1957 be a better business year than 1956 but that the world stands on the threshold of an "era of oil energy" extending many years into the future.

"This belief in the future of oil is not one at which the Jersey company has recently arrived," said Holman. "In addition to the expenditures planned for 1957 our company has spent, in the 11 years since the end of World War II, more than seven billion dollars for capital investments such as refineries, pipelines, tankers producing wells, research and other facilities, and for other expenses in search for the oil and gas demanded by an energy-hungry world."

About 80 per cent of the 1957 outlay will be spent in the Western Hemisphere, Holman said. The balance has been earmarked primarily for Europe.

Agreement Provides UN Supervision

Total Of 18 Vessels From Five Nations Available For Work

PORT SAID, Egypt, Dec. 27 (AP) —Clearance of the southern end of the Suez Canal will begin tomorrow under United Nations supervision, U. N. and Egyptian spokesmen announced tonight.

Their statements marked a big step forward in snarled negotiations aimed at getting the work underway. But observers pointed out that only a small scale beginning is being made.

U. S. Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler told newsmen two vessels would start the work. He called them dredgers. But the Egyptian spokesman at Suez, the port at the south end of the canal, said one Swedish dredger and one Egyptian naval vessel would begin the job "on three or four obstacles."

Wheeler had expressed hope the work would begin today, but he said, "Egyptian authorities have informed us they must clear mines before we can proceed with clearance work."

Canal Closed Two Months

The Egyptian spokesman, a representative of the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority, said no work whatever was done today.

The canal has been closed for almost two months, halting shipments of oil vitally needed in Western Europe.

Wheeler has ready for the salvage work a total of 18 vessels—Danish, Dutch, Swedish, Belgian and German, all under contract to a Danish-Dutch consortium. There was no word from either U.N. or Egyptian sources on when any of them would be employed except for the one Swedish ship to be used at Suez tomorrow. Wheeler is seeking to build up a fleet of about 30 ships.

Wheeler's announcement gave no indication that Egypt had relented in her stand against permitting the large British and French salvage fleet at Port Said to move southward into the canal to begin lifting sunken ships and bridges which have blocked the waterway since the brief Suez war.

Dag Aides On Scene

Andrew Cordier and Alfred G. Katzin, two of the chief aides of U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, arrived in the Suez Canal zone for consultations on that and other problems. They conferred with Wheeler and Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns, U.N. police force commander, and were reported hopeful of seeing Egyptian President Nasser.

Until the Wheeler announcement, the official Egyptian position had been that no clearance operations south of Port Said would be permitted until Israeli forces withdraw from Egypt.

Flames Destroy 18 More Homes In Resort Area

MALIBU, Calif., Dec. 27 (AP) —A new fire threatening the main part of the Malibu community was touched off tonight by sparks from an uncontrolled brush fire that has caused millions of dollars worth of damage along the Southern California coast.

MALIBU, Calif., Dec. 27 (AP)—An estimated 18 more homes were destroyed today in sudden thrusts of an uncontrolled brush fire that has caused millions of dollars in damage in its sweep along the Southern California coast.

County Fire Chief Keith Klinger said approximately 50 homes have been destroyed since the fire broke out yesterday in the tinder dry brush of the Malibu area.

A thousand men are battling the blaze.

Earlier the fire spread along the coast but today racing prongs probed inland where residents had previously evacuated their homes. County firemen said they believed at least 12 homes were lost in Latigo Canyon and others were destroyed in Solistice Canyon.

A few attempts were made to bombard the fire with water and chemicals from aerial tanker planes. However, sheriff's officers said this was not successful.

Early today the winds abated somewhat but late today started blowing again, reaching velocities of 40 to 50 miles per hour along the ridges. The perimeter of the fire increased to 35 miles.

One life has been lost and more than 21,000 acres of watershed burned over.

Weather Forecast

Whitney, in his first diplomatic post, will be confronted with the immediate task of helping rebuild Anglo-American relations to the high level that existed before the Anglo-French invasion of the Suez Canal zone.

Whitney's appointment was the most important one so far disclosed by the administration in its reported move to name some 30 new envoys within the next six months.

The President is understood to have decided to send Whitney to London after receiving assurances that he would stay on the job as long as the White House needed him.

Whitney is the senior partner of J. H. Whitney & Co. organized in 1946 to help finance the growth of new industries. In the same year Whitney established the John Hay Whitney Foundation which carries out a number of educational projects.

Suspected Bomb Found In Grand Central

North Sumatra Revolt Leader Surrenders

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Dec. 27 (AP) — Indonesia's central government announced tonight that the leader of North Sumatra's army revolt has surrendered and has been replaced by a loyal officer.

Information Minister Sudibjo confirmed a radio report from Medan that there has been a transfer of power to Lt. Col. Djamin Gintings.

He said the government was waiting for a full report on what the acting governor of North Sumatra, Sutan Komala Pontas, described as a still serious situation.

This move may save the Indonesian Cabinet and solve the present crisis, well-informed sources in the capital said.

But there were mounting reports from other parts of Indonesia that unrest and dissatisfaction with the government of Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo were growing.

The Medan radio said the leader of the revolt, Col. Mauldin Simbolon, had been arrested by Gintings in the takeover.

Sudibjo told reporters that Simbolon had "given himself up voluntarily."

Gintings, named by President Sukarno to replace Simbolon when Sukarno announced dismissal of the revolt leader from his command, pledged loyalty to the President. Then Gov. Pontas summoned all government, army and police officials in Medan to discuss the situation. Sudibjo said. Later Pontas went on the Medan radio to plead with the people to remain calm.

K. H. Dashlan, chairman of the Orthodox Moslem party, who arrived from Medan, said he saw Simbolon's house surrounded by tanks.

Dachlan reported:

"The officer in command of the tanks called to Simbolon over a megaphone: 'Col. Simbolon, you had better surrender. If not we will open fire.'"

Dachlan said he had not heard any firing and assumed Simbolon surrendered.

Tanker Plane Crash In Alaska Kills Eight

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 27 (AP)—An Air Force tanker plane carried its eight-man crew to death last night on a snow-covered mountainside northwest of here.

The Air Force reported a ground party and two helicopeters today reached the spot where the four-engine plane struck, exploded and burned. There were no survivors.

The Pentagon announced the plane's home base was Turner Air Force Base at Albany, Ga.

The air officials declined to say whether the KB29, a tanker version of the World War II B29, was loaded with gasoline for aerial refueling.

New York Presses "Mad Bomber" Hunt

Device Found In Grand Central Terminal

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP) — A bomblike device was found in Grand Central Railway Terminal today only hours after officials said the city would post a $25,000 reward for capture of a tormenting "Mad Bomber."

It was possible the police had a second tormenter on their hands, for the device discovered in Grand Central was of a different design than those the "Mad Bomber" has planted for the past 16 years.

Police meanwhile were plagued with telephone calls of a hoax variety announcing that bomos had been planted at scattered places in the city—such as Coast Guard headquarters, the Egyptian U.N. headquarters, a department store, a theater and a hospital.

Another "Bomb" Promised

And a note found in Grand Central promised that another "bomb" would be found there.

City officials said informally the Board of Estimate, the city's highest ruling body, would approve a $25,000 reward tomorrow for information leading to the capture and conviction of the "Mad Bomber."

The Patrolmen's Benevolent Assn. said it was offering $1,000 in addition.

The Grand Central excitement started when a woman ran up to Tom Desmon, who runs a newsstand, and handed him a grim-looking device made of aluminum pipe. It was closed at one end and had a watch at the other.

Area Cleared By Police

She said she found it in a nearby telephone booth in a lower-level passageway near 45th St.

Desmond hastily placed the device in a box and notified police.

Police cleared the area to nassersby, while bomb squad experts removed the device to an isolated courtyard baggage area. It was kept under guard there until the bomb squad's specially-constructed metal truck arrived and took it away for examination.

Army Proposes Manpower Cut, 'Pentomic' Units

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Army proposed today to reduce the manpower of its divisions and reorganize them for atomic warfare.

It asked the White House and Defense Department to approve the creation of new "pentomic" units made up of five combat groups instead of the present three regiments. The word "pentomic" apparently is a combination of the Greek "penta," meaning five-element, and atomic.

The Army plan would make a 3,700-man reduction in the present 17,455 strength of an infantry division; a 5,600 cut in the 17,100-man airborne division and a "minor" reduction in the 14,684 strength of an armored division.

Application Period

The plan would be started during the coming year, but would require a considerable period" for application to all the 19 divisions of the Army.

An Army announcement stated "the numerical reduction in the division strength does not result from an over-all reduction in the requirements for military manpower but reflects a redistribution of strength throughout the combat zone."

Official Army spokesmen declined to elaborate on this.

They consequently left unclear the size of U. S. Army forces in Europe, where five divisions are deployed as part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization defenses on the continent.

European Slash Indicated

The five divisions are made up of three infantry outfits and two armored units.

If the reduction outlined in the announcement is followed, it would seem at least an 11,100-man cut in infantry strength, with a small reduction in armored force strength, is contemplated for the European force. But the reference to a "redistribution of strength throughout the combat zone" left unexplained whether a counterbalancing buildup is contemplated or whether combat strength reduction in Europe actually is on the way.

Pa. Plane Crash Fatal To Three

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 27 (AP)—A twin-engine plane recently acquired by Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. crashed and burned in a wooded area nine miles north of here near the Ohio line today. All three persons aboard were killed.

The plane, a converted Navy Super Ventura, took off from the Youngstown, Ohio, airport on an instrument familizarization flight shortly before 2 p.m. State police said it crashed a short time later.

The dead, identified by officials of the Ohio firm, were:

A. L. Tucker, of Youngstown, the firm's chief pilot.

Whit Tillotson, of Toledo, the copilot who joined the firm only a few weeks ago.

Al Gravelle, of Yankee Lake, Ohio, a copilot-mechanic.

The craft crashed near Pulaski, Pa., just a few miles east of Youngstown. Two volunteer fire departments fought the blaze, but the plane was totally destroyed.

Weeks Predicts Another Record Business Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Business may expand at a slower rate in 1957, Secretary of Commerce Weeks predicted today, but "barring grave emergency," the economy as a whole should set records.

"On balance, I expect 1957 to be a better year than 1956," Weeks said in a year-end statement. Employment, income and production all should go higher than this year's record totals, he declared.

Calling attention to economic problems ahead, Weeks put inflation at the top of the list. Noting that consumer prices rose 2½ per cent from November, 1955, to November, 1956, he said:

"Government, business, labor and consumer all have a responsibility in fostering healthy growth and in avoiding attitudes encouraging to an inflationary boom or other excesses."

412 Billion Output In '56

The nation's output in the past year totaled 412 billion dollars in value, a rise of about 21 billions or more than 5 per cent above 1955. The rate of output as the year ended was considerably higher, but Weeks noted that about half the 1956 gain in the value of goods and services produced reflected the rise in prices.

Business confidence in the future was reflected in record-breaking investment in new plants and equipment, he said, to a total more than fifth higher than the 1955 outlays.

Personal Income Climbs

Personal income climbed to a total of 325 billion dollars for the year, 6 per cent above 1955, while wages and salaries—the most important type of income—were 7 per cent higher.

There were two million more jobholders than in the previous year, with employment averaging 65 million over the year. Employment in manufacturing did not advance, however, and in July was lowered by the steel strike.

The secretary estimated that disposable personal income, meaning the money kept by consumers after payment of taxes, was up about 6 per cent in dollars. Because of price rises, however, the real purchasing power of such income gained only 4 per cent.

Jersey Standard Stakes Billion Dollars On Boom

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) staked 1¼ billion dollars today on a continued worldwide boom in oil.

That's the amount the big company will spend improving its facilities and searching for oil and natural gas next year.

The spending program will be the largest the company ever has undertaken. It's 20 per cent more than Jersey Standard spent this year.

Eugene Holman, chairman of the board, said the decision to go ahead with the huge capital outlay was taken in the belief that world demand for oil would continue to rise despite "current uncertainities" in the Middle East.

He said the company feels that not only will 1957 be a better business year than 1956 but that the world stands on the threshold of an "era of oil energy" extending many years into the future.

"This belief in the future of oil is not one at which the Jersey company has recently arrived," said Holman. "In addition to the expenditures planned for 1957 our company has spent, in the 11 years since the end of World War II, more than seven billion dollars for capital investments such as refineries, pipelines, tankers producing wells, research and other facilities, and for other expenses in search for the oil and gas demanded by an energy-hungry world."

About 80 per cent of the 1957 outlay will be spent in the Western Hemisphere, Holman said. The balance has been earmarked primarily for Europe.

Agreement Provides UN Supervision

Total Of 18 Vessels From Five Nations Available For Work

PORT SAID, Egypt, Dec. 27 (AP)—Clearance of the southern end of the Suez Canal will begin tomorrow under United Nations supervision, U. N. and Egyptian spokesmen announced tonight.

Their statements marked a big step forward in snarled negotiations aimed at getting the work underway. But observers pointed out that only a small scale beginning is being made.

U. S. Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler told newsmen two vessels would start the work. He called them dredgers. But the Egyptian spokesman at Suez, the port at the south end of the canal, said one Swedish dredger and one Egyptian naval vessel would begin the job "on three or four obstacles."

Wheeler had expressed hope the work would begin today, but he said, "Egyptian authorities have informed us they must clear mines before we can proceed with clearance work."

Canal Closed Two Months

The Egyptian spokesman, a representative of the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority, said no work whatever was done today.

The canal has been closed for almost two months, halting shipments of oil vitally needed in Western Europe.

Wheeler has ready for the salvage work a total of 18 vessels—Danish, Dutch, Swedish, Belgian and German, all under contract to a Danish-Dutch consortium. There was no word from either U.N. or Egyptian sources on when any of them would be employed except for the one Swedish ship to be used at Suez tomorrow. Wheeler is seeking to build up a fleet of about 30 ships.

Wheeler's announcement gave no indication that Egypt had relented in her stand against permitting the large British and French salvage fleet at Port Said to move southward into the canal to begin lifting sunken ships and bridges which have blocked the waterway since the brief Suez war.

Dag Aides On Scene

Andrew Cordier and Alfred G. Katzin, two of the chief aides of U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, arrived in the Suez Canal zone for consultations on that and other problems. They conferred with Wheeler and Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns, U.N. police force commander, and were reported hopeful of seeing Egyptian President Nasser.

Until the Wheeler announcement, the official Egyptian position had been that no clearance operations south of Port Said would be permitted until Israeli forces withdraw from Egypt.

Flames Destroy 18 More Homes In Resort Area

MALIBU, Calif., Dec. 27 (AP)—A new fire threatening the main part of the Malibu community was touched off tonight by sparks from an uncontrolled brush fire that has caused millions of dollars worth of damage along the Southern California coast.

MALIBU, Calif., Dec. 27 (AP)—An estimated 18 more homes were destroyed today in sudden thrusts of an uncontrolled brush fire that has caused millions of dollars in damage in its sweep along the Southern California coast.

County Fire Chief Keith Klinger said approximately 50 homes have been destroyed since the fire broke out yesterday in the tinder dry brush of the Malibu area.

A thousand men are battling the blaze.

Earlier the fire spread along the coast but today racing prongs probed inland where residents had previously evacuated their homes. County firemen said they believed at least 12 homes were lost in Latigo Canyon and others were destroyed in Solistice Canyon.

A few attempts were made to bombard the fire with water and chemicals from aerial tanker planes. However, sheriff's officers said this was not successful.

Early today the winds abated somewhat but late today started blowing again, reaching velocities of 40 to 50 miles per hour along the ridges. The perimeter of the fire increased to 35 miles.

One life has been lost and more than 21,000 acres of watershed burned over.

Soviets Withdraw Only Few Of Tanks In Hungary Capital

BUDAPEST, Dec. 27 (AP)—Some Russian tanks began withdrawing today from the Danube River bridges in the Hungarian capital. But 66 days after the outbreak of the Hungarian revolution the big Soviet T34s still surrounded the Parliament building and still held other strategic places.

Soviet troops and armor also continued to occupy virtually all the Budapest army barracks.

The last three tanks guarding the Danube chain bridge vanished today from the Pest side. Some other tanks were also withdrawn from the East Railway Station over Christmas.

But the Parliament building, seat of Soviet-imposed Premier Janos Kadar's government, remained ringed with both tanks and armored cars. Tanks also still guarded various other Danube bridges, the Communist party headquarters, the damaged Budapest radio building and the Soviet Embassy.

The number of Russian armored cars patrolling downtown Budapest during daylight appeared to have decreased.

Kadar is reported still insisting he wants to present to the nation a new "declaration of policy" which he hopes can quell the continuous rebellious mood of the people and make a start on relieving the nation's economic chaos.

But he has run into trouble with his economic advisors, a Hungarian source said.

The nation's best economic brains had been drafted to draw up some kind of program but they are reported in disagreement and have demanded more time.

The political stalemate also continues. If there is a chance to rebuild the government by inducing non-Communist parties to join a "coalition regime," the Russians' best hope of gaining popular support would be to prevail on Bela Kovacs, secretary general of the Smallholders party, to come into it.

Missing Attorney's Body Found In Bay

STEVENSVILLE, Md., Dec. 27 (AP)—The body of Ross George Porter, an attorney who had been missing since Nov. 21, was found in Chesapeake Bay off Kent Island today.

Fountain Davidson of Stevensville, found the body floating in Kentmorr Airpark Harbor and towed it ashore.

The body was later identified as Porter by his law partner, Woodrow Schriver.

Schriver said Porter was last seen when he left Annapolis Nov. 21 in his power boat en route to Solomons Island to store it for the winter. No trace of the boat was found.

Tributes Paid Wilson, Born 100 Years Ago

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Woodrow Wilson, born 100 years ago tomorrow, was eulogized tonight as a peacemaker, administrator and one of "our five or six greatest presidents."

Tributes came from President Eisenhower and former Presidents Truman and Hoover as part of an international observance of the Wilson Centennial.

Eisenhower's statement, prepared for a ceremony in Paris, France, tomorrow, was made public by the Woodrow Wilson Centennial Celebration Commission here.

"Wilson's defense of human rights and liberties makes him a splendid symbol of the enduring friendship that has bound our countries together since the days of Lafayette," Eisenhower said.

"Wilson's concept of a great family of nations living peacefully together and ruled with justice under law is still our dedicated goal."

The Paris observance takes special note of Wilson's help in creating the League of Nations after World War I.

Truman wrote the commission he thought that William Jennings Bryan "did the country a major service in bringing about Woodrow Wilson's nomination.

"I am pleased indeed that your efforts are being directed toward giving Woodrow Wilson his proper place among our five or six greatest presidents," Truman added.

Former President Hoover praised Wilson as "one of the best administrative minds we have have ever had in the White House." As a young man, Hoover served under Wilson during World War I and the Paris peace conference.

Hoover said the United Nations charter follows every major pattern of the covenant of the League of Nations, adding: "No greater monument than this could be erected to the ideas and ideals of Woodrow Wilson."

There will be a special ceremony tomorrow at Staunton, Va., where Wilson was born Dec. 28, 1856. Wilson's widow, still living in Washington, will be the guest of honor, and Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the United States, will address a dinner.

Boy, 11, Accidentally Kills His Mother

HARRISONBURG, Va., Dec. 27 (AP)—Landon Huffman, who is 11, spotted a rabbit outside his home near here yesterday and in hastily loading a shotgun it fired and killed his mother, Mrs. Roy W. Huffman, 35.

A deputy sheriff said young Huffman, one of five sons, was about nine feet from his mother who was getting ready to mix bread dough.

Star Removed From Ape House

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 27 (AP)—Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner today ordered a 12-foot lighted star removed from the ape house of the Columbus Zoo. The mayor and zoo officials said they had received complaints that the Christmas decoration was sacrilegious.

Zoo employes, among them Ohio State University veterinary students, built the star and put it up Christmas Eve. It is above the home of the first baby gorilla born in captivity.

Complaints apparently centered around similarity between the star of Bethlehem and the star over the gorilla. Zoo Supt. Earl Davis said there was no intended connection. He said it was put on the ape house because that building is the only one open at this season, and because it could be seen from the highway.

Three Negroes Held In Slaying Of Mute Student

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—One of five deaf mute students who attempted to rescue a man they mistakenly thought was being attacked or kidnaped was shot to death today.

Nine hours later three Negroes were arrested and one of them, police said, admitted the slaying.

Killed was John Arthur Rieff, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Rieff of Centralia, Wash. He was a freshman at Gallaudet College, whose students have hearing and speech difficulties.

Arrested when they reported for work at a nearby Bethesda, Md., restaurant were Joe Granville Metroyer, Jr., 26, a busboy; Charlie William Harris, 21, another busboy, and Albert Neely, 39, a cook. All are residents of Washington.

Police said Metroyer admitted firing the shot that killed Rieff. Lt. Nunzio Bonnacorsy quoted Metoyer as saying he and the two others had been drinking and that he and Neely were trying to force Harris into a car so that they could take him home to sleep off the effects of his drinking spree.

It was at this point, Metoyer was quoted as saying, that Rieff and the four other white students approached and became involved in the dispute. Metoyer told police he then got his revolver from the car and fired a shot in an attempt to scare off the students. Rieff fell to the street, Metoyer said.

The three Negroes, traced by the license number of the car, will be charged with murder, police said.

Flaming Gasoline Following Crash Isolates Village

ROCKPORT, Ind. Dec. 27 (AP)—Liquid fire cascaded from a wrecked gasoline truck today, melted all telephone and power lines into the town of Gentryville and destroyed a dwelling house before it was brought under control by firemen from seven Indiana and Kentucky cities.

The towering flames destroyed several small outbuildings along with the home of Carl Heffons.

State police said it would be impossible to remove the body of the dead driver, Robert Metzger, 34, Mount Vernon, Ind., before morning. About 3,500 gallons of gasoline remained in the smouldering truck and created a continuous hazard. Traffic was rerouted.

State police reported Metzger's truck, carrying a load of gasoline from Evansville to Huntingburg, Ind., ran off the road and crashed into a big sycamore tree. The cab buckled and hundreds of gallons of flaming gasoline poured from the tank.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 27 (AP)—Dorothy Genokes, 21, learned today that a fire alarm box is an expensive alarm clock.

She testified in city court that she set off the alarm to awaken her boy friend last night.

"I couldn't get him to wake up," she told Judge John Rice, "so I decided to let the fire department do it."

Japanese War Hero To Make U.S. Tour

TOKYO, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Japanese naval aviator who led 352 carrier-based planes in the Dec. 7, 1941, attack on Pearl Harbor left today for the United States.

Former Capt. Mitsuo Fuchida is going this time as a Christian missionary.

"I am now a member of the 'Sky Pilots of America' and that is not a group of fliers but an evangelical organization made of various Protestant denominations," Fuchida said.

Fuchida will attend a "Sky Pilots" meeting at Denver, then make an evangelical tour of America for six months.

Bishop, 2 Others Killed In Crash

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, Dec. 27 (AP)—Three persons including the resident bishop of the East Central area of the Evangelical United Brethren Church and his wife were killed today in a headon truck-car collision on U. S. 40, six miles east of Cambridge, the state highway patrol reported.

A funeral home in Cambridge identified the third victim as Floyd Lovell, 50, of Cincinnati, a part-time employe for the Avis Trucking Co., who was delivering a truck from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati.

Bishop D. T. Gregory, Pittsburgh, and his wife were alone when their west-bound car collided with the truck, the patrol said. The truck burned.

The 66-year-old bishop and his 65-year-old wife were en route to their Pittsburgh home from Dayton, Ohio, where they had visited their only daughter, Mrs. Thelma Jackson, on Christmas.

Bishop Gregory and his wife both were natives of Martinsburg, W. Va.

Truman wrote the commission he thought that William Jennings Bryan "did the country a major service in bringing about Woodrow Wilson's nomination.

"I am pleased indeed that your efforts are being directed toward giving Woodrow Wilson his proper place among our five or six greatest presidents," Truman added.

Former President Hoover praised Wilson as "one of the best administrative minds we have have ever had in the White House." As a young man, Hoover served under Wilson during World War I and the Paris peace conference.

Hoover said the United Nations charter follows every major pattern of the covenant of the League of Nations, adding: "No greater monument than this could be erected to the ideas and ideals of Woodrow Wilson."

There will be a special ceremony tomorrow at Staunton, Va., where Wilson was born Dec. 28, 1856. Wilson's widow, still living in Washington, will be the guest of honor, and Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the United States, will address a dinner.

Boy, 11, Accidentally Kills His Mother

HARRISONBURG, Va., Dec. 27 (AP)—Landon Huffman, who is 11, spotted a rabbit outside his home near here yesterday and in hastily loading a shotgun it fired and killed his mother, Mrs. Roy W. Huffman, 35.

A deputy sheriff said young Huffman, one of five sons, was about nine feet from his mother who was getting ready to mix bread dough.

Star Removed From Ape House

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 27 (AP)—Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner today ordered a 12-foot lighted star removed from the ape house of the Columbus Zoo. The mayor and zoo officials said they had received complaints that the Christmas decoration was sacrilegious.

Zoo employes, among them Ohio State University veterinary students, built the star and put it up Christmas Eve. It is above the home of the first baby gorilla born in captivity.

Complaints apparently centered around similarity between the star of Bethlehem and the star over the gorilla. Zoo Supt. Earl Davis said there was no intended connection. He said it was put on the ape house because that building is the only one open at this season, and because it could be seen from the highway.

Three Negroes Held In Slaying Of Mute Student

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—One of five deaf mute students who attempted to rescue a man they mistakenly thought was being attacked or kidnaped was shot to death today.

Nine hours later three Negroes were arrested and one of them, police said, admitted the slaying.

Killed was John Arthur Rieff, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Rieff of Centralia, Wash. He was a freshman at Gallaudet College, whose students have hearing and speech difficulties.

Arrested when they reported for work at a nearby Bethesda, Md., restaurant were Joe Granville Metroyer, Jr., 26, a busboy; Charlie William Harris, 21, another busboy, and Albert Neely, 39, a cook. All are residents of Washington.

Police said Metroyer admitted firing the shot that killed Rieff. Lt. Nunzio Bonnacorsy quoted Metoyer as saying he and the two others had been drinking and that he and Neely were trying to force Harris into a car so that they could take him home to sleep off the effects of his drinking spree.

It was at this point, Metoyer was quoted as saying, that Rieff and the four other white students approached and became involved in the dispute. Metoyer told police he then got his revolver from the car and fired a shot in an attempt to scare off the students, Rieff fell to the street, Metoyer said.

The three Negroes, traced by the license number of the car, will be charged with murder, police said.

Flaming Gasoline Following Crash Isolates Village

ROCKPORT, Ind. Dec. 27 (AP)—Liquid fire cascaded from a wrecked gasoline truck today, melted all telephone and power lines into the town of Gentryville and destroyed a dwelling house before it was brought under control by firemen from seven Indiana and Kentucky cities.

The towering flames destroyed several small outbuildings along with the home of Carl Heffons.

State police said it would be impossible to remove the body of the dead driver, Robert Metzger, 34, Mount Vernon, Ind., before morning. About 3,500 gallons of gasoline remained in the smouldering truck and created a continuous hazard. Traffic was rerouted.

State police reported Metzger's truck, carrying a load of gasoline from Evansville to Huntingburg, Ind., ran off the road and crashed into a big sycamore tree. The cab buckled and hundreds of gallons of flaming gasoline poured from the tank.

Former Capt. Mitsuo Fuchida is going this time as a Christian missionary.

"I am now a member of the 'Sky Pilots of America' and that is not a group of fliers but an evangelical organization made of various Protestant denominations," Fuchida said.

Fuchida will attend a "Sky Pilots" meeting at Denver, then make an evangelical tour of America for six months.

Bishop, 2 Others Killed In Crash

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, Dec. 27 (AP)—Three persons including the resident bishop of the East Central area of the Evangelical United Brethren Church and his wife were killed today in a headon truck-car collision on U. S. 40, six miles east of Cambridge, the state highway patrol reported.

A funeral home in Cambridge identified the third victim as Floyd Lovell, 50, of Cincinnati, a part-time employe for the Avis Trucking Co., who was delivering a truck from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati.

Bishop D. T. Gregory, Pittsburgh, and his wife were alone when their west-bound car collided with the truck, the patrol said. The truck burned.

The 66-year-old bishop and his 65-year-old wife were en route to their Pittsburgh home from Dayton, Ohio, where they had visited their only daughter, Mrs. Thelma Jackson, on Christmas.

Bishop Gregory and his wife both were natives of Martinsburg, W. Va.

Sociologist Warns Criminals May Get A-Arms Eventually

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Just suppose atomic weapons fell into the hands of criminals or cracks.

This could happen and might happen soon, Dr. Pitirim A. Sorokin, Harvard University sociologist, warned last night. Criminals have latched on to almost every other new weapon in the past.

Armed with atomic weapons, criminals could dictate to a whole city to pay a ransom or meet demands, or kill thousands in a nuclear holdup. Crackpots and hate - filled cliques could wreak addled revenge upon thousands of innocents. Even discovery of a hidden but phony or dud bomb could spark mass hysteria in a city.

Preventing disastrous misuse of nuclear weapons and biological warfare poisons by individuals or governments is one of the most important practical social problems stemming from scientific advance, Dr. Sorokin said in a speech to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

"Experience shows that almost each of the newly discovered weapons, within one or two decades after its invention, passes into the hands of criminals.

"There is hardly any doubt that thermonuclear weapons in a short period will be small in size, and can be easily handled by one or a few individuals. The same can be said of the means of bacteriological warfare."

Dr. Sorokin said it's foolish to think criminals wouldn't use such weapons if they could, or that they wouldn't be able to obtain them at all.

He said there's a worse threat from misuse of modern weapons by "rulers of states, military forces, of business empires, of political parties, fanatical groups, even by international bodies like the United Nations."

"The rulers of states are the most criminal group in a respective population," he said.

He said a study of criminality of rulers shows "one qualified murderer" in every four autocratic monarchs and dictatorial bosses of republics and democracies. They "qualified" by murdering a father, mother, brother or other relative.

Power corrupts, he said, and there's no reason to think present-day or future leaders will miraculously turn into "wise and blameless saints."

"At present the most dangerous group for the whole of mankind is the group of rulers, assisted by the morally irresponsible scientists and inventors of destructive means."

Dr. Sorokin said scientists must be "more morally responsible for their destructive inventions than they have hitherto been," and governments must "show a greater wisdom and moral responsibility in their policies."

Case Proposes New College Aid Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP)—Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) today proposed a new program of federal aid to encourage states to establish or enlarge "community colleges" offering two-year study courses.

As a clue to possible cost, he said he was thinking of extra classrooms for "the 300,000 to 600,000 presently destined to go without college training in the next five years" unless something is done to expand college facilities.

He said the New Jersey Board of Education estimates the construction and equipment costs in his state might run to $3,000 or $4,000 per student. Under his plan the federal government would pay up to a third of that cost.

Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich) has announced he will propose a separate program calling for federal expenditures of a billion dollars a year for two years to build more grade and high schools, the states to put up an equal sum.

Case said "the community college, in effect, is the usual two-year junior college expanded in functions to meet the educational and cultural needs of the whole community." He said it provides low-cost education and saves most students the cost of living away from home.

Tractors Outnumber Horses On U.S. Farms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Tractors now outnumber horses and mules on American farms, the Census Bureau reported today.

The number of horses and mules had shrunk to 4,100,000 in 1954 or about a sixth of the peak total of 25,200,000 in 1920, the 1954 census showed.

In the same 34-year period the number of tractors rose from 246,000 to 4,700,000.

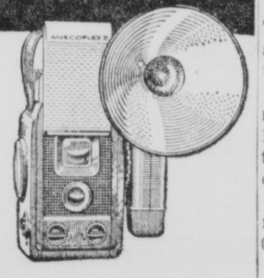

The 1954 count showed there were fewer horses and mules than when the first farm census was taken in 1840. There were 4,300,000 then. The new tabulation showed that more than half of all horses and mules were on farms in the South's 16 states, where 1,100,000 farms averaged two each.

Texas with 244,000 had the greatest number of horses and colts in 1954. North Carolina had the largest mule population, 179,000. The famed Missouri mule was down to a mere 22,000, as against Missouri's peak of 389,000 in 1920.

Anne Dudley Bradstreet of the Massachusetts Bay colony was the first woman writer in the United States.

Lankford Proposes Hatch Act Changes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Changes in the Hatch Act were proposed today by Rep. Lankford (D-Md) to give federal workers "certain basic rights of citizenship now denied them."

He said he will introduce a bill to create a study commission to recommend changes in the act, which restricts political activities of government employes.

His proposal, Lankford said, stemmed from a series of conferences with government officials.

"These conferences revealed to me," he said, "that the Hatch Act is not working as it was intended to and needs to be revamped to allow federal workers to exercise certain basic rights of citizenship which are now denied them under the act, while at the same time protecting them from politically inspired reprisals."

Lankford said he has received letters from many federal workers in his district complaining of "unjust" administration of certain sections of the act.

Under his proposal, he added, these possible changes:

1. Excepting from the act those states and local government workers who are paid in part from federal funds.

2. Defining more precisely the activities prohibited under the act.

3. Classifying violations according to the nature of the activities engaged in, with more severe penalties for serious violations and lesser penalties for minor violations.

4. Granting power to department heads to determine the extent to which employes should be exempted under the act.

5. Provision for periodic reviews of the operation of the act to keep restrictions at a minimum consistent with governmental efficiency and impartiality.

Maryland Above Phone Average, Uses Them Less

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP)—Maryland has more telephones than the U. S. average but uses them less, a survey shows.

Even Icelanders yak more than Marylanders.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s annual survey showed Maryland has 35 phones per 100 residents. The national average is 33.7.

In Maryland there were 358 calls per capita in 1955 compared with 409 for the nation as a whole.

In Iceland they averaged 399 conversations per Icelander in 1955.

Elderly Man's Body Is Found In Creek

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP) — The body of Frank Kankosky Sr., 76, was pulled from Stoney Creek in neighboring Anne Arundel County today after he apparently fell into the creek while checking fishing lines.

The Orchard Beach man was pronounced dead on arrival at South Baltimore General Hospital. An autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

His son-in-law, Joseph Baum, pulled the body from shallow water. The boy said Kankosky apparently stumbled and fell close to shore and knocked himself out. When found only the upper part of the body and the head was in the water.

Parkersburg Fire Loss Set At $250,000

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 27 (AP)—Fire fanned by a stiff wind swept one section of the Matheny Motor Co., International Harvester dealer, today, causing a loss estimated at $250,000.

A. W. Morris, 50, an employe, suffered second degree burns on his face, shoulders and one hand, a spokesman at Camden-Clark Hospital said.

L. G. Matheny, the owner, estimated damage to the building at $100,000 and to stock and equipment at $150,000.

One newly-remodeled section, separated from the burned part of the structure by a fire wall, escaped damage.

Income Tax Aid To Be Given Farmers

Farmers and homemakers of Allegany County will be given assistance in preparing their 1956 income tax returns at the Court House on January 17 from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, and Miss Mary P. Wise, home demonstration agent, will be on hand and they have arranged to have George Stevens, farm management specialist from the University of Maryland Extension Service, to be present to help in the program.

Stevens will also help farmers and homemakers set up farm record books for 1957. A new type of farm record book is available and they will make income tax reporting easier next year, according to Steger.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Will Be Named

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin indicated today he may name a new commissioner of motor vehicles within the next few days.

Frank Small Jr., former Congressman and ex-racing commission chairman, is expected to step down as motor vehicles commissioner to devote more time to his business interests in Southern Maryland.

The governor said today "I haven't made up my mind definitely but I will probably decide the matter this week."

Small said "I've told the governor that if he had someone else to take the job I would be ready to leave." Small added, "this has been my position all along."

"Frank has done a fine job up there," the Governor said.

He said Small's desire to leave apparently was based on a time conflict with his other work, including automobile agencies and real estate operations in Southern Maryland.

Small, former Fifth District Congressman, has been motor vehicles commissioner since the spring of 1955.

In his 19 months as commisioner Small has suggested various changes including a reregistration of all Maryland drivers and expansion of the Department of Motor Vehicles facilities.

He also has supported proposals for compulsory auto inspections.

AWOL Marine Arrested In Man's Fatal Stabbing

FLINT, Mich., Dec. 27 (AP) — A 20-year-old AWOL Marine who fled to his home here to spend Christmas was held today in the fatal stabbing of a 51-year-old man in Miami, Fla., last Friday.

Cpl. Walter P. Coggins, 20, faced Circuit Court arraignment on a fugitive warrant. Florida authorities said he was wanted for investigation of first degree murder in the slaying of Raymond E. Devonshire, a retired railroad conductor formerly of Baltimore.

State Police Trooper Dalton Bennett quoted Coggins as saying he stabbed Devonshire in the heart with a paring knife after the two had quarreled over continuing a drinking bout.

"I wanted to drink some more and he didn't," the officer said Coggins told him. "I get mad when people don't do what I want them to."

Coggins said he had been staying at Devonshire's home since he went AWOL Dec. 17 from the Marine Air Station at Opa-Locka in Miami.

After the quarrel, Coggins told officers, he took Devonshire's car and headed north to Michigan. The slaying was discovered yesterday when Devonshire's wife returned home from a Christmas visit with relatives.

Florida authorities asked Flint police to check Coggins' home here. Officers were told that Coggins had spent Christmas with his parents but went to his sister's home after quarreling with his father Christmas Eve.

He was picked up in Devonshire's car as he drove up to his sister's house. He offered no resistance.

Former AP Traffic Bureau Chief Buried

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP) — Charles H. Miles was buried today in the "home town" he adopted.

Miles had been traffic bureau chief in the AP bureau here for 30 years when he retired four years ago. He had many opportunities to leave, but—as he often said—"I like it here, so I figure I'll stay around."

About two years after his retirement, he went to the hospital for what appeared to be a minor operation. It was found he had cancer.

On Christmas Eve, he died. He was 69.

A native of South Carolina, he became a telegrapher at an early age. He worked in Elmira, N.Y., and Clifton Forge, Va., before Va., before joining The AP traffic staff in 1915.

A short time later, he volunteered for Army service in World War I. He was sent to France, where he served as a sergeant in charge of a detachment of telegraphers. He returned to AP service in 1919.

Lankford Proposes Hatch Act Changes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Changes in the Hatch Act were proposed today by Rep. Lankford (D-Md) to give federal workers "certain basic rights of citizenship now denied them."

He said he will introduce a bill to create a study commission to recommend changes in the act, which restricts political activities of government employes.

His proposal, Lankford said, stemmed from a series of conferences with government officials.

"These conferences revealed to me," he said, "that the Hatch Act is not working as it was intended to and needs to be revamped to allow federal workers to exercise certain basic rights of citizenship which are now denied them under the act, while at the same time protecting them from politically inspired reprisals."

Lankford said he has received letters from many federal workers in his district complaining of "unjust" administration of certain sections of the act.

Under his proposal, he added, these possible changes:

1. Excepting from the act those states and local government workers who are paid in part from federal funds.

2. Defining more precisely the activities prohibited under the act.

3. Classifying violations according to the nature of the activities engaged in, with more severe penalties for serious violations and lesser penalties for minor violations.

4. Granting power to department heads to determine the extent to which employes should be exempted under the act.

5. Provision for periodic reviews of the operation of the act to keep restrictions at a minimum consistent with governmental efficiency and impartiality.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Will Be Named

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin indicated today he may name a new commissioner of motor vehicles within the next few days.

Frank Small Jr., former Congressman and ex-racing commission chairman, is expected to step down as motor vehicles commissioner to devote more time to his business interests in Southern Maryland.

The governor said today "I haven't made up my mind definitely but I will probably decide the matter this week."

Small said "I've told the governor that if he had someone else to take the job I would be ready to leave." Small added, "this has been my position all along."

"Frank has done a fine job up there," the Governor said.

He said Small's desire to leave apparently was based on a time conflict with his other work, including automobile agencies and real estate operations in Southern Maryland.

Small, former Fifth District Congressman, has been motor vehicles commissioner since the spring of 1955.

In his 19 months as commisioner Small has suggested various changes including a reregistration of all Maryland drivers and expansion of the Department of Motor Vehicles facilities.

He also has supported proposals for compulsory auto inspections.

Hanover, Pa., Fire

HANOVER, Pa., Dec. 27 (AP) — Fire swept through the trailer assembly plant of the Thompson Trailer Corp. last night causing damage estimated at $500,000 to $600,000. No one was injured.

AWOL Marine Arrested In Man's Fatal Stabbing

FLINT, Mich., Dec. 27 (AP) — A 20-year-old AWOL Marine who fled to his home here to spend Christmas was held today in the fatal stabbing of a 51-year-old man in Miami, Fla., last Friday.

Cpl. Walter P. Coggins, 20, faced Circuit Court arraignment on a fugitive warrant. Florida authorities said he was wanted for investigation of first degree murder in the slaying of Raymond E. Devonshire, a retired railroad conductor formerly of Baltimore.

State Police Trooper Dalton Bennett quoted Coggins as saying he stabbed Devonshire in the heart with a paring knife after the two had quarreled over continuing a drinking bout.

"I wanted to drink some more and he didn't," the officer said Coggins told him. "I get mad when people don't do what I want them to."

Coggins said he had been staying at Devonshire's home since he went AWOL Dec. 17 from the Marine Air Station at Opa-Locka in Miami.

After the quarrel, Coggins told officers, he took Devonshire's car and headed north to Michigan. The slaying was discovered yesterday when Devonshire's wife returned home from a Christmas visit with relatives.

Florida authorities asked Flint police to check Coggins' home here. Officers were told that Coggins had spent Christmas with his parents but went to his sister's home after quarreling with his father Christmas Eve.

He was picked up in Devonshire's car as he drove up to his sister's house. He offered no resistance.

Former AP Traffic Bureau Chief Buried

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP) — Charles H. Miles was buried today in the "home town" he adopted.

Miles had been traffic bureau chief in the AP bureau here for 30 years when he retired four years ago. He had many opportunities to leave, but—as he often said—"I like it here, so I figure I'll stay around."

About two years after his retirement, he went to the hospital for what appeared to be a minor operation. It was found he had cancer.

On Christmas Eve, he died. He was 69.

A native of South Carolina, he became a telegrapher at an early age. He worked in Elmira, N.Y., and Clifton Forge, Va., before Va., before joining The AP traffic staff in 1915.

A short time later, he volunteered for Army service in World War I. He was sent to France, where he served as a sergeant in charge of a detachment of telegraphers. He returned to AP service in 1919.

Elderly Man's Body Is Found In Creek

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP) — The body of Frank Kankosky Sr., 76, was pulled from Stoney Creek in neighboring Anne Arundel County today after he apparently fell into the creek while checking fishing lines.

The Orchard Beach man was pronounced dead on arrival at South Baltimore General Hospital. An autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

His son-in-law, Joseph Baum, pulled the body from shallow water. The boy said Kankosky apparently stumbled and fell close to shore and knocked himself out. When found only the upper part of the body and the head was in the water.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 27 (AP)—Fire fanned by a stiff wind swept one section of the Matheny Motor Co., International Harvester dealer, today, causing a loss estimated at $250,000.

A. W. Morris, 50, an employe, suffered second degree burns on his face, shoulders and one hand, a spokesman at Camden-Clark Hospital said.

L. G. Matheny, the owner, estimated damage to the building at $100,000 and to stock and equipment at $150,000.

One newly-remodeled section, separated from the burned part of the structure by a fire wall, escaped damage.

Both Parties File Reports On Recent Election Costs

The Republican party in Allegany County received more than twice as much in cash contributions for the recent election as the Democratic party, according to reports filed at the Court House.

A total of $10,542.80 was contributed by more than 300 individuals and groups to the GOP campaign fund, while the Democratic party received a total of $4,944.50 for its election campaign.

Samuel M. Berry, treasurer of the Republican county committee, listed each of the contributors and the amount they gave. The amounts ranged from $2 to $500. One family group was listed as giving $750.

Berry's report showed expenditures of $8,531.41 and a balance on hand of $2,011.35. Campaign costs included $2,988 for 249 cars on election day and $2,646 for precinct workers. Other expenses were for advertising, printing and miscellaneous costs.

The Democratic County Committee report, signed by Thomas F. Conlon Jr., treasurer, showed total contributions of $4,944.50 and expenses of $4,885.02.

Cost of maintaining election headquarters at the Algonquin Hotel was listed at $1,155.02 for all expenses, with headquarters workers receiving $635 of this amount. Expenses of cars to haul voters to the polls amounted to $1,977 and precinct workers cost $1,708.

Among the larger contributors to the Democratic campaign were the Foley Campaign Committee, $500; Stevenson Campaign Committee, $350; Mahoney Campaign Committee, $1,000 and the Political Action Committee, $100.

There were 11 individual donations of $100 to $150, three for $50, while 11 persons gave $25, ten persons who gave $10 each and 12 contributed $5 each.

Cross Claim Filed In Circuit Court

A cross claim was filed yesterday in Circuit Court by Glenn Ellsworth Kight, city, against the Joseph M. Zamoiski Company, Baltimore, and the Travelers Fire Insurance Company in connection with a collision last April 17 on Greene Street.

The declaration, docketed by William A. Gunter and William H. Geppert, attorneys for Kight, stated that Kight had parked his machine in front of the Dingle Drug Store when a ranch wagon owned by the defendant Zamoiski firm struck the Kight vehicle. Damages of $300 are being asked.

$1,800 Is Donated For Hungary Aid

Contributions to the Red Cross "Aid for Hungarians" campaign total approximately $1,800, according to Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary of the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter.

The drive will be continued until the quota of $2,630 is met, Mrs. Legge said. The latest community branch to report in the campaign is Westernport, the executive secretary said, adding that Westernport exceeded its quota of $80. Contributions there amounted to $112.

Mrs. Legge said the Western Maryland Railway Charities Fund also donated $100 to the Hungarian relief drive.

Polish Work Is Awarded To Pa. Firm

The State Roads Commission has awarded the contract for the relocation of Route 40 on the west slope of Polish mountain to the Central Pennsylvania Quarry, Stripping and Construction Company of Hazelton, Pa.

G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, said the Pennsylvania firm was low bidder on the two-mile project with $1,594,280.

The project includes the excavation of the deepest cut ever made on a highway in Maryland. This will be at the top of the mountain and will be 140 feet deep.

Chaires said a total of 1,200,000 cubic yards of earth will be excavated.

In addition to the excavation, the work will include some tremendous fills in the modernization of the roadway on the west slope of the mountain. The hairpin curves and steep grades on Polish Mountain's western slope will be eliminated.

The plans for the project call for a right-of-way 150 feet in width which could be ultimately used for a dual highway up the mountain if and when this stretch of U.S. 40 is taken into the Interstate System. Steel beam guard rails will be placed at points where the roadway skirts sheer drops down the mountainside.

Chaires said that in addition to elimination of the curves, termed the worst on U.S. Route 40, in Maryland, the new roadway will have a more gradual ascent.

Council Gets Report Of Housing Authority

The report of the Housing Authority of the City of Cumberland for the fiscal year which ended March 31 was submitted to the Mayor and Council Wednesday and ordered filed.

Prepared by James B. Raines, executive secretary, the report showed assets of $1,795.34, including land, structures and equipment valued at $1,639,834.80.

Operating income for the fiscal year totaled $59,180.50 and operating expenses $52,703.07, leaving a net operating income of $16,-167.72 available for the reduction of the federal subsidy.

Begin immediately to repair damage from holiday table temptations.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Time Is Now

There's only one better time than today to begin necessary weight losing — and that was yesterday. If there's noticeably too much of that too, too solid flesh, the exactly right moment to make a start has already passed. The moment was when you put on that first extra pound or two.

Watch the scale every day for warning signals. It's so much easier to take off a single pound or a pair of them than it is to shed even five pounds. Judicious eating brings the needle down in a hurry if the gain is slight, but there must be a longer-termed, sterner procedure after your eyes have been shut too long to what an upswinging scale indicator says.

Since you can't begin reducing yesterday, begin today. If there's ever a case of tomorrow never coming, it's with dieting. And right now, after all the table and extra goodie temptations of the holidays, couldn't be a better time. Of course turkey with its wonderful dressing and potato and gravy accompaniments were too good to miss, and so were samplings of cakes and cookies and candy. But just don't let what they did to you be permanent, or the beginning of something worse. If you take off those extra pounds now, your weight won't climb to the point where you can't have a fling once in a while without too many regrets.

There must be quite a lot of damage to be repaired after the holidays because we're always besieged then with requests for diet information. And it's ready right now in compact booklet form. "Your Beauty Diet" is the name of the booklet which sets you about a new program of eating intelligently to lose weight and gain good looks, complete with menus. It's yours for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent with your request to me at this newspaper.

TOMORROW—A sweet touch.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks

without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Begin immediately to repair damage from holiday table temptations.

Secrets Of Charm

The Time Is Now

There's only one better time than today to begin necessary weight losing — and that was yesterday. If there's noticeably too much of that too, too solid flesh, the exactly right moment to make a start has already passed. The moment was when you put on that first extra pound or two.

Watch the scale every day for warning signals. It's so much easier to take off a single pound or a pair of them than it is to shed even five pounds. Judicious eating brings the needle down in a hurry if the gain is slight, but there must be a longer-termed, sterner procedure after your eyes have been shut too long to what an upswinging scale indicator says.

Since you can't begin reducing yesterday, begin today. If there's ever a case of tomorrow never coming, it's with dieting. And right now, after all the table and extra goodie temptations of the holidays, couldn't be a better time. Of course turkey with its wonderful dressing and potato and gravy accompaniments were too good to miss, and so were samplings of cakes and cookies and candy. But just don't let what they did to you be permanent, or the beginning of something worse. If you take off those extra pounds now, your weight won't climb to the point where you can't have a fling once in a while without too many regrets.

There must be quite a lot of damage to be repaired after the holidays because we're always besieged then with requests for diet information. And it's ready right now in compact booklet form. "Your Beauty Diet" is the name of the booklet which sets you about a new program of eating intelligently to lose weight and gain good looks, complete with menus. It's yours for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent with your request to me at this newspaper.

TOMORROW—A sweet touch.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks

without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

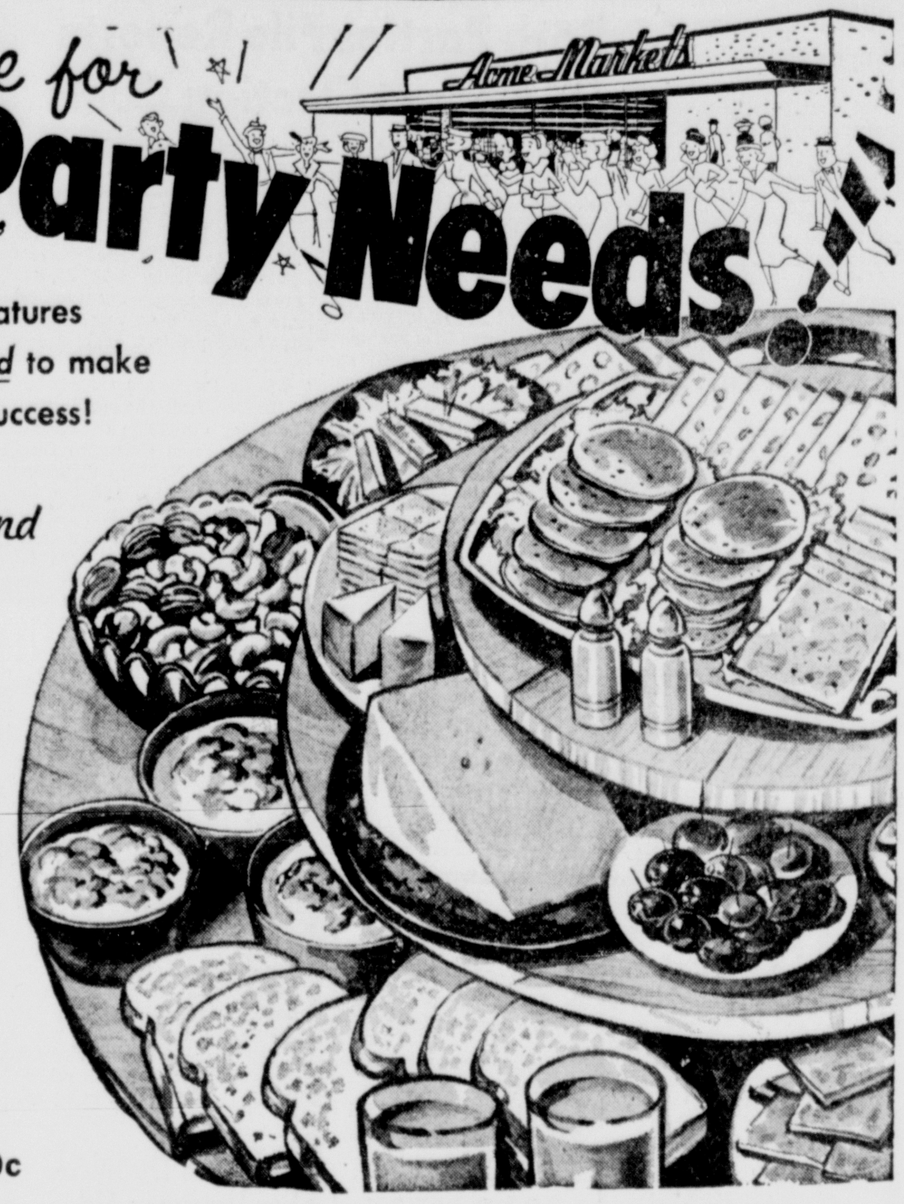

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

State Bar Committees Are Named

Committee appointments for the Maryland State Bar Association have been announced by Edward D. E. Rollins, president.

Standing committees in the Fourth Judicial Circuit, which is comprised of Allegany, Washington and Garrett counties, follow:

Admissions, Noel S. Cook, Cumberland; grievances, Horace P. Whitworth Jr., Westernport; laws, E. Stuart Bushong, Hagerstown; legal education, Earl E. Manges, Cumberland; and legal biography, Clarence Lippel, Cumberland.

Named as a general member of the committee on judicial appointments to represent the Fourth Circuit was W. Earle Cobey, Cumberland.

Local members of the Fourth Circuit are Walter W. Dawson, Oakland, and John Wagaman, Hagerstown.

Representing Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties on the state committee for federal judicial appointments is William A. Gunter, Cumberland.

Gunter is also a member of the committee on the American Law Institute.

Fourth Circuit members of this group are Leslie J. Clark, Cumberland; Irvine H. Rutlege, Hagerstown, and Lewis R. Jones, Oakland.

On the committee on legal assistance for members of the armed forces are William J. Gunter, Cumberland; Lewis R. Jones, Oakland, and Charles C. Grice, Hagerstown.

Chief Judge George Henderson is on the committee on judicial ethics.

Other appointments are: William Walsh, Cumberland, committee to study methods of selecting judges; Paul M. Fletcher, Cumberland, committee to study insurance program; William L. Wilson, committee on books for the Orient; and Thomas B. Finan, entertainment committee.

On the nominating committee for this coming year's election from the Fourth Circuit is Clarence Lippel, Cumberland.

Automatic Gas Alarm System Under Study

Finance Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday he is inquiring into whether an automatic gas alarm system for protection of personnel is being incorporated into Cumberland's new sewage treatment plant.

Long said a letter has been sent to Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the city on the project. Long pointed out that on two occasions he had requested the Mayor and Council to meet and discuss operation of the plant "because, as I understand, it is to be ready for operation March 15, 1957. To date, a Mayor and Council meeting has not been held to discuss the operation of the new sewage disposal unit."

Long, who is safety director for Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Plant 7, said gas analyzers are well known in industry. The protection of personnel and property is strenghthened by a combustible gas analyzer and alarm system, Long said, adding there is one type that is arranged to draw air samples.

Man Gets Long Term For Assaulting Cops

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP) — Andrew West, 22, was sentenced to be the longest term ever imposed in Magistrate's Court here—for assault, larceny and disorderly conduct charges.

West was convicted by Magistrate Simon Shonfield of assaulting two policemen, stealing a night stick and disorderly conduct in a grocery store.

He was given two years for assaulting one patrolman, one year for assaulting the other, 60 days for disorderly conduct and 30 days for stealing the night stick. All terms are to run consecutively.

Ridgeley Man Fined On Motor Charges

Ronald E. Ryan, Ridgeley, was fined $200 Wednesday in Trial Magistrate Court here on two motor charges.

Ryan was assessed $150 on one driving charge and $50 on another. He was arrested Saturday on Virginia Avenue by Officers Wilbur E. Shank and Thomas E. Andrews and was tried by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

An automobile consumes 60 per cent more gasoline traveling at 65 miles an hour than it does traveling at 25 miles an hour.

The chewing gum business dates back to 1860.

Industrial Promotion Director Job Vacant

A position of director of the industrial promotion department of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce has been offered to one of eight men interviewed, according to the manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The position was offered to the man, who was not identified, Saturday, December 15, but the Chamber of Commerce has not received a commitment from him, the manager said.

Four prospects were interviewed by the manager in Washington and four by the industrial promotion committee of the Chamber of Commerce in Cumberland, the spokesman said.

The position has been vacant since November 1 when Albert H. Hargreaves, director of the department, resigned after four years of service, during which he was largely responsible for bringing Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's new plant here.

Work of the industrial promotion department has not been suspended since that time. A number of contacts have been made with firms, and while these have replied and shown interest, nothing definite has been reported in the industrial procurement line, the manager stated.

Periodically the industrial promotion committee has met, the Chamber of Commerce spokesman said, but a check yesterday of several members revealed that no meetings have been called for many months.

As for the Baltimore industries who have expressed opposition to the recent city industrial tax there, the C. of C. manager said that the Chamber of Commerce is going to do "everything it can to get them here."

The situation is being explored, but the industries will not be "pirated" from Maryland's largest city, the manager added.

Maryland cities have made an all out effort to attract those Baltimore industries affected by the new industrial tax.

Arrangements are under way to move the industrial promotion department facilities on the fifth floor of the Liberty Trust Building to an office adjoining the present C. of C. offices on the sixth floor.

Rumor has it that Peter the Great of Russia was unusually fond of riding in a wheelbarrow and often toured a big city in one.

SIAC Awards $15,000 To Midland Man

A 64-year-old Midland man whose lung collapsed after inhaling fumes while at work at Amcelle plant of Celanese Corporation has been awarded $15,000 by the State Industrial Accident Commission.

The commission ruled in the case of George Winner that he has suffered permanent and total disability as a result of the accident.

Winner, represented by Simon F. Reilly, of this city, was employed as a pipefitter helper in the Cellulose Acetate Department of the plant.

On February 9 of this year he was working on the second floor metal decking over a still containing various chemicals.

When the contents of the still were released the escaping fumes nearly overcame Winner, who, according to testimony given in th hearing before the commission, barely made it to an open window.

Medical statements presented at the hearing before the commission in Allegany County Court House showed that Winner's lung collapsed as a result of breathing the fumes.

The attorneys for the company and its insurer contended Winner's disability was not solely due to breathing the fumes, but that he had acquired a lung condition in previous employment.

However, the commission found that he had suffered "temporary total disability" from February 13 to November 10 and ordered weekly payments of $35 during that period.

As of November 10, the commission ruled, Winner was "permanently and totally disabled" and was awarded the $15,000.

The 'Time Lag' On Rail Fares

Eight Eastern railroads are asking the Interstate Commerce Commission for an immediate emergency increase of 5 per cent in basic passenger fares—both Pullman and coach. An ICC examiner on December 18 recommended, subject to ratification in the future, a 5 per cent hike in coach fares and a 15 per cent rise in first class tickets, the latter possibly on an experimental basis.

The Commission on December 17 granted a 7 per cent emergency freight increase—after five days' notice—to Eastern railroads and a 5 per cent boost to Western roads. A 7 per cent raise for Southern carriers is scheduled for a hearing January 7.

One constant complaint of the railroads is the long "time lag" in rate-making. Robert R. Young, chairman of the New York Central, made this point before a subcommittee of the Joint Economic Committee headed by Rep. Wright Patman (D. Texas). Mr. Young noted that steel companies can "raise their prices and their profits" on the very same day they begin paying a wage increase. "But what of the railroads on which the steel companies depend?" he asked. "We must endure the mockery of lengthy and costly hearings before the ICC months, even years, after our own wage increases have started running in order that special and selfish interests who seek to sponge on the railroads by ICC license may have their wishes heard," he said.

Back in 1952 Sen. John W. Bricker (R Ohio) sponsored a bill designed to let railroads end the "time lag" in adjusting rates to meet raising costs. He would have allowed the roads to file with the ICC new rate schedules to take effect in 30 days, instead of 1) petitioning for rate increases, 2) submitting to investigation, 3) then waiting for a decision, as now. But the Bricker bill is still in the legislative works.

President Eisenhower's Advisory Committee on Transportation recommended early last year that the ICC authority to suspend rate changes be continued on "a more restrictive basis." It would have limited the time lag to a maximum of three months.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Nehru

I sat within 10 or 12 feet of Nehru through the course of a luncheon, for a matter of more than two hours and had an opportunity to observe him. Nehru is an elderly person of quiet demeanor, whose life struggle is to become the broker among nations. The peak of his success was his recent visit to the United States.

As a broker, he needs to attract attention to himself. His white cloth prisoner's cap, which he wears exclusively is a trademark, separating him from all other men. It is a startling cap because of its sheer whiteness. His brown, woolen coat may best be described as a Prince Albert buttoned up to the throat. Sun Yat-sen had invented a jacket which I notice most of the current Chinese Communist leaders wear. Nehru's coat is so distinctive in an American audience that no one can mistake which Hindu is Nehru.

Krishna Menon does not depend upon such measures—his face, his forehead, his hair are so distinctive and perhaps frightening that he stands out by sheer boldness of his personality. Boris Karloff, an Anglo-Indian, also possesses such sharp and piercing features but not as frightening as Krishna Menon's who resembles some Chinese devils I have seen in the Lamaist Temple in Peking. Nehru's face in contrast is soft and undistinguished, the face of a Kashmir merchant. His mouth, while voluptuous, shows no bitterness. One would expect him to take things as they come and make a profit thereby.

The day I listened to him, Nehru chose to wax philosophical. That was good strategy because while few understood what he was talking about, none misunderstood him or could quote him to his disadvantage. If a philosophical discourse that consumed about an hour can be condensed into a few sentences, Nehru's point was, to an audience of New York businessmen and politicians, that the prophet is a person who adheres to his principles without regard to consequences.

He is therefore stoned by the mob, but after he is dead, he becomes a hero. The man out of step has a hard time, whether he is right or wrong, principally because his stubbornness interferes with the intentions of others. Jesus was crucified; Socrates was made to drink the hemlock, but Aristotle got a job as Alexander's tutor. Galileo was imprisoned but Einstein won a Nobel Prize and lived comfortably at Princeton, New Jersey, in the U.S.A. where non-conformity is well-paid.

Further, Nehru made the point that the politician is a fellow who while adhering to principle must make compromises to stay in office. His task is to balance principle against consequence. If he forsakes principle, he is taken by his opponents; if he ignores consequences, he loses his job. So he has to be something of an artful dodger.

The condensation is mine, not Nehru's, but I am sure that I have done him no injustice. He did not wish to discuss anything concretely dealing with current events, so he wandered off into the realm of prophet and politician and smiled at his own confusion and begged his host's pardon for his meandering. It was an interesting tour de force, describing his personality rather than his ideas. For he was attractive without novelty in thought or deed.

So obvious were his words that one wit asked another, "What head do you put on that?" And the other replied, "Say that Carmine DeSapio ain't got no principles."

Thus, the luncheon passed without one single word about neutralism, Egypt, Hungary, Soviet Russia, or the President's Black Angus bull. It was strictly 19th Century England where gentlemen did not discuss religion or politics while they dined. But it told much of Nehru's skill in turning a corner without stubbing his toe, of speaking enthusiastically about nothing, of using a dialect of English so British that he might have been an Oxford don discussing abstrusely the significance of the Dead Sea Scrolls to the concept of the Messiah without once referring to either Judaism or Christianity.

It is a marvel to behold how brilliantly those who are trained to it can speak lengthily about nothing and make it sound like a pronouncement of the ages. Nehru did precisely that.

And so we rose after a few hours and went our various ways not a whit wiser than we had been before we came.

U.S. Lacks Needed Means Of National Defense

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Sir Winston Churchill once privately remarked that the whole Western World would be "as defenseless as a girls' boarding school," if the United States ever lost the capacity to retaliate overwhelmingly against Soviet attack. Whether the West is to find itself in that unhappy situation some years from now will depend sorely on decisions taken by the American Government today.

The problem of maintaining the capacity to retaliate is not a matter of bombs—we have nuclear bombs "coming out of our ears" in the words of one in a position to know. It is a matter of getting the bombs to target. The Air Force now has four ways of getting the bombs to target. But, because the ways will surely become obsolete, it is working on no less than seven alternative ways. The means of delivery now available are:

The B-36. This huge plane is already obsolete—it is to the existing Soviet air defense as a fat sparrow to a hawk. Yet all but two of the Strategic Air Command's heavy bomber wings are equipped with B-36s.

The B-47. This medium bomber is a fine plane, but its limited range makes it dangerously dependent on air refueling in foreign bases.

The B-52. This is an even finer plane, and its range is greater. But it two can only be operated efficiently from foreign bases. Moreover, although B-52s are beginning to come into SAC in quantity (there are two B-52 wings and soon there will be more) the time is already coming when the B-52 will be obsolete in its turn. Already, existing Soviet fighter aircraft can fly a lot faster and a lot higher than the B-52.

The Snark. This long-range missile has frequently been tested—one recently got loose and disappeared somewhere in Brazil. It will soon be operational. But the Snark is sub-sonic and very vulnerable to interception. Some experts therefore consider it militarily valueless.

Among the seven alternative ways of getting the bombs on target, the Air Force is working on four missiles:

Atlas I and II, two different designs for the terrible intercontinental ballistic missile which cannot be intercepted by any known means. An I.C.B.M. will probably be tested in prototype form within eighteen months or so. But it is a very long way from a prototype to an operational weapons system.

Navaho. Navaho, an intercontinental ramjet designed to fly about three times the speed of sound, which may have its first test in a year. The central problem here is guidance, which may not be solved for years.

The intermediate missile—with a range of 1,500 miles or so, it is wholly dependent on foreign bases.

Then there are three manned aircraft, flying well over the speed of sound, and capable of thumbing its nose at any known Soviet interceptor. But alas, its range is comparable to that of the B-47, and it is thus equally dependent on air-refueling and foreign bases.

The "Follow-On Chemical Bomber." This is a dream plane, with all the characteristics of the B-58 and more, plus range — it would be fueled by such "exotic fuels" as bonor hydride and hydrogen derivatives. But the Follow-On Chemical Bomber is still very much of a dream.

The atomic-fueled bomber. This would have literally unlimited range, and a concentrated effort might get one into the air in a year or so. The trouble is that it would be a big, slow, lumbering thing, completely vulnerable to the Soviet air defense, and in the present state of the art the technicians see no way of making it anything else.

Consider this long list, and it becomes obvious that the planners are confronted with hideously difficult decisions. We are not at the simple, traditional crossroads. We are at a place where seven different roads (and more, if one adds the Navy's actual and potential means for delivering bombs) lead away over the horizon.

No one can discern just where all these roads may lead. No one can predict, for example, when Atlas will become an operational weapon, or whether Navaho can be made operational before Atlas. Again, no one can predict whether the foreign bases—above all the British bases—which the B-58, like the B-47 and the B-52, must have to operate effectively, will always or for long be available. Only one thing is sure. If we guess wrong now, if we take the wrong roads, if we make the wrong effort or too small an effort, we shall ultimately be left "as defenseless as a girls' school." Thus the decisions which are now being taken, and which will be further examined in this space, concern nothing less than national survival.

Today Is Woodrow Wilson's 100th Birthday

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Today is the 100th anniversary of the birth of Woodrow Wilson. He was neither the healthiest nor the sickest President we have had but he suffered the consequences of overconscientiousness and inflexibility.

It was not easy for Wilson to reach the top. He left college at 17 because of "delicate health" and, after recuperating for a year, went to Princeton as an undergraduate. He then decided to study law, but again was forced to spend another year recovering from a nervous breakdown.

He thus missed two years of college, which is equivalent to the time most of our young men today spend in service. He was completely exhausted mentally and physically while at the university and so restless he could not sit quietly in conversation with friends.

This condition is quite prevalent among college and professional students who are working feverishly to attain their goal. They never relax, always stay up too late, and eat on the run. Many attempt to live up to the standards set by others.

Wilson was devoted to his father and was said to prefer his intellectual companionship to that of companions his own age. Could it be that Wilson was trying to live up to the intellectual level of his father?

Prolonged spells of indigestion dogged Wilson's life. In 1895 he developed severe hemorrhage in the right eye with retinal detachment. The eye condition was secondary to Bright's disease.

Wilson lacked the temperament to practice law and became an instructor in history and political economy. He had two more nervous breakdowns, the last occurring after he became president of Princeton. It may have stemmed from the many differences of opinion he had with the faculty and trustees.

He usually was able to sell his ideas but became miserable and upset when he failed. No wonder he suffered from nervousness and indigestion most of his life. When he became our 28th President, he brought along a stomach pump which he used daily until the White House physician persuaded him to stop the practice.

His physician also discouraged him from taking so many headache remedies, because of the possibility of bringing about recurrence of kidney trouble.

The final blow came when Congress opposed his brain child—the League of Nations. Wilson decided to make a personal appeal to the people but developed a stroke before the program was half over. The usual secrecy of the time prevailed and many false rumors appeared. Wilson never recovered completely and was an invalid the remaining years of his life.

TOMORROW: Multiple sclerosis.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

The difference between old-time vaudeville and present-day television is graphically highlighted by veteran comedian Bert Wheeler. "Years ago," he recalls, "I could buy a complete vaudeville routine for 500 bucks and use it without changing a line for five years. Today you pay a thousand for a sketch that lasts one single television program — that is, if some other comic doesn't beat you to the airwaves with it!"

Worries a contributor to the Yale Record: "If all the co-eds who didn't neck were gathered in one room, what would we do with her?"

Old theatre buffs agree that there never was a greater comedy duo than Bobby Clark and the late Paul McCullough. The latter's opening sally got the act off to a fine start. "We're two senators from Rhode Island," he would announce cheerfully, "elected by an act of Providence."

Sen. McCarthy Carefully Secluded In Navy Hospital; Visitors Quizzed

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin has been confined to the Bethesda Naval Hospital under unusual circumstances. The hospital has been taking extra security precautions to bar visitors and to keep anyone from ascertaining the full facts regarding his illness.

Hospital authorities state that a fatty tumor was removed from his leg last summer and that the wound has not properly healed. Unofficially it is reported the Senator has been drinking heavily and is nervously upset.

A visitor seeking to call on the Senator in Room 1221 at the hospital was immediately escorted to the officer of the day and told that no one could see him. Mrs. McCarthy was the only visitor permitted in his room, the officer stated.

It also developed that the twelfth floor has been barred to visitors of other patients unless they obtain special permission from the officer of the day. Any visitor getting on the elevator and asking for the twelfth floor is automatically taken downstairs to the officer of the day and interviewed in detail regarding the patient he wishes to see on the twelfth floor.

Reports that McCarthy kicked or hit one hospital corpsman in the stomach were denied to the press by hospital authorities, but one doctor inadvertently remarked: "Has that got into the newspapers?"

Capt. E. C. Kinney, commander of the hospital, when asked about reports that hospital authorities had confiscated one bottle of wine and four bottles of whisky from the Senator said that if so he had not heard of it.

The junior Senator from Wisconsin has been out of the headlines since the Democrats organized the Senate, at which time he automatically lost his post as chairman of the Senate Investigation Committee. Should the Republicans regain control, McCarthy automatically resumes the chairmanship.

Mailbag

M. M., SAN ANTONIO — D. C. Stephenson, former Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, deserved his long jail sentence, but he never would have been convicted had it not been for a battle inside the Klan. Stephenson withheld part of Klan dues collected in the Midwest, and Klan headquarters in Atlanta was out to get him. The Klan initiation fee was $10, of which Stephenson kept $3 for himself, amassing a fortune reputed to be $984,000 in 1925. . . . The rival Klan faction made sure Stephenson was convicted by sending agents under the guise of perfumery salesmen to call on the jury panel in advance. While selling perfume, the agents made sure how prospective jury members felt regarding Stephenson's assault of Madge Oberholtzer, a State House secretary who took poison and died one month after Stephenson had assaulted her. Stephenson was given a life term for second degree murder. . . . He had become the most powerful political figure in Indiana and dictated all Republican jobs during the height of the Klan's power. The Klan was so powerful during the Harding Administration that it staged a march up Pennsylvania Avenue in full regalia.

H. GRABER, WICHITA, KANS. —Vice President Nixon's trip to Vienna undoubtedly did some good in that it helped encourage Hungarian refugees. But actually he found out nothing not already known by the White House and State Department. Nixon himself concocted the trip as a good piece of personal public relations and sold it to Eisenhower. His wife was all set to go with him, but at the last minute he decided she should stay at home. Administration insiders were already beginning to criticize him for taking a publicity junket.

Chrismas Vacation

Once they were safely elected, half a dozen Congressmen rushed off with their wives on a post-election vacation to Europe at the taxpayers' expense.

Most of them struck out for London and Paris. They were Burr Harrison of Virginia and Thaddeus Machrowicz of Michigan, Democrats; also Gerald Ford of Michigan, and Carroll Kearns of Pennsylvania, all Republicans.

They offered a variety of "official" excuses for their trips — from studying trade policy to investigating labor conditions. Their wives went along — to help the studies.

Merry-Go-Round

Chip Robert, onetime football star for Georgia Tech and onetime treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, finds that the ups and downs of football influence his health. When Georgia Tech didn't do so well against Tennessee, Chip went to the hospital to have his gallstones removed. When Georgia Tech did all right against the University of Florida, he began to recover. Now he's already out of bed and ready to watch Georgia Tech wallop — he hopes — Pittsburgh in the Gator Bowl next week. . . . Matt Neely, 82-year-old indestructible Senator from West Virginia, is already walking with a cane after having his broken hip re-set. He campaigned all over West Virginia last fall without knowing his hip was broken. . . . Senator Wayne Morse, after scoring a big election victory, immediately went on a tour of Oregon to thank the people who elected him. Some politicians forget their friends immediately after election day, but Morse and wife held a series of "coffee hours" all over Oregon. . . . Jock Whitney has hesitated about accepting appointment as Ambassador to London because of his wife's health. Mrs. Whitney, the former Betsy Cushing Roosevelt, ex-wife of Jimmy Roosevelt, has doubted whether she could stand the strain of the London social season, but will try it for a while. Whitney was one of the big money-raisers for Eisenhower, was offered the London Ambassadorship sometime ago. . . . Winthrop Aldrich whom he will succeed, raised even more money.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

The stage hits of the past did not enjoy runs nearly as long as present day successes. The much referred to musical "Floradora," with that celebrated sextette ran for only 505 performances at the Casino, New York. Compare that with "Oklahoma," which had a run of 2,248 performances! "The Merry Widow," with Donald Brian and Ethel Jackson, had a run of 416 performances. "The Music Master," starring David Warfield, lasted 288 performances, "The Virginian," with Dustin Farnum played only 138 performances on Broadway. Compare these runs with those of "Life With Father," which played 3,224 performances. "Tobacco Road," 3,182 performances and "Abie's Irish Rose," 2,327 performances.

THOSE DOGS

What breed of dog have you? Most intelligent breed of dogs is the German shepherd. Most loyal: Airedale. Most lovable; cocker spaniel. Most inclined to be a one-man dog; chow. Friendliest: dachshund. Makes most trouble: wire-haired terrier. Best sense of humor: springer spaniel. Hardest to make friends with: Pekinese.

GRANDMOTHERS

Again I note Marlene Dietrich referred to as "the world's most glamorous grandmother." That rating I question. I know a number of grandmothers who are more glamorous in appearance than Marlene. In fact I know a great-grandmother in Chicago, who is not only more glamorous than Marlene but looks younger. This Chicago great grandmother is a professional model.

GUIDE TO GALS

Young women born under Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) don't care for the idea of going steady. They like to play the field. Even after marriage they have a little trouble making their eyes behave when there is a handsome stranger around. It takes a broad-minded husband to be happily married to an Aries girl. Or, so say the stargazers.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. Who starred in the stage play titled "Getting Gertie's Garter"? A. Hazel Dawn. Q. Have you ever written any magazine stories? A. I once wrote a short story and sold it to Collier's magazine. I never wrote another one. I don't know why. Guess I just haven't any ambition. Q. What is the correct pronunciation of the name of the celebrated sire of thoroughbreds, Alibhai. A. Should be pronounced: "Alley-baa-he." Q. Do you recall a song titled "I'm A Little Blackbird Looking For a Bluebird"? A. Yes, ma'am. Florence Mills used to sing it.

TOP MAN

The most important player on a baseball club is the catcher. That's what I continue to claim. And forever will. It has been truly said that pitching is 70 per cent of a ball club but a good catcher is 70 per cent of the pitching.

ASIDES

It was Daphne Drake, who said, "The qualities most necessary for a successful wife are charm, tact and patience." Sarah Bernhardt once observed, "Three-tenths of good appearance in a woman is due to nature; seven-tenths to dress." . . . According to beauty shop operators, who certainly should know, it is usually blue-eyed brunettes who switch to blonde hair. They think their blue eyes will make them outstanding blondes.

PLEASE NOTE

Radishes are good for the complexion. That's what a New Yorker claims. Says he knew a Polish countess who, at the age of 68, still had her schoolgirl complexion. This countess ate six radishes before every meal including breakfast. She said the women of her family had been doing that for 300 years and were celebrated throughout Europe for their beautiful complexions.

Q. Is chewing gum harmful? A. Not unless you swallow it. Q. Is it true that the Indians chewed gum? A. Yes, they chewed spruce gum. Q. Is it true that Mexicans chewed gum? A. Yes, they chewed chicle gum. Q. Is it true that Americans chew gum? A. Yes, they chew all kinds of gum. Q. Is it true that gum is good for the digestion? A. Yes, it is good for the digestion of the gum manufacturers.

ARTHRITIS

G. W. writes: Are X-rays needed to diagnose arthritis?

REPLY

Not when the diagnosis is obvious through painful, swollen, stiff joints. But a roentgen study is recommended when the diagnosis is questionable or the physician wants to learn the extent of the lesions.

CARRIERS

M. T. writes: Must a person have had typhoid to become a carrier?

REPLY

Yes, but the original attack may have been so slight it escaped detection.

OPENING BLISTERS

H. Y. writes: Can anything be done to heal blisters faster, like pricking them to let out the blood?

REPLY

Sticking a needle into a blood blister is not recommended because of the danger of infection. Germs thrive on blood and so long as the lesion remains closed, there is no possible way for them to enter.

ADHESIONS

J. K. writes: I have heard that if a person is operated on for adhesions due to an operation, that more adhesions will follow a second operation to correct them. Is this true?

REPLY

Yes, but there is a good possibility that the new adhesions will not prove troublesome. Adhesions represent scar tissue and it is difficult to do an operation without leaving a few of them. But the lesions usually escape detection unless they kink or obstruct the intestine. When this occurs, surgery is necessary.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

The 'Time Lag' On Rail Fares

Eight Eastern railroads are asking the Interstate Commerce Commission for an immediate emergency increase of 5 per cent in basic passenger fares—both Pullman and coach. An ICC examiner on December 18 recommended, subject to ratification in the future, a 5 per cent hike in coach fares and a 15 per cent rise in first class tickets, the latter possibly on an experimental basis.

The Commission on December 17 granted a 7 per cent emergency freight increase—after five days' notice—to Eastern railroads and a 5 per cent boost to Western roads. A 7 per cent raise for Southern carriers is scheduled for a hearing January 7.

One constant complaint of the railroads is the long "time lag" in rate-making. Robert R. Young, chairman of the New York Central, made this point before a subcommittee of the Joint Economic Committee headed by Rep. Wright Patman (D. Texas). Mr. Young noted that steel companies can "raise their prices and their profits" on the very same day they begin paying a wage increase. "But what of the railroads on which the steel companies depend?" he asked. "We must endure the mockery of lengthy and costly hearings before the ICC months, even years, after our own wage increases have started running in order that special and selfish interests who seek to sponge on the railroads by ICC license may have their wishes heard," he said.

Back in 1952 Sen. John W. Bricker (R Ohio) sponsored a bill designed to let railroads end the "time lag" in adjusting rates to meet raising costs. He would have allowed the roads to file with the ICC new rate schedules to take effect in 30 days, instead of 1) petitioning for rate increases, 2) submitting to investigation, 3) then waiting for a decision, as now. But the Bricker bill is still in the legislative works.

President Eisenhower's Advisory Committee on Transportation recommended early last year that the ICC authority to suspend rate changes be continued on "a more restrictive basis." It would have limited the time lag to a maximum of three months.

These Days

Nehru

I sat within 10 or 12 feet of Nehru through the course of a luncheon, for a matter of more than two hours and had an opportunity to observe him. Nehru is an elderly person of quiet demeanor, whose life struggle is to become the broker among nations. The peak of his success was his recent visit to the United States.

As a broker, he needs to attract attention to himself. His white cloth prisoner's cap, which he wears exclusively is a trademark, separating him from all other men. It is a startling cap because of its sheer whiteness. His brown, woolen coat may best be described as a Prince Albert buttoned up to the throat. Sun Yat-sen had invented a jacket which I notice most of the current Chinese Communist leaders wear. Nehru's coat is so distinctive in an American audience that no one can mistake which Hindu is Nehru.

Krishna Menon does not depend upon such measures—his face, his forehead, his hair are so distinctive and perhaps frightening that he stands out by sheer boldness of his personality. Boris Karloff, an Anglo-Indian, also possesses such sharp and piercing features but not as frightening as Krishna Menon's who resembles some Chinese devils I have seen in the Lamaist Temple in Peking. Nehru's face in contrast is soft and undistinguished, the face of a Kashmir merchant. His mouth, while voluptuous, shows no bitterness. One would expect him to take things as they come and make a profit thereby.

The day I listened to him, Nehru chose to wax philosophical. That was good strategy because while few understood what he was talking about, none misunderstood him or could quote him to his disadvantage. If a philosophical discourse that consumed about an hour can be condensed into a few sentences, Nehru's point was, to an audience of New York businessmen and politicians, that the prophet is a person who adheres to his principles without regard to consequences.

He is therefore stoned by the mob, but after he is dead, he becomes a hero. The man out of step has a hard time, whether he is right or wrong, principally because his stubbornness interferes with the intentions of others. Jesus was crucified; Socrates was made to drink the hemlock, but Aristotle got a job as Alexander's tutor. Galileo was imprisoned but Einstein won a Nobel Prize and lived comfortably at Princeton, New Jersey, in the U.S.A. where non-conformity is well-paid.

Further, Nehru made the point that the politician is a fellow who while adhering to principle must make compromises to stay in office. His task is to balance principle against consequence. If he forsakes principle, he is taken by his opponents; if he ignores consequences, he loses his job. So he has to be something of an artful dodger.

The condensation is mine, not Nehru's, but I am sure that I have done him no injustice. He did not wish to discuss anything concretely dealing with current events, so he wandered off into the realm of prophet and politician and smiled at his own confusion and begged his host's pardon for his meandering. It was an interesting tour de force, describing his personality rather than his ideas. For he was attractive without novelty in thought or deed.

So obvious were his words that one wit asked another, "What head do you put on that?" And the other replied, "Say that Carmine DeSapio ain't got no principles."

It is a marvel to behold how brilliantly those who are trained to it can speak lengthily about nothing and make it sound like a pronouncement of the ages. Nehru did precisely that.

And so we rose after a few hours and went our various ways not a whit wiser than we had been before we came.

Sen. McCarthy Carefully Secluded In Navy Hospital; Visitors Quizzed

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin has been confined to the Bethesda Naval Hospital under unusual circumstances. The hospital has been taking extra security precautions to bar visitors and to keep anyone from ascertaining the full facts regarding his illness.

Hospital authorities state that a fatty tumor was removed from his leg last summer and that the wound has not properly healed. Unofficially it is reported the Senator has been drinking heavily and is nervously upset.

A visitor seeking to call on the Senator in Room 1221 at the hospital was immediately escorted to the officer of the day and told that no one could see him. Mrs. McCarthy was the only visitor permitted in his room, the officer stated.

It also developed that the twelfth floor has been barred to visitors of other patients unless they obtain special permission from the officer of the day. Any visitor getting on the elevator and asking for the twelfth floor is automatically taken downstairs to the officer of the day and interviewed in detail regarding the patient he wishes to see on the twelfth floor.

Reports that McCarthy kicked or hit one hospital corpsman in the stomach were denied to the press by hospital authorities, but one doctor inadvertently remarked: "Has that got into the newspapers?"

Capt. E. C. Kinney, commander of the hospital, when asked about reports that hospital authorities had confiscated one bottle of wine and four bottles of whisky from the Senator said that if so he had not heard of it.

The junior Senator from Wisconsin has been out of the headlines since the Democrats organized the Senate, at which time he automatically lost his post as chairman of the Senate Investigation Committee. Should the Republicans regain control, McCarthy automatically resumes the chairmanship.

Mailbag

M. M., SAN ANTONIO — D. C. Stephenson, former Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, deserved his long jail sentence, but he never would have been convicted had it not been for a battle inside the Klan. Stephenson withheld part of Klan dues collected in the Midwest, and Klan headquarters in Atlanta was out to get him. The Klan initiation fee was $10, of which Stephenson kept $3 for himself, amassing a fortune reputed to be $984,000 in 1925. . . . The rival Klan faction made sure Stephenson was convicted by sending agents under the guise of perfumery salesmen to call on the jury panel in advance. While selling perfume, the agents made sure how prospective jury members felt regarding Stephenson's assault of Madge Oberholtzer, a State House secretary who took poison and died one month after Stephenson had assaulted her. Stephenson was given a life term for second degree murder. . . . He had become the most powerful political figure in Indiana and dictated all Republican jobs during the height of the Klan's power. The Klan was so powerful during the Harding Administration that it staged a march up Pennsylvania Avenue in full regalia.

H. GRABER, WICHITA, KANS. —Vice President Nixon's trip to Vienna undoubtedly did some good in that it helped encourage Hungarian refugees. But actually he found out nothing not already known by the White House and State Department. Nixon himself concocted the trip as a good piece of personal public relations and sold it to Eisenhower. His wife was all set to go with him, but at the last minute he decided she should stay at home. Administration insiders were already beginning to criticize him for taking a publicity junket.

Chrismas Vacation

Once they were safely elected, half a dozen Congressmen rushed off with their wives on a post-election vacation to Europe at the taxpayers' expense.

Most of them struck out for London and Paris. They were Burr Harrison of Virginia and Thaddeus Machrowicz of Michigan, Democrats; also Gerald Ford of Michigan, and Carroll Kearns of Pennsylvania, all Republicans.

They offered a variety of "official" excuses for their trips — from studying trade policy to investigating labor conditions. Their wives went along — to help the studies.

Merry-Go-Round

Chip Robert, onetime football star for Georgia Tech and onetime treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, finds that the ups and downs of football influence his health. When Georgia Tech didn't do so well against Tennessee, Chip went to the hospital to have his gallstones removed. When Georgia Tech did all right against the University of Florida, he began to recover. Now he's already out of bed and ready to watch Georgia Tech wallop — he hopes — Pittsburgh in the Gator Bowl next week. . . . Matt Neely, 82-year-old indestructible Senator from West Virginia, is already walking with a cane after having his broken hip re-set. He campaigned all over West Virginia last fall without knowing his hip was broken. . . . Senator Wayne Morse, after scoring a big election victory, immediately went on a tour of Oregon to thank the people who elected him. Some politicians forget their friends immediately after election day, but Morse and wife held a serjes of "coffee hours" all over Oregon. . . . Jock Whitney has hesitated about accepting appointment as Ambassador to London because of his wife's health. Mrs. Whitney, the former Betsy Cushing Roosevelt, ex-wife of Jimmy Roosevelt, has doubted whether she could stand the strain of the London social season, but will try it for a while. Whitney was one of the big money-raisers for Eisenhower, was offered the London Ambassadorship sometime ago. . . . Winthrop Aldrich whom he will succeed, raised even more money.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

The stage hits of the past did not enjoy runs nearly as long as present day successes. The much referred to musical "Floradora," with that celebrated sextette ran for only 505 performances at the Casino, New York. Compare that with "Oklahoma," which had a run of 2,248 performances! "The Merry Widow," with Donald Brian and Ethel Jackson, had a run of 416 performances. "The Music Master," starring David Warfield, lasted 288 performances, "The Virginian," with Dustin Farnum played only 138 performances on Broadway. Compare these runs with those of "Life With Father," which played 3,224 performances. "Tobacco Road," 3,182 performances and "Abie's Irish Rose," 2,327 performances.

THOSE DOGS

What breed of dog have you? Most intelligent breed of dogs is the German shepherd. Most loyal: Airedale. Most lovable; cocker spaniel. Most inclined to be a one-man dog; chow. Friendliest: dachshund. Makes most trouble: wire-haired terrier. Best sense of humor: springer spaniel. Hardest to make friends with: Pekinese.

GRANDMOTHERS

Again I note Marlene Dietrich referred to as "the world's most glamorous grandmother." That rating I question. I know a number of grandmothers who are more glamorous in appearance than Marlene. In fact I know a great-grandmother in Chicago, who is not only more glamorous than Marlene but looks younger. This Chicago great grandmother is a professional model.

GUIDE TO GALS

Young women born under Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) don't care for the idea of going steady. They like to play the field. Even after marriage they have a little trouble making their eyes behave when there is a handsome stranger around. It takes a broad-minded husband to be happily married to an Aries girl. Or, so say the stargazers.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. Who starred in the stage play titled "Getting Gertie's Garter"? A. Hazel Dawn. Q. Have you ever written any magazine stories? A. I once wrote a short story and sold it to Collier's magazine. I never wrote another one. I don't know why. Guess I just haven't any ambition. Q. What is the correct pronunciation of the name of the celebrated sire of thoroughbreds, Alibhai. A. Should be pronounced: "Alley-baa-he." Q. Do you recall a song titled "I'm A Little Blackbird Looking For a Bluebird"? A. Yes, ma'am. Florence Mills used to sing it.

TOP MAN

The most important player on a baseball club is the catcher. That's what I continue to claim. And forever will. It has been truly said that pitching is 70 per cent of a ball club but a good catcher is 70 per cent of the pitching.

ASIDES

It was Daphne Drake, who said, "The qualities most necessary for a successful wife are charm, tact and patience." Sarah Bernhardt once observed, "Three-tenths of good appearance in a woman is due to nature; seven-tenths to dress." . . . According to beauty shop operators, who certainly should know, it is usually blue-eyed brunettes who switch to blonde hair. They think their blue eyes will make them outstanding blondes.

PLEASE NOTE

Radishes are good for the complexion. That's what a New Yorker claims. Says he knew a Polish countess who, at the age of 68, still had her schoolgirl complexion. This countess ate six radishes before every meal including breakfast. She said the women of her family had been doing that for 300 years and were celebrated throughout Europe for their beautiful complexions.

Today Is Woodrow Wilson's 100th Birthday

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Today is the 100th anniversary of the birth of Woodrow Wilson. He was neither the healthiest nor the sickest President we have had but he suffered the consequences of overconscientiousness and inflexibility.

It was not easy for Wilson to reach the top. He left college at 17 because of "delicate health" and, after recuperating for a year, went to Princeton as an undergraduate. He then decided to study law, but again was forced to spend another year recovering from a nervous breakdown.

He thus missed two years of college, which is equivalent to the time most of our young men today spend in service. He was completely exhausted mentally and physically while at the university and so restless he could not sit quietly in conversation with friends.

This condition is quite prevalent among college and professional students who are working feverishly to attain their goal. They never relax, always stay up too late, and eat on the run. Many attempt to live up to the standards set by others.

Wilson was devoted to his father and was said to prefer his intellectual companionship to that of companions his own age. Could it be that Wilson was trying to live up to the intellectual level of his father?

Prolonged spells of indigestion dogged Wilson's life. In 1895 he developed severe hemorrhage in the right eye with retinal detachment. The eye condition was secondary to Bright's disease.

Wilson lacked the temperament to practice law and became an instructor in history and political economy. He had two more nervous breakdowns, the last occurring after he became president of Princeton. It may have stemmed from the many differences of opinion he had with the faculty and trustees.

He usually was able to sell his ideas but became miserable and upset when he failed. No wonder he suffered from nervousness and indigestion most of his life. When he became our 28th President, he brought along a stomach pump which he used daily until the White House physician persuaded him to stop the practice.

His physician also discouraged him from taking so many headache remedies, because of the possibility of bringing about recurrence of kidney trouble.

The final blow came when Congress opposed his brain child—the League of Nations. Wilson decided to make a personal appeal to the people but developed a stroke before the program was half over. The usual secrecy of the time prevailed and many false rumors appeared. Wilson never recovered completely and was an invalid the remaining years of his life.

TOMORROW: Multiple sclerosis.

ADHESIONS

J. K. writes: I have heard that if a person is operated on for adhesions due to an operation, that more adhesions will follow a second operation to correct them. Is this true?

REPLY

Yes, but there is a good possibility that the new adhesions will not prove troublesome. Adhesions represent scar tissue and it is difficult to do an operation without leaving a few of them. But the lesions usually escape detection unless they kink or obstruct the intestine. When this occurs, surgery is necessary.

ARTHRITIS

G. W. writes: Are X-rays needed to diagnose arthritis?

REPLY

Not when the diagnosis is obvious through painful, swollen, stiff joints. But a roentgen study is recommended when the diagnosis is questionable or the physician wants to learn the extent of the lesions.

CARRIERS

M. T. writes: Must a person have had typhoid to become a carrier?

REPLY

Yes, but the original attack may have been so slight it escaped detection.

OPENING BLISTERS

H. Y. writes: Can anything be done to heal blisters faster, like pricking them to let out the blood?

REPLY

Sticking a needle into a blood blister is not recommended because of the danger of infection. Germs thrive on blood and so long as the lesion remains closed, there is no possible way for them to enter.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

The difference between old-time vaudeville and present-day television is graphically highlighted by veteran comedian Bert Wheeler. "Years ago," he recalls, "I could buy a complete vaudeville routine for 500 bucks and use it without changing a line for five years. Today you pay a thousand for a sketch that lasts one single television program — that is, if some other comic doesn't beat you to the airwaves with it!"

Worries a contributor to the Yale Record: "If all the co-eds who didn't neck were gathered in one room, what would we do with her?"

Old theatre buffs agree that there never was a greater comedy duo than Bobby Clark and the late Paul McCullough. The latter's opening sally got the act off to a fine start. "We're two senators from Rhode Island," he would announce cheerfully, "elected by an act of Providence."

1956 Building In Frostburg Tops $200,000

FROSTBURG — William Vogtman, city clerk, announced yesterday that building permits for new homes, repairs and remodeling, garages and an office building during 1956 amounted to $200,725, according to figures taken from estimates on permits.

The breakdown of various types of permits follows: repairs and remodeling, nine; office building, one; new homes, 25, and garages, nine.

Totals by the month follows: January, $1,600; February, $1,050; March, $4,000; April, $17,500; May, $23,000; June, $39,900; July, $15,475; August, $38,400; September, $32,300; October, $9,350; November, $13,200 and December, $5,000.

Vogtman pointed out that all outside construction in the city must have a permit, otherwise the owner is liable to a fine not to exceed $10. A permit costs $1, regardless of the estimated amount.

In the case of sidewalks, he said, a permit is necessary but there is no charge made. The issuing of a permit enables the city engineer to give proper grades and residents are checked as to safety features while construction is carried out.

FROSTBURG — Wilbur Lancaster of 9 Allegany Street, Lonaconing, was injured slightly yesterday morning while en route to the Celanese plant, where he is employed.

The accident occurred as he was descending the grade between Vale Summit and Clarysville. The car began to skid and crossed the highway, hitting an abutment. Lancaster was thrown against the windshield and he was cut about the face and forehead. At Miners Hospital, his wounds were sutured and he was released.

After the dinner the children were treated to a movie at the Majestic Theatre through the courtesy of Robert Lyons, manager. About 200 children of the community also attended the movie and each brought a donation of food stuff which was given to the orphanage.

Accompanying the group was Rev. Dr. Coleman Brown, superintendent of the home; Mrs. Bernice B. Rhodes, superintendent of house mothers; Mrs. Hazel Davis, matron of girls, and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Litton, employes at the home.

David G. Nuzum was the unanimous selection of the committee composed of Rotarians, Lions and Soroptomists under the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club. He is head of the English department at Potomac State College and active in youth, Boy Scout, church, Sunday School and library work.

Nuzum is the third man to be awarded the Kiwanis honor. The first, named two years ago, was Mayor John C. Freeland of Keyser. Last year the choice was Paul J. Davis, local banker.

Nuzum was presented at Wednesday night's meeting by Robert Whitlach, president of the Kiwanis Club.

1956 Building In Frostburg Tops $200,000

FROSTBURG — William Vogtman, city clerk, announced yesterday that building permits for new homes, repairs and remodeling, garages and an office building during 1956 amounted to $200,725, according to figures taken from estimates on permits.

The breakdown of various types of permits follows: repairs and remodeling, nine; office building, one; new homes, 25, and garages, nine.

Totals by the month follows: January, $1,600; February, $1,050; March, $4,000; April, $17,500; May, $23,000; June, $39,900; July, $15,475; August, $38,400; September, $32,300; October, $9,350; November, $13,200 and December, $5,000.

Vogtman pointed out that all outside construction in the city must have a permit, otherwise the owner is liable to a fine not to exceed $10. A permit costs $1, regardless of the estimated amount.

In the case of sidewalks, he said, a permit is necessary but there is no charge made. The issuing of a permit enables the city engineer to give proper grades and residents are checked as to safety features while construction is carried out.

Belgian Endive Pin-Wheel Salad

Miss Milo Miloradovich, food expert, known for her unique international best sellers, such as the Art of Cooking with Herbs and spices has developed another interesting salad which she has named Belgian Endive Pin-Wheel Salad. Here is the recipe:

4 large heads Belgian endive
2 large tomatoes, sliced
8 anchovy fillets
4 tbs. French Dressing or Herb Salad Dressing of choice
whole black peppercorns

Allow 1 large head Belgian endive cut lengthwise in half for each serving. More if desired. Crisp Belgian endive in ice-water 15 minutes before using. Dry gently in paper towel.

With very sharp knife, slice Belgian endive head lengthwise beginning at root-end. Slice tomatoes to desired thickness. In center of large round flat salad plate, arrange tomato slices in pyramid fashion to form center of wheel. Arrange anchovy fillets crisscross. Place Belgian endive pin-wheel fashion around tomatoes with root-end towards tomatoes in center. Serve individual salads on small salad plates arranged in same fashion.

When served carefully pour desired dressing into the tip-end of Belgian endive leaves and over tomatoes and anchovy fillets.

Pepper Mill filled with whole black peppercorns is used at the table. Each person grinding desired amount of pepper over individual salad. Serve salad with toasted, unbuttered bread sticks.

VISITING . . . Encourage your child to invite their friends in to play. It's much easier to entertain two children than one.

Here's Something 'Different' For Club Luncheon

If you are looking for something out of the ordinary for your next club luncheon, Cheese Puffs with Bacon Cheese Sauce, may be just the answer.

The puffs are made like standard cream puff shells, except for the addition of cheese and hot pepper sauce for flavoring. Just be sure to follow directions exactly; beating in each egg thoroughly until the mixture is thick and glossy.

Cheese Puffs

(1½ dozen)

¼ cup butter
½ cup boiling water
½ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne
Few drops hot pepper sauce
½ cup grated process American cheese
2 eggs

Add butter to water; stir until butter melts. Add flour and salt all at once. Stir vigorously until mixture is smooth and forms a ball. Remove from heat. Stir in cayenne, hot pepper sauce and cheese. Add eggs, one at a time, beating vigorously after each addition until mixture is thick and shiny. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Cut a small slit in each puff to release steam. Cut off tops; fill with the following sauce. Replace tops and serve.

Bacon-Cheese Sauce: Melt 2 tablespoons butter. Blend in 2½ tablespoons flour. Add 1 cup milk gradually and cook until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly. Add 3 slices diced, cooked bacon and 1 cup grated process American cheese. Cook until cheese melts.

Sour Cream Variations

When you have a cake recipe that calls for dairy sour cream, it is generally not advisable to substitute home soured cream, say the experts. The dairy sour cream you purchase at your grocery store is a carefully regulated product to which a special culture has been added. Home soured cream, on the other hand, can vary greatly in consistency and butterfat content. The difference between the two can spell success or failure to your cake.

Ocean Perch Turbans

2 pounds ocean perch fillets, frozen
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Bread stuffing
¼ cup butter or other fat, melted

This Chop Suey Ready To Serve In Five Minutes

A nation with cosmopolitan taste buds is the way many persons describe the American palate. Acquaint virtually any good cook with a foreign dish she can prepare and serve easily at home, and she's ready to experiment.

Fortunately, preparation of many of these foreign foods has been simplified today, thanks in large measure to food processors who put up some of the many exotic ingredients in cans.

Consider the growing interest in Chinese cookery of late. Many of the more popular Chinese main courses such as chop suey are now as American as fried chicken, probably because the makings are so easily obtained.

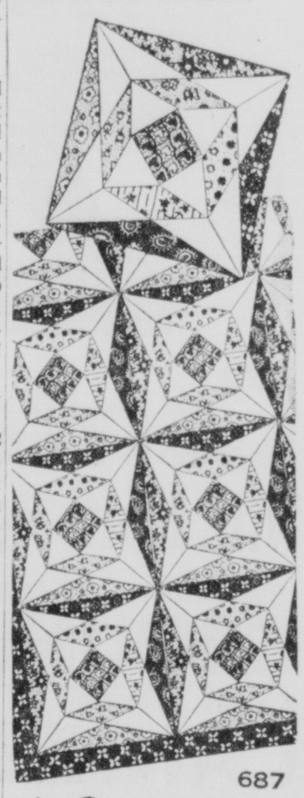

There are, for example, three new canned chop suey items recently developed which take all of the work out of chop suey. They are chop suey and chicken, chop suey and beef, and chop suey with mushrooms. With any one of these brand new products you can now serve a complete Chinese main course in less than five minutes that has the crisp texture, delicate flavor, and food value of home-cooked chop suey.

Their home-cooked taste lies in a new canning process which the company has perfected. Called a "super-speed" process, it reduces the time normally required to cook and sterilize food packed in cans by more than 75 per cent.

All you need do is drain the seasoned broth into a skillet; blend in 4 tablespoons of cornstarch and cook until thickened. Then add remaining contents of the can and heat through.

These products are in a new 34-ounce economy size can, so that each yields four very large or six medium servings. If you're a Chinese food fan, be sure to look for these on your grocer's shelves.

Peanut Butter Ripple

Among the things we all remember are our childhood parties.

Your children will be certain to remember their parties if you let them help with the preparations. This means, of course, you should use easy-to-prepare recipes containing food they particularly like.

Peanut butter is just that. Suggested for serving in sherbet glasses is an ice-cream recipe called Peanut Butter Ripple. It's easy to fix and small favors placed atop the dessert can provide a take-home present for each child. This treat is easily made by tucking chunks of peanut butter in softened ice cream, and re-freezing it for a rippled effect.

To make this dessert particularly attractive use two kinds of ice cream with different colors. The colors can be alternated in layers in the glass and the peanut butter rippled between the layers. A sprinkling of fresh chopped peanuts scattered across the top adds the finishing touch to either dessert.

Peanut Butter Ripple
(Serves 6)

1 quart Vanilla Ice Cream
½ cup peanut butter
¼ cup chopped salted peanuts

Let ice cream soften slightly. With a spoon cut in peanut butter to make "ripples." Return to freezer to harden. Sprinkle with chopped salted peanuts, and serve in sherbet or goblet size glasses.

The first railroad to carry passengers in the United States was the Baltimore and Ohio, in January, 1830.

Basting Fowls The Spanish Way

Chicken and other fowls have a tendency to dry out and lose their flavors, and a good way to preserve their richness is to baste them with equal parts of lemon juice and Spanish olive oil—half a cup of each—to which has been added a tablespoon of grated lemon rind. If you wish, you can use orange juice and its grated peel with the olive oil, or a mixture of half lemon, half orange, to keep your fowls juicy and tender.

Fish Fillets Espangole

Fish fillets are a good and easy dinner dish and a quick way to prepare them is heat two tablespoons of Spanish olive oil in a frying pan, then add a thinly silced onion, a quarter-cup of chopped stuffed olives, a small eight-ounce can of tomato sauce, salt and pepper. Bring to the bubbling stage, stirring constantly, pour the hot sauce over a pound of the fillets, and bake at 400° in a greased oven dish for thirty minutes. Serve with corn bread and a tossed green salad.

Belgian Endive Pin-Wheel Salad

Miss Milo Miloradovich, food expert, known for her unique international best sellers, such as the Art of Cooking with Herbs and spices has developed another interesting salad which she has named Belgian Endive Pin-Wheel Salad. Here is the recipe:

4 large heads Belgian endive
2 large tomatoes, sliced
8 anchovy fillets
4 tbs. French Dressing or Herb Salad Dressing of choice
whole black peppercorns

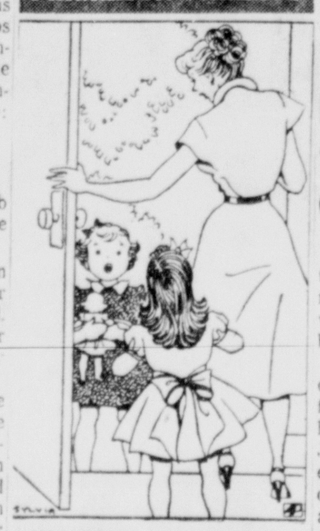

Allow 1 large head Belgian endive cut lengthwise in half for each serving. More if desired. Crisp Belgian endive in ice-water 15 minutes before using. Dry gently in paper towel.

With very sharp knife, slice Belgian endive head lengthwise beginning at root-end. Slice tomatoes to desired thickness. In center of large round flat salad plate, arrange tomato slices in pyramid fashion to form center of wheel. Arrange anchovy fillets crisscross. Place Belgian endive pin-wheel fashion around tomatoes with root-end towards tomatoes in center. Serve individual salads on small salad plates arranged in same fashion.

When served carefully pour desired dressing into the tip-end of Belgian endive leaves and over tomatoes and anchovy fillets.

Pepper Mill filled with whole black peppercorns is used at the table. Each person grinding desired amount of pepper over individual salad. Serve salad with toasted, unbuttered bread sticks.

PRIMER for PARENTS

Here's Something 'Different' For Club Luncheon

If you are looking for something out of the ordinary for your next club luncheon, Cheese Puffs with Bacon Cheese Sauce, may be just the answer.

The puffs are made like standard cream puff shells, except for the addition of cheese and hot pepper sauce for flavoring. Just be sure to follow directions exactly; beating in each egg thoroughly until the mixture is thick and glossy.

Cheese Puffs

(1½ dozen)

¼ cup butter
½ cup boiling water
½ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne
Few drops hot pepper sauce
½ cup grated process American cheese
2 eggs

Add butter to water; stir until butter melts. Add flour and salt all at once. Stir vigorously until mixture is smooth and forms a ball. Remove from heat. Stir in cayenne, hot pepper sauce and cheese. Add eggs, one at a time, beating vigorously after each addition until mixture is thick and shiny. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Cut a small slit in each puff to release steam. Cut off tops; fill with the following sauce. Replace tops and serve.

Bacon-Cheese Sauce: Melt 2 tablespoons butter. Blend in 2½ tablespoons flour. Add 1 cup milk gradually and cook until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly. Add 3 slices diced, cooked bacon and 1 cup grated process American cheese. Cook until cheese melts.

Sour Cream Variations

When you have a cake recipe that calls for dairy sour cream, it is generally not advisable to substitute home soured cream, say the experts. The dairy sour cream you purchase at your grocery store is a carefully regulated product to which a special culture has been added. Home soured cream, on the other hand, can vary greatly in consistency and butterfat content. The difference between the two can spell success or failure to your cake.

Ocean Perch Turbans

2 pounds ocean perch fillets, frozen
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Bread stuffing
¼ cup butter or other fat, melted
3 slices bacon

Thaw fillets. Skin. Sprinkle fillets with salt and pepper. Line 12 well-greased muffin tins with fillets, over-lapping ends of fillets. Divide bread stuffing into 12 equal portions; shape into balls. Place a ball of stuffing in center of each fillet. Brush tops with butter and place ¼ slice of bacon on each. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., for 25 to 30 minutes or until fish flakes with fork. Serves 6.

Late Profit-Taking Halts Advance By Stock Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Late profit-taking nipped a fair-to-middling stock market rise today, leaving the list irregularly lower.

Key issues ended the sessions with a splattering of plus and minus signs running generally from fractions to about 2 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped a minimum 10 cents to $180.60 with the industrials down 40 cents, the rails up 20 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

There were 541 losses and 403 gains.

Business and economic news was rather mixed and evidences of tight money in various items of corporate news affected sentiment. Some oils were helped by news that work of clearing the Suez Canal was getting under way.

Of the 15 most active stocks, six declined, five were unchanged and four rose.

Studebaker-Packard, chiefly due to the turnover of a series of large blocks, was the day's most active stock, up ⅜ at 7¼ on 47,600 shares. Second was Pennsylvania Railroad, off ⅛ at 21⅜ on 23,700 shares. Third was Standard Oil (NJ), unchanged at 58¾ on 22,600.

To help prevent bedsores, wash the bedridden patient's back with soap and water daily For added comfort, follow up with an alcohol rub to toughen the skin, and dust with powder to keep the skin dry.

Minor scratches on furniture can be covered up by rubbing them with fresh meat from a walnut or pecan.

'Nibbling' Foods Essential For Holiday Parties

Simple "drop in" invitations are the usual form our entertaining takes during the long holiday season. These seemingly spontaneous gatherings cannot be as spur-of-the-moment as they may appear, however, if they are to be successful.

Even the most casual entertaining means that the hostess must be prepared with light refreshments of some sort. Perhaps that's why no homemaker ever has too many suggestions for snack foods during the holidays.

Traditional drinks, such as egg-nog, Tom and Jerries, Glogg, of hot spiced punch demand a few nibbling foods for accompaniment. Christmas cookies and slivers of fruitcake are always acceptable. But if you are thinking of those guests who prefer less sweet fare, be sure to stock up on such things as salted nuts, cocktail crackers, assorted cheeses, and coconut chips.

Should you still be on the hunt for something a little different, but easy to prepare, try some of these tidbits from the home economists.

Swiss Cheese Sticks

Cream 3 ounces of blue cheese and ½ cup butter together thoroughly. Spread mixture on slices of Swiss cheese. Chill in refrigerator until cheese is firm enough to slice into little sticks. Serve on crisp crackers.

Hot Cheese Puffs

Spread 2 inch rounds of white bread with butter. Add ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 beaten egg yolk to 1 stiffly beaten egg white; beat until blended. Fold in 2 cups grated natural cheddar cheese, mixing with fork until well blended.

Place 2 teaspoons mixture on bread, spreading to ¼ inch from outer edges. Place on cookie sheet, 2 inches from heat, and broil about 5 minutes at 400 degrees.

Other interesting finger foods that have found favor with party givers recently are chow mein noodles. The crisp, golden noodles are delicious just as they come from the can, but try serving the morsels warm and flavorsome as one of the leading makers of these noodles suggest:

Spread 2 cups LaChoy noodles in a shallow baking pan. Melt 2 tablespoons butter and stir in ¼ teaspoon onion powder and 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese. Pour over noodles, stirring constantly to coat evenly. Heat in 250 degress oven for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve warm.

Cocktail Anchovies Jerez

Something hot and full of taste for cocktail time is quickly made by frying two-inch squares of bread in butter, then placing an anchovy on top, along with some chopped stuffed olives. Spread thickly over this some grated Parmesan cheese, which has been moistened with Spanish sherry—either a dry fino or nutty amontillado—and to which has been added chopped parsley or chives. Dust with paprika and stick under the broiler for a minute before serving.

Sour Cream Drop Cookies

1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup soft butter
1 egg
½ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup uncooked rolled oats
1 cup raisins or walnuts, chopped

Add sugar to butter, creaming until fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add sour cream and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together; stir into first mixture. Add raisins or nuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375°F. for 12-15 minutes or until done. Cool on rack. Makes 2 dozen.

Pecan Butter Cookies

1 cup butter
½ cup powdered sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted flour
½ cup pecans, chopped fine
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar. Add remaining ingredients. Roll into small balls. Flatten on buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven 350°F. until lightly browned, about 8-10 minutes. Roll in additional powdered sugar while still warm. Makes 2½-3 dozen cookies.

Chocolate Shake

A thick, double chocolate milk shake is a nourishing beverage few persons can resist. With the aid of a milk-shake mix now in stores containing dry milk solids, you can prepare such a drink in seconds. Here's what you do. Pour 1 cup of chilled milk into a pint shaker. Add 2 ice cubes and 1 package of Make-A-Shake. Shake container vigorously for 30 seconds. Place a heaping scoop of chocolate ice cream in two glasses and pour in the thick, creamy shake.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
3 spades	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
6 clubs	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of spades.

There are cases where even though both members of the partnership have bid properly, they wind up in a contract for which there is no reasonable hope of fulfillment. This does not indicate something wrong with the bidding methods, for they were designed to cover the normal run of hands that occur an overwhelming amount of the time.

Occasionally, unforeseen duplication of values will set in against which even the most accurate bidders will be helpless. Today's hand is perhaps one of this type. The bidding was aggressive to be sure, but neither partner can be charged with an indiscretion. The play for the slam is inferior because of the lack of fit. Note the difference if South's diamond and spade holdings were reversed.

That the play for the hand was very remote did not prevent South from giving it the old college try. He took the opening lead with the king of spades and ruffed a spade in dummy. Then came a low heart toward the jack. (There was nothing to be gained by finessing the heart, for even if it succeeded there were two diamond losers to contend with.)

East came up with the king of hearts and returned a diamond, which forced South to go up with the ace. He cashed the jack of hearts and ruffed the low spade with the ten of clubs. The king and queen of clubs were cashed, leaving one trump at large. Declarer's one hope now rested with the chance that the player who held the club would have to follow to two more rounds of hearts. On this premise, he cashed the ace and queen of hearts, and West had to follow, as declarer discarded his two losing diamonds. South then ruffed himself in with a diamond and drew the remaining trump with the ace.

Spanish Soup Seasoning Trick

A fine way to add flavor to soup, whenever it tastes too thin, is to fry a thinly sliced onion in a quarter-cup of Spanish olive oil until it is transparent, then add the blend to your soup. Texture as well as taste is improved. For still more flavor you might add a clove of garlic while you are frying the onions.

Favorite Cookies

1 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped peanuts
1½ cups crushed wheat flake cereal
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1¾ cups quick cooking oats

Cream butter and sugars together well. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Blend in vanilla. Chop peanuts fine. Crush wheat cereal. Sift flour with baking powder, soda and salt. Then mix in peanuts, wheat cereal and oats. Add to creamed mixture, blending well. Drop from teaspoon onto lightly buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., for 12 to 15 minutes, until lightly browned. Makes 7 dozen cookies.

Large wall mirrors, hung where they will reflect an outside view or an especially interesting part of a room, have the effect of doubling both the beauty and the size of a room.

Late Profit-Taking Halts Advance By Stock Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Late profit-taking nipped a fair-to-middling stock market rise today, leaving the list irregularly lower.

Key issues ended the sessions with a splattering of plus and minus signs running generally from fractions to about 2 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped a minimum 10 cents to $180.60 with the industrials down 40 cents, the rails up 20 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

There were 541 losses and 403 gains.

Business and economic news was rather mixed and evidences of tight money in various items of corporate news affected sentiment. Some oils were helped by news that work of clearing the Suez Canal was getting under way.

Of the 15 most active stocks, six declined, five were unchanged and four rose.

Studebaker-Packard, chiefly due to the turnover of a series of large blocks, was the day's most active stock, up ⅝ at 7¼ on 47,600 shares. Second was Pennsylvania Railroad, off ⅛ at 21⅝ on 23,700 shares. Third was Standard Oil (NJ), unchanged at 58¾ on 22,600.

'Nibbling' Foods Essential For Holiday Parties

Simple "drop in" invitations are the usual form our entertaining takes during the long holiday season. These seemingly spontaneous gatherings cannot be as spur-of-the-moment as they may appear, however, if they are to be successful.

Even the most casual entertaining means that the hostess must be prepared with light refreshments of some sort. Perhaps that's why no homemaker ever has too many suggestions for snack foods during the holidays.

Traditional drinks, such as egg-nog, Tom and Jerries, Glogg, of hot spiced punch demand a few nibbling foods for accompaniment. Christmas cookies and slivers of fruitcake are always acceptable. But if you are thinking of those guests who prefer less sweet fare, be sure to stock up on such things as salted nuts, cocktail crackers, assorted cheeses, and coconut chips.

Should you still be on the hunt for something a little different, but easy to prepare, try some of these tidbits from the home economists.

Swiss Cheese Sticks

Cream 3 ounces of blue cheese and ½ cup butter together thoroughly. Spread mixture on slices of Swiss cheese. Chill in refrigerator until cheese is firm enough to slice into little sticks. Serve on crisp crackers.

Hot Cheese Puffs

Spread 2 inch rounds of white bread with butter. Add ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 beaten egg yolk to 1 stiffly beaten egg white; beat until blended. Fold in 2 cups grated natural cheddar cheese, mixing with fork until well blended.

Place 2 teaspoons mixture on bread, spreading to ¼ inch from outer edges. Place on cookie sheet, 2 inches from heat, and broil about 5 minutes at 400 degrees.

Other interesting finger foods that have found favor with party givers recently are chow mein noodles. The crisp, golden noodles are delicious just as they come from the can, but try serving the morsels warm and flavorsome as one of the leading makers of these noodles suggest:

Spread 2 cups LaChoy noodles in a shallow baking pan. Melt 2 tablespoons butter and stir in ¼ teaspoon onion powder and 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese. Pour over noodles, stirring constantly to coat evenly. Heat in 250 degress oven for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve warm.

Cocktail Anchovies Jerez

Something hot and full of taste for cocktail time is quickly made by frying two-inch squares of bread in butter, then placing an anchovy on top, along with some chopped stuffed olives. Spread thickly over this some grated Parmesan cheese, which has been moistened with Spanish sherry—either a dry fino or nutty amontillado—and to which has been added chopped parsley or chives. Dust with paprika and stick under the broiler for a minute before serving.

Sour Cream Drop Cookies

1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup soft butter
1 egg
½ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup uncooked rolled oats
1 cup raisins or walnuts, chopped

Add sugar to butter, creaming until fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add sour cream and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together; stir into first mixture. Add raisins or nuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375°F. for 12-15 minutes or until done. Cool on rack. Makes 2 dozen.

Pecan Butter Cookies

1 cup butter
½ cup powdered sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted flour
½ cup pecans, chopped fine
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar. Add remaining ingredients. Roll into small balls. Flatten on buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven 350°F. until lightly browned, about 8-10 minutes. Roll in additional powdered sugar while still warm. Makes 2½-3 dozen cookies.

Chocolate Shake

A thick, double chocolate milk shake is a nourishing beverage few persons can resist. With the aid of a milk-shake mix now in stores containing dry milk solids, you can prepare such a drink in seconds. Here's what you do. Pour 1 cup of chilled milk into a pint shaker. Add 2 ice cubes and 1 package of Make-A-Shake. Shake container vigorously for 30 seconds. Place a heaping scoop of chocolate ice cream in two glasses and pour in the thick, creamy shake.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
3 spades	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
6 clubs	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of spades.

There are cases where even though both members of the partnership have bid properly, they wind up in a contract for which there is no reasonable hope of fulfillment. This does not indicate something wrong with the bidding methods, for they were designed to cover the normal run of hands that occur an overwhelming amount of the time.

Occasionally, unforeseen duplication of values will set in against which even the most accurate bidders will be helpless. Today's hand is perhaps one of this type. The bidding was aggressive to be sure, but neither partner can be charged with an indiscretion. The play for the slam is inferior because of the lack of fit. Note the difference if South's diamond and spade holdings were reversed.

That the play for the hand was very remote did not prevent South from giving it the old college try. He took the opening lead with the king of spades and ruffed a spade in dummy. Then came a low heart toward the jack. (There was nothing to be gained by finessing the heart, for even if it succeeded there were two diamond losers to contend with.)

East came up with the king of hearts and returned a diamond, which forced South to go up with the ace. He cashed the jack of hearts and ruffed the low spade with the ten of clubs. The king and queen of clubs were cashed, leaving one trump at large. Declarer's one hope now rested with the chance that the player who held the club would have to follow to two more rounds of hearts. On this premise, he cashed the ace and queen of hearts, and West had to follow, as declarer discarded his two losing diamonds. South then ruffed himself in with a diamond and drew the remaining trump with the ace.

Spanish Soup Seasoning Trick

A fine way to add flavor to soup, whenever it tastes too thin, is to fry a thinly sliced onion in a quarter-cup of Spanish olive oil until it is transparent, then add the blend to your soup. Texture as well as taste is improved. For still more flavor you might add a clove of garlic while you are frying the onions.

Favorite Cookies

1 cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped peanuts
1½ cups crushed wheat flake cereal
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1¾ cups quick cooking oats

Cream butter and sugars together well. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Blend in vanilla. Chop peanuts fine. Crush wheat cereal. Sift flour with baking powder, soda and salt. Then mix in peanuts, wheat cereal and oats. Add to creamed mixture, blending well. Drop from teaspoon onto lightly buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., for 12 to 15 minutes, until lightly browned. Makes 7 dozen cookies.

Duke Stops West Virginia In Dixie Classic, 73-67

Mountaineer Quint Handed First Defeat

Blue Devils Avenge Loss; Wake Forest, N.C. State Winners

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 27 (AP)—All - America candidate Lennie Rosenbluth scored 36 points to lead second-ranked North Carolina to an easy 97-76 win over Utah, and Duke defeated previously unbeaten West Virginia 73-67 tonight in the Dixie Basketball Classic before a crowd of 12,400 in Reynolds Coliseum.

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 27 (AP)—Ninth-ranked Duke took an early lead and held it throughout to hand fourth-ranked West Virginia its first loss of the season tonight, 73-67, in the opening round of the Dixie Basketball Classic before a capacity crowd of 12,400 in Reynolds Coliseum.

In afternoon games, defending champion North Carolina State finished strong to rout Iowa, 84-70; and Wake Forest upended DePaul, 74-68.

Undefeated North Carolina, second-ranked team in the current Associated Press poll, met Utah in the other game tonight.

Forward Jim Newcombe scored 19 points to pace Duke to its victory and avenge an 83-82 loss to West Virginia in the finals of the recent Birmingham Tournament.

The fast Duke team was behind only in the opening seconds when West Virginia guard Clayce Kisbaugh scored a goal. Duke quickly tied it at 2-all on a long shot by Bob Vernon. Newcombe followed with a goal and Duke was never overtaken.

Hundley Scores 24

West Virginia, with Hot Rod Hundley dropping in 24 points, pressed the Blue Devils in the second half but couldn't overtake them. Duke had an 8-point lead in the first half, was out front at the half by 38-34, and continued to dominate throughout the second half with clever ball handling and superior shooting. The game was played at a fast pace with both teams employing a race-horse attack.

Iowa Eliminated

N. C. State, which got off to a wobbly start this season, unleashed a devastating second half offense to overwhelm Iowa and hand the Hawkeyes their second loss of the season against three wins. State now has a 6-4 record and will meet Wake Forest tomorrow afternoon in the championship bracket.

Guard John Maglio, with 21 points, sparked State. The Wolfpack built up a 12-6 lead early in the game only to see Iowa come back and go ahead 26-20. At the half, State had a 32-29 edge.

Maglio, Cliff Hafer and Bob Seitz were the big guns as State come back in the second half to pour on the points and win with ease. At one point State had a 20-point margin.

Forward Dave Gunther led Iowa's attack with 18 points.

State had a brilliant shooting percentage of 54.2, hitting on 32 of 59 shots from the floor. Iowa had a 40.6 percentage.

Wake Forest Wins

Guard Jackie Murdock's 19 points and his clever ball handling set the pace as Wake Forest's Demon Deacons whipped DePaul in the opening game.

DePaul captain Dick Heise was high scorer with 26 points.

DePaul trailed by eight points late in the first half, but came back to give the Deacons a tough battle during a fast second half.

Wake Forest, winner of the recent Carrousel Tournament at Charlotte, had a shooting per centage of 46.5 per cent, hitting on 27 of 58 shots from the floor. DePaul attempted 56 field goals and made 26 for 40 per cent.

White Sox Reduce Sunday Twin Bills

CHICAGO, Dec. 27 (AP)—Because many fans regard Sunday double headers as too tedious, the Chicago White Sox today announced a 1957 program of only seven twin bills at Comiskey Park, a 50 per cent decrease.

This year, the Sox booked double headers on 11 of their 12 home Sundays and on two holidays.

Rosi, Vasquez Fight Tonight

Former Favorite In Bout At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP)—Hard-hitting Paolo Rosi, Italian-born battler from the Bronx, is an 8-5 favorite to make Mexico's Baby Vasquez his fourth straight victim of the year when the two lightweights meet tomorrow night in Miami's Biscayne Arena.

The fight, starting at 9 p.m., will be televised nationally by NBC.

Neither fighter is ranked in the top ten of the lightweight division but if Rosi wins tomorrow night, his manager, Carmine Tarantino, says he'll go after matches with the top men.

The Italian's record of 23 victories in 26 starts includes 11 kayoes. He has been stopped himself only once.

Vasquez has won 45 and lost 12. He snocked out Jimmy Soo after Soo had won 33 straight and in his last bout Oct. 20 he defeated Red Top Davis. The Mexican's only loss this year was to Carmela Costa.

Tempers Flare As Navy Loses

Texas Aggies Nose Out Middies, 76-75

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 27 (AP)—Tempers flared briefly tonight as a Navy rally fell short in the final seconds and Texas A&M defeated the Middies 76-75 in the first round of the Southwest Conference Basketball Tournament.

Rice met Baylor in the second night game.

Southern Methodist, the defending champion, this afternoon defeated Texas Christian, 76-65, as Big Jim Krebs scored 36 points. Arkansas upset Texas, 89-76, on a second half rally led by Larry Grisham, a junior forward.

Texas A&M, after losing its star forward, George Mehaffey, on fouls, lost an 18-point lead over a Navy team that battled furiously in the closing minutes. A shot by Dave Smally, the Navy captain, hit the rim of the basket and bounced away as the final gun sounded.

Smally and Mehaffey earlier had been separated by game officials as tempers flared during a scramble for the ball. There was a bit of shoving but no blows.

Feller Weighs Several Offers

Pitching, Office Jobs Considered

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27 (AP)—Bob Feller, who has been offered a job in the Cleveland Indians' front office, revealed today that he had received two offers of pitching jobs with major league clubs.

"I've already talked to two teams and two other clubs have said they would get in touch with me," the veteran Cleveland pitcher said. He did not name the clubs.

Feller said he also had been offered some excellent positions outside of baseball.

"These wouldn't interfere with my insurance company," he added, "and one is very, very tempting."

Feller said he was weighing all the job offers and would make a decision soon.

"I'm going to meet with Hank Greenberg around the first of the new year and let him know what I've decided," he said. Greenberg is general manager of the Indians.

Feller said he was giving serious consideration to the offer of the front office job with the Indians, but added that he has "never given up the thought of pitching."

Marquette Hangs Up Tournament Record

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Dec. 27 (INS)—The Warriors of Marquette set a new tourney record tonight by running up a 102 to 78 win over Georgia Tech in the first round of the all-college basketball meet at Oklahoma City.

The Warriors built up a 59 to 39 first half lead. Mike Moran, 6-foot, 8-inch center, led Marquette with 29 points while Georgia Tech's Bobby Kimmel hit for 21.

Earlier in the day, Memphis State eclipsed the old single game tourney record of 94 points set by San Francisco as they defeated Texas Tech, 99 to 77.

Nittany Lions Beat Richmond Cagers, 64-60

Washington & Lee Edges Lions, 69-65

By ED YOUNG

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 27 (AP)—Lafayette's fast - stepping basketball team gave William and Mary a sound 85-72 licking tonight to advance into the semifinal round of the third annual Richmond Invitational Tournament.

The classy Leopards, stamping themselves as the team to beat for the championship with their fine first - round showing, will meet Washington and Lee in tomorrow night's second round. Pennsylvania and Penn State meet in the other semifinals skirmish.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 27 (AP)—Sophomore Tom Hancock scored eight of his ten points in the last three minutes tonight and carried Penn State to a 64-60 victory over host Richmond in the first round of the Richmond Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The victory advanced slow-moving Penn State into tomorrow's championship semifinals, in which the Nittany Lions will meet Penn, an 83-79 victor over Davidson earlier today.

Lafayette and William and Mary met in tonight's second game for the right to collide in the semifinals with Washington and Lee, which bounced off the ropes for eight points in the last 52 seconds to trip previously unbeaten Columbia 69-65.

Penn State Rallies

Penn State overcame a 33-29 halftime deficit to cool off two-time finalist Richmond in their first round skirmish. Once in front by seven points in the second half as Richmond's shooting cooled off, the Nittany Lions were tied 52-52 when Warren Mitchell laid in a jump shot for Richmond with 5:08 remaining.

Hancock popped in a field goal and made good two foul shots to break the deadlock and bring Penn State into a safe lead. Steve Baidy and Ron Rainey were top scorers for the Nittany Lions with 17 points apiece. Center Curt Adkins paced Richmond with 16.

Washington and Lee's victory over Columbia was the only genuine first round surprise.

Once ahead by 10 points at 53-43 midway the last half, Washington and Lee faltered in the face of Columbia's full court press and the will-o-the-wisp play of the Lions' tremendous little Chet Forte, who scored 27 points. But after the Lions had swept into a 61-61 tie with less than a minute remaining, W&L found its second wind.

Dom Flora stole the ball as Columbia stalled for a last shot and raced downcourt for the basket that broke the deadlock. Seconds later Barry Storick did the same. That made it 65-61 with 37 seconds left and everything afterward was anti-climactic, the Generals opening up a six-point lead on Barclay Smith's two foul shots and holding on to the gun.

Marshall Scores 28

Tall Lee Marshall poked home 28 points on hook and push shots to lead Washington and Lee. Columbia had won six straight games before falling to the Generals, who have won six.

Davidson, winner of only two of 11 games, came from 11 points behind to make a scrap of its game with Penn, principally on the shooting of lean Semi Mintz, who pitched in 32 points. Twice in the closing moments the Wildcats pulled to within four points of the Quakers but eventually succumbed to a freeze instituted by Penn in the last four minutes.

Dick Csencsitz sank shots from virtually every angle in pacing Penn to a 45-34 halftime advantage. Csencitz scored 34 in the game.

Rosewall Ready To Sign $65,000 Pro Tennis Pact

ADELAIDE, Dec. 27 (AP)—Promotor Jack Kramer will sign Australia's Ken Rosewall to a professional contract tomorrow or Saturday and then will turn his wiles on Lew Hoad in an effort to snare the two biggest names in amateur tennis.

Australians are wagering Hoad will not submit to the professional lure but the bogged Kramer refuses to be convinced.

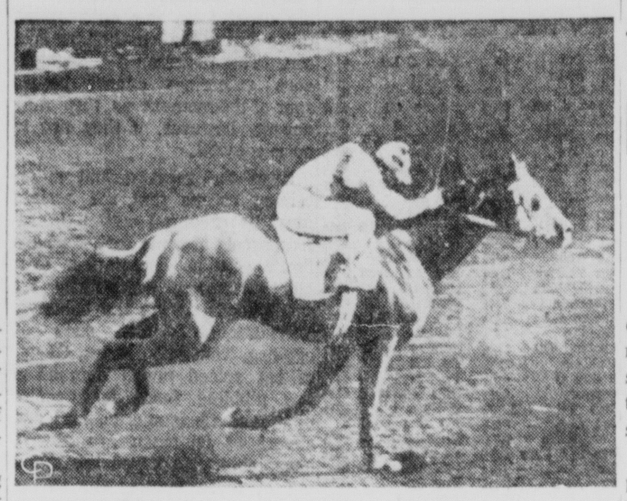

"I would like to get these boys together," the one-time net king from Los Angeles said. "They would be a tremendous drawing card. Hoad hasn't given me much encouragement but I haven't had a real chance to sit down and talk with him."

Kramer is pinning his hopes on the growing disaffection between Hoad, who is a pretty independent individual, and the reigning fathers of Australian tennis.

If Kramer learns this weekend that there is even a faint hope of landing Hoad he may postpone the signing of Rosewall in order to complete a doubleheader deal. If Hoad remains adamant as an amateur, Kramer will grab Rosewall alone.

Rosewall's parents are here to sit on the deal which guarantees the 22 year-old Sydney ace $65,000 a year.

Buff Donelli Is Named Lou Little's Successor

Former Boston U. Mentor Appointed To Columbia Post

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Aldo (Buff) Donelli, head football coach at Boston University since 1947, today was appointed successor to Lou Little at Columbia.

He faces a tough job. Columbia loses seven starters out of its 1956 team which had a record of 3 victories and 6 defeats. The freshman team won only 1 game and lost 4.

Donelli comes to Columbia with a 10-year record of 75 victories, 40 defeats and 6 ties. In Little he succeeds one of the best known and most popular of American college coaches who is retiring after 27 years.

Donelli said he approached the job with considerable apprehension because "Lou filled the football shoes at Columbia so well for so many years."

Serves Minus Contract

Ralph Furey, Columbia director of athletics, said Donelli did not receive a contract but was on an annual appointment basis "as is the case with all our coaches."

"We expect him to make football attractive to the boys at Columbia," said Furey. "He knows and understands the rules and spirit of the Ivy League."

In 1945 and 1946 Donelli was assistant to Little at Columbia, and Little in offering his congratulations said, "I wish for Buff Donelli the same many happy and pleasant coaching years that I have enjoyed at Columbia. He comes to an exacting job but one for which the rewards can be most satisfying."

Although Little has known many bleak years at Columbia along with his successful ones, he has been remarkably free from alumni pressure and criticism. Many experts believe that if he had been given strong material he could have established a brilliant record and his teams, even in defeat, always played interesting football.

Coached At Dusquesne

Donelli was graduated from Duquesne University in 1930 and became freshman coach there the same year.

Pitt Upsets Seton Hall

Western Kentucky Conquers LaSalle

The 5-foot 9 guard wound up with 18 points but set up many other plays to keep the Pittsburgh attack going. Julius Pegues was high man for Pitt with 20 points and Bob Lazor had 18.

Three Seton Hall starters fouled out in the second half. The biggest loss was Dick Gaines, a guard who had just started to hit when he went out with 11 minutes left.

Vince Ryan, a substitute guard, was Seton Hall's leading scorer with 13 points.

In the second afternoon game, Western Kentucky's superior height and the sensational shooting of guard Owen Lawson carried the Hilltoppers to an 89-76 victory tonight over the LaSalle Explorers of Philadelphia.

In early stages of the game, Kentucky's six-foot, eight-inch Ralph Crosthwaite was highly effective under the basket to give his ball club an early edge. Midway in the period Lawson broke loose for what eventually brought him 20 points in the first half. He scored another 13 in the second half.

In the first night game, Stanford's airtight Indians defeated Valparaiso 68-51 in a game that stuck the losers with the lowest point total of the Orange Bowl tournament's two-year history.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27 (AP)—Bob Feller, who has been offered a job in the Cleveland Indians' front office, revealed today that he had received two offers of pitching jobs with major league clubs.

"I've already talked to two teams and two other clubs have said they would get in touch with me," the veteran Cleveland pitcher said. He did not name the clubs.

Feller said he also had been offered some excellent positions outside of baseball.

"These wouldn't interfere with my insurance company," he added, "and one is very, very tempting."

Feller said he was weighing all the job offers and would make a decision soon.

"I'm going to meet with Hank Greenberg around the first of the new year and let him know what I've decided," he said. Greenberg is general manager of the Indians.

Feller said he was giving serious consideration to the offer of the front office job with the Indians, but added that he has "never given up the thought of pitching."

Marquette Hangs Up Tournament Record

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Dec. 27 (INS)—The Warriors of Marquette set a new tourney record tonight by running up a 102 to 78 win over Georgia Tech in the first round of the all-college basketball meet at Oklahoma City.

The Warriors built up a 59 to 39 first half lead. Mike Moran, 6-foot, 8-inch center, led Marquette with 29 points while Georgia Tech's Bobby Kimmel hit for 21.

Earlier in the day, Memphis State eclipsed the old single game tourney record of 94 points set by San Francisco as they defeated Texas Tech, 99 to 77.

Nittany Lions Beat Richmond Cagers, 64-60

Washington & Lee Edges Lions, 69-65

By ED YOUNG

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 27 (AP)—Lafayette's fast - stepping basketball team gave William and Mary a sound 85-72 licking tonight to advance into the semifinal round of the third annual Richmond Invitational Tournament.

The classy Leopards, stamping themselves as the team to beat for the championship with their fine first - round showing, will meet Washington and Lee in tomorrow night's second round. Pennsylvania and Penn State meet in the other semifinals skirmish.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 27 (AP)—Sophomore Tom Hancock scored eight of his ten points in the last three minutes tonight and carried Penn State to a 64-60 victory over host Richmond in the first round of the Richmond Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The victory advanced slow-moving Penn State into tomorrow's championship semifinals, in which the Nittany Lions will meet Penn, an 83-79 victor over Davidson earlier today.

Lafayette and William and Mary met in tonight's second game for the right to collide in the semifinals with Washington and Lee, which bounced off the ropes for eight points in the last 52 seconds to trip previously unbeaten Columbia 69-65.

Penn State Rallies

Penn State overcame a 33-29 halftime deficit to cool off two-time finalist Richmond in their first round skirmish. Once in front by seven points in the second half as Richmond's shooting cooled off, the Nittany Lions were tied 52-52 when Warren Mitchell laid in a jump shot for Richmond with 5:08 remaining.

Hancock popped in a field goal and made good two foul shots to break the deadlock and bring Penn State into a safe lead. Steve Baidy and Ron Rainey were top scorers for the Nittany Lions with 17 points apiece. Center Curt Adkins paced Richmond with 16.

Washington and Lee's victory over Columbia was the only genuine first round surprise.

Once ahead by 10 points at 53-43 midway the last half, Washington and Lee faltered in the face of Columbia's full court press and the will-o-the-wisp play of the Lions' tremendous little Chet Forte, who scored 27 points. But after the Lions had swept into a 61-61 tie with less than a minute remaining, W&L found its second wind.

Dom Flora stole the ball as Columbia stalled for a last shot and raced downcourt for the basket that broke the deadlock. Seconds later Barry Storick did the same. That made it 65-61 with 37 seconds left and everything afterward was anti-climactic, the Generals opening up a six-point lead on Barclay Smith's two foul shots and holding on to the gun.

Marshall Scores 28

Tall Lee Marshall poked home 28 points on hook and push shots to lead Washington and Lee. Columbia had won six straight games before falling to the Generals, who have won six.

Davidson, winner of only two of 11 games, came from 11 points behind to make a scrap of its game with Penn, principally on the shooting of lean Semi Mintz, who pitched in 32 points. Twice in the closing moments the Wildcats pulled to within four points of the Quakers but eventually succumbed to a freeze instituted by Penn in the last four minutes.

Rosewall Ready To Sign $65,000 Pro Tennis Pact

ADELAIDE, Dec. 27 (AP)—Promotor Jack Kramer will sign Australia's Ken Rosewall to a professional contract tomorrow or Saturday and then will turn his wiles on Lew Hoad in an effort to snare the two biggest names in amateur tennis.

Australians are wagering Hoad will not submit to the professional lure but the bogged Kramer refuses to be convinced.

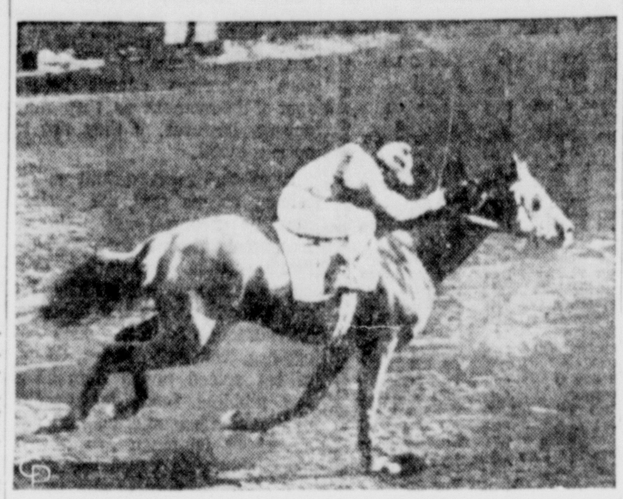

"I would like to get these boys together," the one-time net king from Los Angeles said. "They would be a tremendous drawing card. Hoad hasn't given me much encouragement but I haven't had a real chance to sit down and talk with him."

Kramer is pinning his hopes on the growing disaffection between Hoad, who is a pretty independent individual, and the reigning fathers of Australian tennis.

If Kramer learns this weekend that there is even a faint hope of landing Hoad he may postpone the signing of Rosewall in order to complete a doubleheader deal. If Hoad remains adamant as an amateur, Kramer will grab Rosewall alone.

Rosewall's parents are here to sit on the deal which guarantees the 22 year-old Sydney ace $65,000 a year.

Buff Donelli Is Named Lou Little's Successor

Former Boston U. Mentor Appointed To Columbia Post

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP)—Aldo (Buff) Donelli, head football coach at Boston University since 1947, today was appointed successor to Lou Little at Columbia.

He faces a tough job. Columbia loses seven starters out of its 1956 team which had a record of 3 victories and 6 defeats. The freshman team won only 1 game and lost 4.

Donelli comes to Columbia with a 10-year record of 75 victories, 40 defeats and 6 ties. In Little he succeeds one of the best known and most popular of American college coaches who is retiring after 27 years.

Donelli said he approached the job with considerable apprehension because "Lou filled the football shoes at Columbia so well for so many years."

Serves Minus Contract

Ralph Furey, Columbia director of athletics, said Donelli did not receive a contract but was on an annual appointment basis "as is the case with all our coaches."

"We expect him to make football attractive to the boys at Columbia," said Furey. "He knows and understands the rules and spirit of the Ivy League."

In 1945 and 1946 Donelli was assistant to Little at Columbia, and Little in offering his congratulations said, "I wish for Buff Donelli the same many happy and pleasant coaching years that I have enjoyed at Columbia. He comes to an exacting job but one for which the rewards can be most satisfying."

Although Little has known many bleak years at Columbia along with his successful ones, he has been remarkably free from alumni pressure and criticism. Many experts believe that if he had been given strong material he could have established a brilliant record and his teams, even in defeat, always played interesting football.

Coached At Dusquesne

Donelli was graduated from Duquesne University in 1930 and became freshman coach there the same year.

Pitt Upsets Seton Hall

Western Kentucky Conquers LaSalle

The 5-foot 9 guard wound up with 18 points but set up many other plays to keep the Pittsburgh attack going. Julius Pegues was high man for Pitt with 20 points and Bob Lazor had 18.

Three Seton Hall starters fouled out in the second half. The biggest loss was Dick Gaines, a guard who had just started to hit when he went out with 11 minutes left.

Vince Ryan, a substitute guard, was Seton Hall's leading scorer with 13 points.

In the second afternoon game, Western Kentucky's superior height and the sensational shooting of guard Owen Lawson carried the Hilltoppers to an 89-76 victory tonight over the LaSalle Explorers of Philadelphia.

In early stages of the game, Kentucky's six-foot, eight-inch Ralph Crosthwaite was highly effective under the basket to give his ball club an early edge. Midway in the period Lawson broke loose for what eventually brought him 20 points in the first half. He scored another 13 in the second half.

In the first night game, Stanford's airtight Indians defeated Valparaiso 68-51 in a game that stuck the losers with the lowest point total of the Orange Bowl tournament's two-year history.

Kirk expects to leave the hospital in several days.

The Frostburg quint is idle until January 12.

West Virginia Tech Gets 115 Points In Game

Wallops Gettysburg In Hofstra Tourney

NEW YORK, Dec. 27 (AP) — Undefeated West Virginia Tech notched its 10th victory of the season and gained the semifinals of the Hofstra Invitational Tourney, smothering Gettysburg 115-78.

Ken Hammond, Tech forward, paced the winners with 33 points. He scored 22 from the field with a variety of inside shots.

The sophomore - laden Bullets never got rolling in suffering their sixth loss. They have won two.

West Virginia Tech will meet the winner of the Upsala-Hofstra tilt in the semi-finals. Hofstra is the defending champion.

In afternoon games, undefeated Bucknell and Cortland (NY) State won their opening games as Bucknell routed Wagner 83-65 and Cortland (NY) State drubbed Springfield (Mass) 81-62.

Cortland, paced by Harold Van Earden, shot into a good lead after the eight-minute mark of the first half. Van Earden, high scorer with 22 points, tallied 18 of them in the decisive first half.

Bucknell was pressed during the first 10 minutes, being held to a 16-16 tie. Then the Pennsylvanians opened up a 29-24 margin and increased that with an 11-point surge in the closing minutes of the first half. Marty Tannenbaum topped the victors with 23 points.

Lions Sign Spencer

DETROIT, Dec. 27 (AP) —Oliver Spencer, regular offensive tackle for the Detroit Lions, stopped in the Lions' office today in an attempt to sell General Manager Nick Kerbawy some insurance.

Kerbawy stalled the sales pitch and instead signed Spencer to a 1957 Lions' football contract. He's the first player signed for next season. A former University of Kansas star, Spencer now lives in Detroit.

Bears Favored Over New York

Giants Underdogs By 3-Point Margin

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(INS)—The New York Giants, a three-point underdog in the early betting, began tapering off their hard practice today for Sunday's pro championship football game with the Chicago Bears.

Coach Jim Lee Howell conducted an hour-long blackboard session before sending his Eastern Conference champions out on the frozen gridiron of Yankee Stadium for a light drill.

Paddy Driscoll's western champs also did some class work and ran through a short drill in Chicago. The Bears, who beat the Giants the last time these two teams met for the National Football League crown ten years ago, will hold a short drill tomorrow before leaving for New York at noon on a chartered plane.

The Bears will limber up at Yankee Stadium Saturday and at 2 p.m. (EST) the following day, they will play the payoff game—for winning shares of approximately $3,500—before a sell-out crowd of 67,000 and a nationwide (NBC) television audience.

Bert Bell, NFL commissioner, beat the Bears into New York to "just see the game, which will be, I'm sure, as great or greater than all past championship games."

The Giants sharpened their already stout offense but didn't neglect the Bears' offense either. New York can well remember the last-quarter surge of the Bears that gave the Westerners a 17-17 tie with the Giants Nov. 25.

Tennessee Drills

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27 (AP) — Tennessee drilled one hour with no contact work today in preparation for its New Year's Day football game with Baylor in the Sugar Bowl.

Offensively, the squad concentrated on passing and punting. Johnny Majors, Bobby Gordon and Al Carter led the long punting drill.

Grace Baptist Posts 6th Win In S.S. League

Bethany EUB Tops Presbyterian Five

Grace Baptist stayed right on the heels of the deadlocked leaders, Melvin Methodist and Calvary Methodist (6-1), in the American Division of the Sunday School Basketball League by defeating LaVale Baptist yesterday on the YMCA court by the score of 55-18.

The victory gave the Grace quint a season record of 6-2, a half game off the pace. LaVale has won four and lost three.

Meyers and Brown sparked the winners in scoring with 21 and 16 tallies. Trenton, Hovermill and Davidson accounted for all of LaVale's points.

Bethany E.U.B. posted its fifth win against three defeats by turning back First Presbyterian by the score of 50-37. The setback made the Presbyterians' record 4-3.

Gilpin dumped in 25 points to pace the Bethany attack while Kelley was top scorer for First Presbyterian with 12 markers.

Two games are scheduled for today at the "Y". At 4 p. m., Melvin Methodist plays Trinity Lutheran and at 5 p. m., Living Stone Church of the Brethren will oppose LaVale Methodist. The lineups:

Bob Turley Fooled By Wife's Changeup, Gives Birth To Boy

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP)—Bob Turley, New York Yankee pitcher, was fooled completely today by his wife's changeup.

Mrs. Dolly Turley gave birth to an 8 pound, 6 ounce boy at Women's Hospital.

"It looks like it's going to be Robert Lee Jr., though it's not definite yet," said the 26-year-old fireballer. "We had a girl's name all picked out, but hadn't considered a boy's name. But we're tickled pink to have another boy."

The Turley's, who live in suburban Lutherville, have one other child, Terry Lee, 26 months. Turley formerly was with the Baltimore Orioles.

BOCA RATON, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP) —A field of 33 professional golfers will tee off tomorrow in the first annual Boca Raton Open Tournament.

The 54-hole tournament, which ends Sunday, will include 18 holes daily.

Aussies Take 3-0 Lead, Cop Davis Trophy

Two Singles Tests To Conclude Series

ADELAIDE, Dec. 28 (AP) — (Friday) (AP) — Sammy Giammalva, a bow-legged Texas collegian who is the only star to shine through America's darkest tennis hour, gets his big chance today when he goes against Australia's Ken Rosewall in one of the two final singles matches of the already decided Davis Cup challenge round.

The standout performer in yesterday's decisive doubles match which clinched the big trophy again for the Aussies with a 3-0 lead, the 22-year-old University of Texas junior from Houston was substituted for Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Agree To Shift

"That's great. I can't wait. I feel like a million dollars," Giammalva exclaimed when Bill Talbert, non-playing U.S. captain told him that Australian officials had agreed to the shift. Vic Seixas of Philadelphia plays Lew Hoad in the finals singles.

It's sure that none of the capacity crowd which witnessed yesterday's stirring doubles duel would object to the change in the American lineup. Giammalva gave an overpowering display as partner of Seixas in the doubles although they were beaten by Rosewall and Hoad, the world's finest amateur doubles team, 1-6, 6-1, 7-5, 6-4.

Thanks largely to Giammalva's murderous overhead and forcing service returns, the Yanks swept the first set easily and had single points for 5-3 leads in both the third and fourth before bowing.

Afterwards the husky Texan, who looks more like a football halfback than a tennis star, was lauded for his brilliant play.

Predicts Great Future

"I thought Sam was the best man on the court," said Talbert in predicting the Texas athlete had a great doubles and Davis Cup future.

Harry Hopman, Australian captain, said he was surprised by the Americans' performance and labelled Giammalva's play as the surprise of the day.

Trainer Fined $50

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP)—Trainer H. Jacobson was fined $50 by the Tropical Park stewards for failing to name for scratching Model Jeep from the eighth race today, and for administering medicine to the horse when he was entered to run.

Tropical Riders Injured, Double Payoff Is $1,074

Tommy Root Tossed By Belamer In 3rd Race In Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP) — Two nasty spills, involving Tommy Root and Lionel Lefebvre, both promising apprentices, and the meeting's largest daily double ($1,074.80) furnished considerable excitement for 10,351 fans at Tropical Park today.

Root, figuring in his second mishap this winter, was tossed by the mean-acting Belamer while on the way to the post for the third race. The 18-year-old youngster suffered a possible fracture of the left thigh and was removed to Mercy Hospital. Root had been injured on Dec. 18 when Jodi unseated his leaving the gate, causing Root to be sidelined several days.

Suffers Minor Abrasions

Lefebvre was luckier than Root. He suffered only minor abrasions to his knees when his mount, Is Yours, fell during the running of the fifth race. He was permitted to go home, after cancelling his remaining engagements of the day.

Lefebvre, who is 26, hails from Quebec, Canada, and has ridden 53 winners this year. He is under contract to R. Gottsman. Before coming to Florida, he showed good riding form in Maryland, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts.

Root, who topped the apprentice riders this year in Maryland and New Jersey, is the son of ex-jockey Ralph Root, who taught him all the tricks of the trade. The boy was a sensation at Tropical during the first two weeks, then ran into nothing but hard luck. He has 16 winners here to his credit, 3 less than Robert Ussery, now the pacemaker.

After Belamber was withdrawn from the race, a six furlong test for maiden fillies, the sprint was won by Too Too Easy, $9.40. Will Meet You, with W. M. Cook up, broke down badly in the event.

It was later reported from Mercy Hospital that Root suffered no broken bones, only several torn ligaments in his left thigh.

The fifth, at a mile and a sixteenth, was taken by Setubal, $4.10 favorite, Is Yours was running in fifth place when he ducked sharply and fell with Lefebvre.

Cold Night Pays $83.60

The daily double was formed by Cold Night ($83.60) in the first and Jo Davis (27.70) in the second.

Hunch players, aware of the cold spell here, rejoiced when Cold Night, under Johnny Rotz, won by a length from Next Please, while Lady of Knock, the even money chance, was a faltering third in the field of eleven 3-year-olds that traveled a mile and a sixteenth. The time was 1:47 3/5.

Jo Davis, winner of a purse on Dec. 20, was in the pace all the way under Lois C. Cook and registered easily by three lengths, turning six furlongs in 1:11 3/5. Some Crown and Daisy Cutters, also outsiders in the field of 12 fillies and mares, finished second and third, respectively.

Sold on the winning combination of 9 and 10 were fifty $2 tickets and two $10 ducats.

Rose Park Captures London Steeplechase

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Rose Park won the King George Sixth Steeplechase at suburban Kempton Park today by two lengths. Queen Mother Elizabeth watched her Devon Loch, the favorite, finish second.

Devon Loch was winning the 1956 Grand National steeplechase until he fell in the home stretch.

Rose Park was a 100-6 bet for the three mile chase. Six horses started and four finished. Wise Child was third.

Titans To Quit Missouri Loop

Fromhart Retained As Football Coach

DETROIT, Dec. 27 (AP) — The University of Detroit today reaffirmed its decision to leave the Missouri Valley Athletic Conference next June 30.

Detroit's athletic council also gave football Coach Wally Formhart a vote of confidence and said his contract would be renewed for one more year to September of 1958. Fromhart's team this year had a 2-8 record.

Detroit said last March it would leave the conference, but when the University of Cincinnati recently joined it and Dayton and Marquette indicated they might follow suit, some observers thought Detroit might change its mind.

Colts Sign Simpson

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP) — Jackie Simpson, fourth draft choice of the Baltimore Colts, was signed in Miami today to a contract with the National Football League team, the Colts announced here.

The University of Florida halfback, who played in last night's North-South game, was signed by Colt President Don Kellett.

Simpson, a 5-foot-10, 185-pound athlete, is considered a bright defensive halfback prospect by the Colts.

Lions Sign Spencer

DETROIT, Dec. 27 (AP) —Oliver Spencer, regular offensive tackle for the Detroit Lions, stopped in the Lions' office today in an attempt to sell General Manager Nick Kerbawy some insurance.

Kerbawy stalled the sales pitch and instead signed Spencer to a 1957 Lions' football contract. He's the first player signed for next season. A former University of Kansas star, Spencer now lives in Detroit.

Enter Holiday Meet

CHICAGO, Dec. 27 (AP) — Three Olympic squad members, sprinter Ira Murchison and distance stars Phil Coleman and Ted Wheeler, will compete in the fourth annual Holiday Track Meet which will attract a field of 150 to the University of Chicago fieldhouse Saturday.

Bears Favored Over New York

Giants Underdogs By 3-Point Margin

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(INS)—The New York Giants, a three-point underdog in the early betting, began tapering off their hard practice today for Sunday's pro championship football game with the Chicago Bears.

Coach Jim Lee Howell conducted an hour-long blackboard session before sending his Eastern Conference champions out on the frozen gridiron of Yankee Stadium for a light drill.

Paddy Driscoll's western champs also did some class work and ran through a short drill in Chicago. The Bears, who beat the Giants the last time these two teams met for the National Football League crown ten years ago, will hold a short drill tomorrow before leaving for New York at noon on a chartered plane.

The Bears will limber up at Yankee Stadium Saturday and at 2 p.m. (EST) the following day, they will play the payoff game—for winning shares of approximately $3,500—before a sell-out crowd of 67,000 and a nationwide (NBC) television audience.

Bert Bell, NFL commissioner, beat the Bears into New York to "just see the game, which will be, I'm sure, as great or greater than all past championship games."

The Giants sharpened their already stout offense but didn't neglect the Bears' offense either. New York can well remember the last-quarter surge of the Bears that gave the Westerners a 17-17 tie with the Giants Nov. 25.

Tennessee Drills

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27 (AP) — Tennessee drilled one hour with no contact work today in preparation for its New Year's Day football game with Baylor in the Sugar Bowl.

Offensively, the squad concentrated on passing and punting. Johnny Majors, Bobby Gordon and Al Carter led the long punting drill.

Bethany EUB Tops Presbyterian Five

Grace Baptist stayed right on the heels of the deadlocked leaders, Melvin Methodist and Calvary Methodist (6-1), in the American Division of the Sunday School Basketball League by defeating LaVale Baptist yesterday on the YMCA court by the score of 55-18.

The victory gave the Grace quint a season record of 6-2, a half game off the pace. LaVale has won four and lost three.

Meyers and Brown sparked the winners in scoring with 21 and 16 tallies. Trenton, Hovermill and Davidson accounted for all of LaVale's points.

Bethany E.U.B. posted its fifth win against three defeats by turning back First Presbyterian by the score of 50-37. The setback made the Presbyterians' record 4-3.

Gilpin dumped in 25 points to pace the Bethany attack while Kelley was top scorer for First Presbyterian with 12 markers.

Two games are scheduled for today at the "Y". At 4 p. m., Melvin Methodist plays Trinity Lutheran and at 5 p. m., Living Stone Church of the Brethren will oppose LaVale Methodist. The lineups:

Bob Turley Fooled By Wife's Changeup, Gives Birth To Boy

BALTIMORE, Dec. 27 (AP)—Bob Turley, New York Yankee pitcher, was fooled completely today by his wife's changeup.

Mrs. Dolly Turley gave birth to an 8 pound, 6 ounce boy at Women's Hospital.

"It looks like it's going to be Robert Lee Jr., though it's not definite yet," said the 26-year-old fireballer. "We had a girl's name all picked out, but hadn't considered a boy's name. But we're tickled pink to have another boy."

The Turley's, who live in suburban Lutherville, have one other child, Terry Lee, 26 months. Turley formerly was with the Baltimore Orioles.

33 Pros To Vie At Boca Raton

BOCA RATON, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP) —A field of 33 professional golfers will tee off tomorrow in the first annual Boca Raton Open Tournament.

The 54-hole tournament, which ends Sunday, will include 18 holes daily.

Aussies Take 3-0 Lead, Cop Davis Trophy

Two Singles Tests To Conclude Series

ADELAIDE, Dec. 28 (AP) — (Friday) (AP) — Sammy Giammalva, a bow-legged Texas collegian who is the only star to shine through America's darkest tennis hour, gets his big chance today when he goes against Australia's Ken Rosewall in one of the two final singles matches of the already decided Davis Cup challenge round.

The standout performer in yesterday's decisive doubles match which clinched the big trophy again for the Aussies with a 3-0 lead, the 22-year-old University of Texas junior from Houston was substituted for Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Agree To Shift

"That's great. I can't wait. I feel like a million dollars," Giammalva exclaimed when Bill Talbert, non-playing U.S. captain told him that Australian officials had agreed to the shift. Vic Seixas of Philadelphia plays Lew Hoad in the finals singles.

It's sure that none of the capacity crowd which witnessed yesterday's stirring doubles duel would object to the change in the American lineup. Giammalva gave an overpowering display as partner of Seixas in the doubles although they were beaten by Rosewall and Hoad, the world's finest amateur doubles team, 1-6, 6-1, 7-5, 6-4.

Thanks largely to Giammalva's murderous overhead and forcing service returns, the Yanks swept th first set easily and had single points for 5-3 leads in both the third and fourth before bowing.

Afterwards the husky Texan, who looks more like a football halfback than a tennis star, was lauded for his brilliant play.

Predicts Great Future

"I thought Sam was the best man on the court," said Talbert in predicting the Texas athlete had a great doubles and Davis Cup future.

Harry Hopman, Australian captain, said he was surprised by the Americans' performance and labelled Giammalva's play as the surprise of the day.

Trainer Fined $50

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP)—Trainer H. Jacobson was fined $50 by the Tropical Park stewards for failing to name for scratching Model Jeep from the eighth race today, and for administering medicine to the horse when he was entered to run.

Tropical Riders Injured, Double Payoff Is $1,074

Tommy Root Tossed By Belamer In 3rd Race In Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27 (AP) — Two nasty spills, involving Tommy Root and Lionel Lefebvre, both promising apprentices, and the meeting's largest daily double ($1,074.80) furnished considerable excitement for 10,351 fans at Tropical Park today.

Root, figuring in his second mishap this winter, was tossed by the mean-acting Belamer while on the way to the post for the third race. The 18-year-old youngster suffered a possible fracture of the left thigh and was removed to Mercy Hospital. Root had been injured on Dec. 18 when Jodi unseated his leaving the gate, causing Root to be sidelined several days.

Suffers Minor Abrasions

Lefebvre was luckier than Root. He suffered only minor abrasions to his knees when his mount, Is Yours, fell during the running of the fifth race. He was permitted to go home, after cancelling his remaining engagements of the day.

Lefebvre, who is 26, hails from Quebec, Canada, and has ridden 53 winners this year. He is under contract to R. Gottsman. Before coming to Florida, he showed good riding form in Maryland, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts.

Root, who topped the apprentice riders this year in Maryland and New Jersey, is the son of ex-jockey Ralph Root, who taught him all the tricks of the trade. The boy was a sensation at Tropical during the first two weeks, then ran into nothing but hard luck. He has 16 winners here to his credit, 3 less than Robert Ussery, now the pacemaker.

After Belamber was withdrawn from the race, a six furlong test for maiden fillies, the sprint was won by Too Too Easy, $9.40. Will Meet You, with W. M. Cook up, broke down badly in the event.

It was later reported from Mercy Hospital that Root suffered no broken bones, only several torn ligaments in his left thigh.

The fifth, at a mile and a sixteenth, was taken by Setubal, $4.10 favorite, Is Yours was running in fifth place when he ducked sharply and fell with Lefebvre.

Cold Night Pays $83.60

The daily double was formed by Cold Night ($83.60) in the first and Jo Davis (27.70) in the second.

Hunch players, aware of the cold spell here, rejoiced when Cold Night, under Johnny Rotz, won by a length from Next Please, while Lady of Knock, the even money chance, was a faltering third in the field of eleven 3-year-olds that traveled a mile and a sixteenth. The time was 1:47 3/5.

Jo Davis, winner of a purse on Dec. 20, was in the pace all the way under Lois C. Cook and registered easily by three lengths, turning six furlongs in 1:11 3/5. Some Crown and Daisy Cutters, also outsiders in the field of 12 fillies and mares, finished second and third, respectively.

Sold on the winning combination of 9 and 10 were fifty $2 tickets and two $10 ducats.

Titans To Quit Missouri Loop

Fromhart Retained As Football Coach

DETROIT, Dec. 27 (AP) — The University of Detroit today reaffirmed its decision to leave the Missouri Valley Athletic Conference next June 30.

Detroit's athletic council also gave football Coach Wally Fromhart a vote of confidence and said his contract would be renewed for one more year to September of 1958. Fromhart's team this year had a 2-8 record.

Detroit said last March it would leave the conference, but when the University of Cincinnati recently joined it and Dayton and Marquette indicated they might follow suit, some observers thought Detroit might change its mind.

Colts Sign Simpson

The University of Florida halfback, who played in last night's North-South game, was signed by Colt President Don Kellett.

Simpson, a 5-foot-10, 185-pound athlete, is considered a bright defensive halfback prospect by the Colts.

Rose Park Captures London Steeplechase

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP) — Rose Park won the King George Sixth Steeplechase at suburban Kempton Park today by two lengths. Queen Mother Elizabeth watched her Devon Loch, the favorite, finish second.

Devon Loch was winning the 1956 Grand National steeplechase until he fell in the home stretch.

Rose Park was a 100-6 bet for the three mile chase. Six horses started and four finished. Wise Child was third.

Scrooge Set To Music

"The Stingiest Man In Town" is a musical about a penny-pincher who thinks Christmas is humbug, whose avarice wrecks his only romance and who is finally led to see the ruinous course of his life by a trio of spirits on Christmas Eve. Whereupon he undergoes a monstrous transformation of personality and character rivalling that of St. Paul.

If all this reminds you of a story by Charles Dickens named "A Christmas Carol," it's because the musical was based on just that story and brought to NBC television last Sunday night. I suppose it was inevitable. Since Shakespeare and Shaw and Voltaire have suddenly been discovered to be essentially librettists, somebody was bound sooner or later to cast Dickens in that role, too. I only wish they'd picked a gayer story like—well—"Oliver Twist." ("I Bludgeoned Nancy Sykes To Death" would make a nice catchy song, I think.)

Actually, "The Stingiest Man, etc." was not a bad show but it was by no means an inspired one. Throughout its hour and a half length, you got the feeling that composer Fred Spielman and lyricist Janice Torre had been summoned in and ordered to convert "A Christmas Carol" into a musical, that they labored earnestly in this cause but their hearts weren't really in it. "An Old Fashioned Christmas," "Listen To The Song Of The Christmas Spirit" and "It Might Have Been" are not bad songs but, both in melody and lyric, they are awfully obvious; they don't, in short, contain those little surprises that a good tune and lyric have to have to sweep you with them.

Some of the other songs—"Repent In Time," "One Little Boy," "Mankind Should Be My Business"—are the sort of songs that seem to be always on the verge of bursting into melody but never quite do. Basil Rathbone as Scrooge gave a performance that was pure grease paint; the quivering lips and palsied limbs and hunched shoulders would have gone down splendidly if this were a ballet but they were a bit too much for a dramatic role, particularly one that close to the cameras.

Patrice Munsel, as a girl who loses out to avarice, and Robert Weede, as the defunct Marley, both have voices of some renown but neither was given much opportunity to use them. Actually, Vic Damone, as the young Scrooge, and Johnny Desmond, as Scrooge's nephew, possess singing styles considerably more appropriate to the kind of music in "Stingiest Man."

I am a man of almost unbounded admiration for Dickens except around Christmas time when my admiration gets a little bounded by "A Christmas Carol" which has been done once or twice too often. Heaven only knows where this passion for turning everything into musicals is going to land us. Now that Dickens has fallen to the lyricists, there isn't much left. Any day I expect "War And Peace" to become a musical extravaganza with the battle of Borodino reduced to a ballet by Agnes de Mille. ("Every Man Has His Waterloo And Moscow Was Mine" would be a nice song for Napoleon.)

More and more music is making itself felt on television but the book show—the show with plot as well as songs—still seems to elude the boys. I've had a good deal more fun watching the informal shows starring Dinah Shore. Miss Shore is an entertainer of warm personality and great experience and by wise selection of songs and, above all, guests, she is presenting shows that seem perfectly tailored for the medium.

Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say perfectly tailored for this particular phase of the medium—since television crazes come and go awfully fast. Originally there was Milton Berle, a comic, interjecting himself into the dog acts, the monologues and the tumbling acts of a sort of evergreen vaudeville show. Now Perry Como and Miss Shore, both singers, are doing pretty much the same thing, though not, of course, so aggressively.

Ray Bolger, whose show "Washington Square" was pretty labored at first, is getting closer and closer to the right formula, too, a mixture of personality and talent on devil take the plot line. "Washington Square" now has moments of great brightness and charm, though once in awhile suffering from overdose of cuteness.

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27 (INS)—Mickey, the Rooney, whose 1956 luck blew hot and cold, leaps way out in front in the beginning of 1957 with the biggest TV casting of the season, so far—"The George M. Cohan Story." Mickey plays the immortal song and dance man, the same role that won James Cagney an Oscar when he did it on the screen.

Writers Sam and Bella Spewack are writing the telescript for the NBC color-spectacular for "live" beaming out of New York on May 11 and for which sponsors Swift and Company are spending a fortune.

Just to give you an idea of the care that will be taken, Mickey has been asked to rehearse in New York six weeks before the telecast.

I told you a few weeks ago, I said that Bob Hope was hoping to get Fernandel and Cantinflas for "Trouble In Paris" which he'll make in Europe. Well, he has Fernandel all signed, sealed and about to be delivered.

Cantinflas is under contract for his American pictures to Mike Todd and the deal to borrow the Mexican idol has not yet been consummated. You have to say for Robin, he is nothing if not ambitious. He has been talking to Rita Hayworth about playing the femme lead with these three comics.

A typical American story with a strong Horatio Alger flavor is that of Randy Wood, owner of Dot records. Randy comes from a little town of 6,000 people called Gallatin, Tennessee. He owned a small radio store there and five years ago formed the Dot Record Company. He is now talking with Barney Balaban, head of Paramount, about selling his company for close to $4,000,000. If he sells he becomes vice-president of Paramount.

Randy has under contract Helen Traubel whom he recently signed, Charlton Heston and Tab Hunter. He is negotiating with Marlene Dietrich to make records. Who says America isn't the land of opportunity?

The character Rock Hudson plays in "Pylon" is that of the author, William Faulkner. It is not generally known that Faulkner was a barnstormer during the early days of aviation in 1932 and that he was also a star reporter on the New Orleans Picayune.

This is exactly what Rock will be seen doing in this semi-Faulkner biographical story, even to the mention of the real name of the New Orleans paper, which my friend, George Healy, edits. He is also editor of The States, in which my column appears.

Academy Award winner A. B. Guthrie sold the rights to his novel, "Those Thousand Green Hills," to 20th Century Fox. I hear that he was paid $100,000 for a book that is soon expected to be high on the best seller list.

David Weisbart, who directed "Love Me Tender," has been commissioned to do the directing and the stars wanted for the top roles are Don Murray and Eva Marie Saint.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

There were four generations at Debbie Reynolds' sister's family dinner for Christmas. Her grandmother, Mrs. Harmon, of El Paso, came to view her great grandchild. They paid me a visit with Debbie wheeling the baby.

The Bob Stacks were at Larue for dinner, and Bob is worried about going on location with "Pylon" because that's the very date his bride expects her baby.

When Jayne Mansfield guests with Jack Benny on his January 10 "Shower Of Stars" show, Jayne, who plays the violin, will compete with Jack for honors.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

A Bedford, Pa., motorist has been released under $601.45 bond after cutting off a utility pole with his automobile in the 1700 block of Frederick Street.

Police said Edward Cessna crashed into the pole early Christmas morning. Authorities said it marked the second time within a month the same pole has been struck.

Cessna posted $101.45 on a reckless driving charge and a $500 property damage bond.

Television service in the area was knocked out during the day.

Scrooge Set To Music

"The Stingiest Man In Town" is a musical about a penny-pincher who thinks Christmas is humbug, whose avarice wrecks his only romance and who is finally led to see the ruinous course of his life by a trio of spirits on Christmas Eve. Whereupon he undergoes a monstrous transformation of personality and character rivalling that of St. Paul.

If all this reminds you of a story by Charles Dickens named "A Christmas Carol," it's because the musical was based on just that story and brought to NBC television last Sunday night. I suppose it was inevitable. Since Shakespeare and Shaw and Voltaire have suddenly been discovered to be essentially librettists, somebody was bound sooner or later to cast Dickens in that role, too. I only wish they'd picked a gayer story like—well—"Oliver Twist." ("I Bludgeoned Nancy Sykes To Death" would make a nice catchy song, I think.)

Actually, "The Stingiest Man, etc." was not a bad show but it was by no means an inspired one. Throughout its hour and a half length, you got the feeling that composer Fred Spielman and lyricist Janice Torre had been summoned in and ordered to convert "A Christmas Carol" into a musical, that they labored earnestly in this cause but their hearts weren't really in it. "An Old Fashioned Christmas," "Listen To The Song Of The Christmas Spirit" and "It Might Have Been" are not bad songs but, both in melody and lyric, they are awfully obvious; they don't, in short, contain those little surprises that a good tune and lyric have to have to sweep you with them.

Some of the other songs—"Repent In Time," "One Little Boy," "Mankind Should Be My Business"—are the sort of songs that seem to be always on the verge of bursting into melody but never quite do. Basil Rathbone as Scrooge gave a performance that was pure grease paint; the quivering lips and palsied limbs and hunched shoulders would have gone down splendidly if this were a ballet but they were a bit too much for a dramatic role, particularly one that close to the cameras.

Patrice Munsel, as a girl who loses out to avarice, and Robert Weede, as the defunct Marley, both have voices of some renown but neither was given much opportunity to use them. Actually, Vic Damone, as the young Scrooge, and Johnny Desmond, as Scrooge's nephew, possess singing styles considerably more appropriate to the kind of music in "Stingiest Man."

I am a man of almost unbounded admiration for Dickens except around Christmas time when my admiration gets a little bounded by "A Christmas Carol" which has been done once or twice too often. Heaven only knows where this passion for turning everything into musicals is going to land us. Now that Dickens has fallen to the lyricists, there isn't much left. Any day I expect "War And Peace" to become a musical extravaganza with the battle of Borodino reduced to a ballet by Agnes de Mille. ("Every Man Has His Waterloo And Moscow Was Mine" would be a nice song for Napoleon.)

More and more music is making itself felt on television but the book show—the show with plot as well as songs—still seems to elude the boys. I've had a good deal more fun watching the informal shows starring Dinah Shore. Miss Shore is an entertainer of warm personality and great experience and by wise selection of songs and, above all, guests, she is presenting shows that seem perfectly tailored for the medium.

Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say perfectly tailored for this particular phase of the medium—since television crazes come and go awfully fast. Originally there was Milton Berle, a comic, interjecting himself into the dog acts, the monologues and the tumbling acts of a sort of evergreen vaudeville show. Now Perry Como and Miss Shore, both singers, are doing pretty much the same thing, though not, of course, so aggressively.

Ray Bolger, whose show "Washington Square" was pretty labored at first, is getting closer and closer to the right formula, too, a mixture of personality and talent on devil take the plot line. "Washington Square" now has moments of great brightness and charm, though once in awhile suffering from overdose of cuteness.

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27 (INS)—Mickey, the Rooney, whose 1956 luck blew hot and cold, leaps way out in front in the beginning of 1957 with the biggest TV casting of the season, so far—"The George M. Cohan Story." Mickey plays the immortal song and dance man, the same role that won James Cagney an Oscar when he did it on the screen.

Writers Sam and Bella Spewack are writing the telescript for the NBC color-spectacular for "live" beaming out of New York on May 11 and for which sponsors Swift and Company are spending a fortune.

Just to give you an idea of the care that will be taken, Mickey has been asked to rehearse in New York six weeks before the telecast.

I told you a few weeks ago, I said that Bob Hope was hoping to get Fernandel and Cantinflas for "Trouble In Paris" which he'll make in Europe. Well, he has Fernandel all signed, sealed and about to be delivered.

Cantinflas is under contract for his American pictures to Mike Todd and the deal to borrow the Mexican idol has not yet been consummated. You have to say for Robin, he is nothing if not ambitious. He has been talking to Rita Hayworth about playing the femme lead with these three comics.

A typical American story with a strong Horatio Alger flavor is that of Randy Wood, owner of Dot records. Randy comes from a little town of 6,000 people called Gallatin, Tennessee. He owned a small radio store there and five years ago formed the Dot Record Company. He is now talking with Barney Balaban, head of Paramount, about selling his company for close to $4,000,000. If he sells he becomes vice-president of Paramount.

Randy has under contract Helen Traubel whom he recently signed, Charlton Heston and Tab Hunter. He is negotiating with Marlene Dietrich to make records. Who says America isn't the land of opportunity?

The character Rock Hudson plays in "Pylon" is that of the author, William Faulkner. It is not generally known that Faulkner was a barnstormer during the early days of aviation in 1932 and that he was also a star reporter on the New Orleans Picayune.

This is exactly what Rock will be seen doing in this semi-Faulkner biographical story, even to the mention of the real name of the New Orleans paper, which my friend, George Healy, edits. He is also editor of The States, in which my column appears.

Academy Award winner A. B. Guthrie sold the rights to his novel, "Those Thousand Green Hills," to 20th Century Fox. I hear that he was paid $100,000 for a book that is soon expected to be high on the best seller list.

David Weisbart, who directed "Love Me Tender," has been commissioned to do the directing and the stars wanted for the top roles are Don Murray and Eva Marie Saint.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

There were four generations at Debbie Reynolds' sister's family dinner for Christmas. Her grandmother, Mrs. Harmon, of El Paso, came to view her great grandchild. They paid me a visit with Debbie wheeling the baby.

The Bob Stacks were at Larue for dinner, and Bob is worried about going on location with "Pylon" because that's the very date his bride expects her baby.

When Jayne Mansfield guests with Jack Benny on his January 10 "Shower Of Stars" show, Jayne, who plays the violin, will compete with Jack for honors.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Killer whales, among the fiercest of all sea creatures, actually are dolphins. They hunt in packs, swallowing small seals and porpoises whole. Although these bloodthirsty marauders grow to only 30 feet, they will attack and kill large whales.

Michigan led in the production of copper from 1847 to 1887.

Killer whales, among the fiercest of all sea creatures, actually are dolphins. They hunt in packs, swallowing small seals and porpoises whole. Although these bloodthirsty marauders grow to only 30 feet, they will attack and kill large whales.

Michigan led in the production of copper from 1847 to 1887.

Cards of Thanks

To our priests, relatives and friends, our sincere thanks for the help and encouragement given to us during the illness and death of our precious mother, Agnes V. Matt. For the mass offerings, prayers and flowers we are truly grateful. Thank you and God bless you.

Sons and Daughters: Peter, Lawrence and Oscar Matt, Mrs. Helen Davis, Mrs. Loretta Beckman, Mrs. Bernadette Mayo, Mrs. Jane Leasure.

I wish to take this means of thanking our many friends and neighbors who were so kind to me at the time of the sudden death of my husband, John R. Naughton. I especially wish to thank Rev. Regis F. Larkin for his words of comfort and who also conducted the funeral service. Also the American Legion Farrady Post 24 and the friends who donated the use of their cars. I am very grateful for all floral tributes and the many acts of kindness shown me.

Mrs. John R. Naughton

My sincere thanks to all my friends, relatives and neighbors for their help and kindness during my recent bereavement, the death of my husband, Carl (Mac) McDonald. The use of cars, floral tributes and expressions of sympathy are all truly appreciated.

Mrs. Carl McDonald

We wish to thank everyone whose sympathy and kindness helped to lighten our sorrow at the time of the death of our dear brother and uncle, John R. Harris. We also wish to thank Rev. Grove, the pallbearers, those who sent flowers and cards and donated cars.

His sisters, nephews and nieces.

ESB To Tour Prospective Office Sites

Five Proposals Being Considered

A number of prospective sites for use as a local branch office for the Maryland Department of Employment Security will be inspected today by members of the Employment Security Board.

Robert B. Kimble, chairman of the board, will be accompanied on the tour of the locations by the two other board members, Joseph P. Healy and Charles H. Borcherding Sr.

Mr. Kimble said the tour is expected to get under way about 9 o'clock this morning.

Five Bids Received

Five proposals have been received and turned over to the department's fiscal management department for tabulation and report.

The decision on a site for the office is expected to be reached soon, according to Mr. Kimble, who said the state agency is looking for a location with approximately 5,500 to 6,000 square feet of first-floor space, located in the vicinity of the business center of town and near public transportation.

Parking space is also desired by the department. The department is asking certain services, including heat, light and water and janitor service, beginning on June 30, 1957.

Services Integrated

Bidders were asked to provide a sketch of their proposed building, its location and terms for five and ten-year leases.

Mr. Kimble pointed out yesterday the department is streamlining its facilities by integrating the employment service and unemployment insurance service.

Should a work load become heavy for some employes, others can give assistance. Such a situation could arise if a plant suddenly laid off a number of employes and department personnel would be faced with a work load over and above the daily work.

First Hearing On Road Job Is Conducted

Only five private citizens attended a public hearing yesterday afternoon at the Corriganville Fire Hall concerning the new Mt. Savage Road between the Narrows and Barrelville.

Paul A. Kempter, construction engineer for the State Roads Commission in this area, conducted the hearing, the first of its kind in Allegany County under a new federal act which requires them on all federal aid highway projects.

The only objector at the hearing was R. L. Shaffer, who operates an auto repair shop in Corriganville. He complained about the adverse effect upon his business.

Mr. Kempter explained that the purpose of these hearings is to discuss the economic effect which the proposed road improvement will have upon the community. Consequently, Mr. Shaffer's remarks were considered outside the scope of the hearing.

The Cumberland Contracting Company already has been awarded the contract for the job which will extend for more than three miles. The actual construction is not supposed to get under way until next spring, although some clearing of the right-of-way is expected this winter.

Most of the people at the hearing were pleased with the plan to carry Route 36 south of the community of Corriganville. They believe the bypass of their community will make it safer for their children.

From now on, a hearing will be required for each highway job using federal aid funds.

Jaycees Seek Top Young Man

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce has formulated plans to present an award to the outstanding young man of Cumberland for 1956, according to Bernard Warren, committee chairman.

Candidates, who must be 35 years of age or under, will be selected on the basis of their community contributions, their leadership and business abilities, as well as their personal character.

Blanks have been mailed to the service clubs and fraternal organizations of the city for their nominees. These nomination blanks are to be returned to the Jaycee office, 514 Liberty Trust Building, by January 5.

A judging committee, to be announced later, will select the outstanding young man from the candidates nominated.

1957 Red Cross Drive Leaders Are Announced

A. J. Klauenberg, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has been named chairman of the American Red Cross drive in Allegany County.

Vice-chairman for the campaign which will be held during March is Robert Garner, commercial manager of the Cumberland office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Chauncey M. Sanner, chairman of the Allegany County Board of the Red Cross, announces that an organizational meeting will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in the local Red Cross office.

The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint campaign leaders with the organization and setup of the drive held early this year. The goal of the 1957 campaign is $35,000 which is the same figure as this year.

A percentage of the funds remains in the county and the balance is forwarded to the national headquarters. About $16,478 or 47.12 per cent will remain in the county while $18,489 or 52.88 per cent goes to national headquarters.

As in the past the drive will be sub-divided into various sections including Advanced Gifts, Classified, Clubs and Organizations, Residential and County Branches with drives in Frostburg, Lonaconing, Barton, Midland, Mt. Savage, Eckhart, Westernport-Luke and Ridgeley.

Since its beginning in 1881, the goal of the Red Cross has been to serve the American people by softening the effects of disaster, suffering and war.

Its primary responsibilities — services to the armed forces and disaster services—have been assigned to the Red Cross by the government of the United States, to be carried out for and in the name of the American people.

They are supported exclusively by voluntary contributions. To these duties, the Red Cross has added a broad range of services responding to community needs.

Rec Plan May Come Before City Wednesday

Mayor Objects To Graciano Contract

Mayor Roy W. Eves predicted yesterday the proposed charter amendment resolution which would allow consolidation of parks and recreation into a single department may come before the council at next Wednesday's session.

The mayor, who strongly favors the consolidation idea, said he understood there were several minor matters to be ironed out in the ordinance before it reaches the Mayor and City Council meeting.

"At present, the park board which is composed of myself, the street commissioner and a city employe, is without basis since it is entirely controlled by the city," Mayor Eves said.

The new amendment would provide for a nine-member park board to handle the management and budget of the city's parks. The board would include the mayor and street commissioner as ex-officio members.

'No Politics"

"The new plan takes the politics out of the management of the parks and the recreation department," the mayor stated.

Mayor Eves, who was unable to attend last Wednesday's council meeting, also went on record as opposing the acceptance of the $4,900 bid of the A. J. Graciano Company of Pittsburgh for cleaning and sandblasting the exterior of City Hall.

The bid by the Pennsylvania firm was accepted and the contract was awarded Wednesday by the council in a 3-1 vote with Mayor Eves absent.

Payment will be made under contract next August and will be appropriated from the next fiscal year's budget.

"This is unsound both politically and financially," said Mayor Eves, "and I agree with (Finace) Commissioner (John J.) Long in his opposition to the contract at this time."

Budget To Be "Tight"

The mayor pointed out that all the commissioners are expected to work on a "tight" budget for the next fiscal year and said this contract was an additional amount which must be placed in the street department's expenses.

He said that when the question of pay raises for city employes was brought up recently, each of the commissioners said budgets could not be increased to meet the demand.

Now, the mayor said, one department adds nearly $5,000 to its budget and another "already has voted pay raises for two of its departmental heads." Mayor Eves here referred to the $50 pe month pay increase granted Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn and Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

No Serious Yule Fires Reported

Cumberland has been fortunate this Christmas holiday season, according to Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, who pointed out yesterday that no serious fires have been caused by decorated trees igniting in local homes.

In recalling the tragic fires of past Christmases, Chief Parker said a tree can go up in flames in a matter of seconds, and he is urging residents to use extra care and caution to avert such tragedies.

With each additional day of the holiday season, trees are becoming more dry and the fire potential becomes more dangerous by the hour.

Chief Parker said that should a fire occur at your house, the first thing to do is get the family outdoors to safety and notify the fire department.

He also said that it is a good idea to take down the Christmas tree and dispose of it as soon after New Year's as possible.

GI Enrollments Exceeding Ten Million Mark

Enrollments of veterans under four federal training programs have passed the 10 million mark, it was disclosed yesterday at the local contact office of the Veterans Administration.

According to W. L. Limburg, regional manager, Baltimore, of which region the local office is a part, the 10 millionth person to start training probably was a Korean veteran, since World War II training programs virtually have passed out of existence.

Of the national 10,000,000 total, Mr. Limburg reports that 124,000 veterans were trained in the Maryland area.

The first program, Public Law 16, vocational rehabilitation for disabled World War II veterans, came into existence in March 1943, during the height of the war. A national total of 612,000 disabled veterans received training under Public Law 15, during the past 13 years. Of this national total, 6,100 received training in the Maryland area.

The largest program of all, World War II GI Bill, was also enacted during wartime (June 1944) and came to an end, with the exception of certain special cases, on July 25, 1956. More than half of all World War II veterans, or 7,815,000, have availed themselves of its education and training benefits. Here in Maryland, Mr. Limburg outlined, 102,500 used the benefit program for education and training.

The third program, Public Law 894, provides vocational training to disabled Korean veterans. Since its enactment, Mr. Limburg said, 44,000 disabled veterans have received training throughout the nation. Of this number 400 represented the Maryland area.

The fourth program, the Korean GI Bill, became law in the summer of 1952. During the past four years, Mr. Limburg explained, a total of 1,645,000 Korea veterans have received GI training. Of this number, 15,000 were in the Maryland area.

Under present law, veterans' training will be part of the American scene until 1968, at which time the program for disabled veterans will end.

Equity Suit Filed

Joseph Wallace LaRue yesterday filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Pauline Virginia LaRue.

Flood Levee On West Side Is Completed

Work Is Accepted By Engineer Corps

The U.S. Corps of Engineers has accepted the completed work on the West Side portion of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control Project, the district engineer notified the Mayor and City Council.

A letter from Lt. Col. John C. Chapman of the engineering corps to the E. J. Albrecht Company, accepting the completed work of the contractor on behalf of the United States, was forwarded to C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, by Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for this district.

The contract included the relocation of the Kelly Boulevard, extension of the West Cumberland levee from the existing concrete flood wall upstream along the Potomac River to the B&O Railroad tracks, and the completion of the earthen levee and concrete flood wall, the Western Maryland Railway track sheet piling cutoff and appurtenant drainage features in West Ridgeley.

Mr. Dexter said the completion of this contract ends flood control work on the west end of the river. Work is now under way at the downstream end of the concrete wall behind the Loyal Order of Moose home on Beall Street and the new Blue Bridge.

The Kelly Boulevard was raised approximately eight feet to tie in with the earth levee and the B&O tracks beginning at the intersection of the boulevard and Avirett Avenue.

The boulevard was moved nearer the tracks, repaved with concrete, had curbing placed on both sides and a guard fence erected downstream at the levee.

The earth levee in West Cumberland was built from the concrete wall which was erected by the Wright Contracting Company previously. The levee is approximately 15 feet high and braced with stone rip rap on the river side. Grass has been sown on the city side of the structure.

A sluice gate conduit at Lehigh Street was completed and a control manhole and gate was erected.

On the Ridgeley side of the river the earthen levee was extended to the Western Maryland yards, the last 600 feet of the structure being a concrete wall.

This wall has been placed between the river and the railroad tracks which are located too near the river bed to allow an earth levee to be built.

The final portion of the flood wall is composed of interlocking sheet piling which has been driven into the ground at the upstream end of the wall. This piling is approximately five feet lower than the top of the flood wall but is capped by a bituminous base upon which sandbags can be placed to protect the railway tracks in that area.

Mr. Dexter explained that the Cumberland levee is constructed of rip rap on the river side as this type of structure takes less land space at the base. The Ridgeley levee is much wider at the base and is covered with grass on both sides of the levee.

The Ridgeley levee also has been built back several yards from the river bank to get the necessary cross sectional area to handle the expected load of high water should the river reach flood stage.

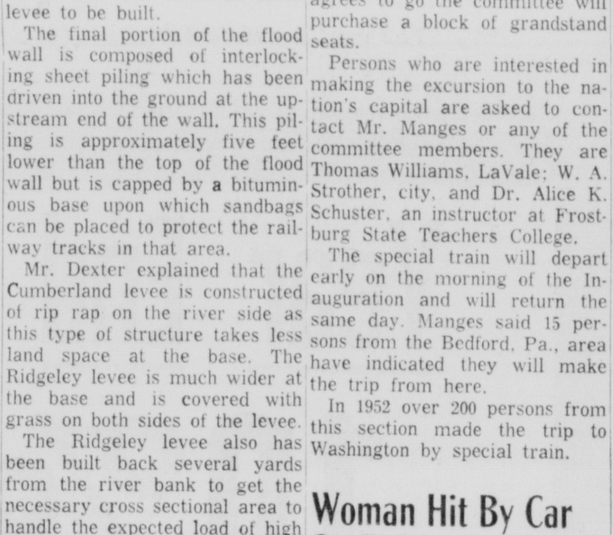

A sluice gate also was erected in the Ridgeley wall opposite the gate at the end of Cumberland's Lehigh Street. Sewer lines in Ridgeley at that point were somewhat revised as a portion of the contract work and traps were placed in the lines.

Police Continue Probe Of Attempted Robbery

City Police Detectives are continuing an investigation into a robbery attempt on Wednesday in which a woman grocery store clerk was beaten on the head with a soft drink bottle.

Mrs. Myrtle Smith, 59, of 32 Pennsylvania Avenue, received treatment at Memorial Hospital for lacerations of the head suffered in the incident, which occurred at Baldwin's Grocery, 200 Pennsylvania Avenue.

She told police her assailant attempted to open the cash register but was frightened away by her screams.

COMPLETE RECRUIT TRAINING — Dale Darrow (left) son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Darrow, 302 Waverly Terrace, and William L. Kerns, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Kerns, 106 Massachusetts Avenue, completed recruit training recently at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C. The 12-week training schedule included drill, bayonet training, physical conditioning, parades and ceremonies and other military subjects.

Sunshine Campers Entertained

Approximately 40 Sunshine Camp girls and boys were entertained yesterday at a Christmas dinner by the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA. Each youngster received a box of Christmas candy in addition to the turkey dinner with all the trimmings. Next Kiwanis project for the Sunshine Camp boys and girls is a skating party at the armory Saturday, January 5.

GOP Planning Special Train To Inaugural

Deadline For Tickets Set For January 5

The Republican Inaugural Committee of Allegany County is making final plans for the trip by special train to Washington, D. C. for the second term inauguration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower on Monday, January 21, according to Earl E. Manges, local attorney who is chairman.

Mr. Manges said the committee has set January 5 as the deadline for those desiring to sign up for the train that will be chartered.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has agreed to run the train provided at least 200 persons from this area plan to attend the event.

The slightly higher round-trip fare will include a grandstand seat. Manges said as soon as the necessary number definitely agrees to go the committee will purchase a block of grandstand seats.

Persons who are interested in making the excursion to the nation's capital are asked to contact Mr. Manges or any of the committee members. They are Thomas Williams, LaVale; W. A. Strother, city, and Dr. Alice K. Schuster, an instructor at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The special train will depart early on the morning of the Inauguration and will return the same day. Manges said 15 persons from the Bedford, Pa., area have indicated they will make the trip from here.

In 1952 over 200 persons from this section made the trip to Washington by special train.

Woman Hit By Car On Baltimore Street

Mrs. Ann Reynolds Rakow, of Silver Spring, was treated at Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon for injuries sustained when she was struck by an auto on Baltimore Street.

City Police said the victim was crossing between intersections when she was hit by a car operated by James Isaac McNeill Jr., of RD 1, Ridgeley.

She is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Evelyn B. Reynolds, 824 Buckingham Road. No charges were placed against the driver.

Mrs. Rakow was reported to have sustained lacerations and bruises as well as brush burns in the accident which occurred about 2:40 p. m.

Brush Fire Checked

East Side firemen extinguished a brush fire yesterday afternoon at the Willowbrook Road and Central Avenue intersection. They received a call at 3:14 p. m.

More Snow Expected Today

More light snow is forecast during the early morning hours today in the northern and western portions of Maryland although the Weather Bureau indicated it probably would be no heavier than snow that swept through the same general area early yesterday.

Early risers yesterday morning were surprised to see about two inches of snow lying on the ground in Cumberland and general area. However those who slept in did not get to see the winter effect, as the snow quickly melted.

Ralph E. Weber, official weather observer at Oakland, said last night that a warm breeze from the southwest "blew the winter away," although patches of snow were still on the ground in that vicinity.

Some sleet fell in that portion of the state yesterday morning but had melted during the afternoon. About four inches of snow fell in Garrett County sectors during the past several days, although it was shortlived with the rise in temperatures.

He said the temperature reading there about 9 p.m. yesterday was 35 degrees and the wind was beginning to become stronger, indicating it might "blow up something" overnight.

Maryland State Police at LaVale said U.S. Route 40 west toward Grantsville was wet in spots but passable. East of Cumberland toward Hancock the highway was fairly dry.

Unofficial temperature in downtown Cumberland last night about 9 o'clock was 8 degrees and the highest reached during the afternoon was 51 degrees, about 2 o'clock.

Estimated Tax Payment Is Due On January 15

The final installment on estimated income tax due the State of Maryland for the year 1956 is due by January 15, 1957, J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller, reminded yesterday.

Stating that notices have been sent to all who filed declarations for 1956 showing the condition of their accounts, Mr. Tawes said that in many instances the notices will show that the estimated tax has been fully paid but the statements have been sent to all, as information may be beneficial in the preparation of individual tax returns.

The comptroller also said that last year many taxpayers apparently were under the impression that the filing of a declaration of estimated tax and the making of payments was all that was necessary.

Consequently hundreds of taxpayers failed to file individual returns for the year, which necessitated writing to them to obtain these returns, he said. He also made it clear that the individual income tax return must be filed showing the taxpayer's actual tax liability. On the returns credit is entered for declaration payments as well as for any tax that may have been withheld.

Mr. Tawes said that under the law if the completed individual return is filed by January 31, 1957, and the balance of tax paid at that time, the final declaration payment need not be made.

"Actually," he pointed out, "if this were done, many refunds would be eliminated."

The Maryland law does not provide for the crediting of tax from one year to another, and because of accounting problems under the state's system of distribution, taxpayers are requested not to credit any overpayment made on the 1956 return to the declaration that may be filed for 1957. Mr. Tawes said all overpayments will be refunded just as quickly as possible.

Soil Supervisors Discuss Goals For Next Year

Five Will Attend State Meeting

Suggested goals for 1957 were discussed yesterday by the Allegany County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors at the final meeting of the year at the office of County Agent Joseph M. Steger in the Court House.

Martin M. Gordon, conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service here, said the supervisors hope to continue the progressive trends in agriculture which have been followed in recent years.

Charles S. Harvey, Floyd Buser and D. T. Puffenberger, three of the five supervisors, and Gordon and Steger plan now to attend the annual meeting of the Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts Inc. at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore January 7 and 8.

The state group has been discussing the problem of land wastage by gravel and sand pit as well as strip mining operations. Fred L. Bull, recording secretary of the association, would like to know whether operators grade and plant such areas when they have finished with them.

At yesterday's meeting, Gordon also reported on new developments in the county. He said a seven-acre plum orchard was planted the past month on the contour on the property of Theodore Stegmaier on Chirstie Road.

Three new co-operators were signed up in the past month. Charles E. Dunn, one of them, owns a 100-acre farm on Winchester Road. He plans a farm pond and general conservation practices.

Another one, Gene Teter, signed up for conservation practices on his 725-acre farm near Flintstone. He plans a number of practices including open drainage and tile drainage ditches, diversion terraces and tree planting.

Contour strip cropping and grassland practices will be utilized by Robert Adams on a 150-acre farm on Bedford Road. A contour strip was laid on 30 acres of this farm, which is owned by Walter White.

Injured Truck Driver On 'Critical' List

The condition of Jon Edward Rosenberger, 19, of Grantsville, remained "the same," attendants at Meyersdale, Pa., Community Hospital said last night.

The young Garrett County truck driver was in "critical" condition after being admitted Wednesday following the crash of his vehicle after it skidded on an icy spot on the highway near Friendsville.

Rosenberger is employed as a driver for a Frostburg area dairy. He suffered internal injuries, fractured ribs and lacerations of the forehead and scalp.

A passenger in the truck, James Short, 17, also of Grantsville, was in "good" condition, suffering from a broken nose and fractured right foot.

Water Officials Urge Broader Potomac Power

Police Authority Is Opposed

HYATTSVILLE, Md., Dec. 27 (AP)—Suburban Maryland water officials today urged the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin to broaden its planning authorities over future river uses.

They opposed granting of any police power to the interstate body which is now limited by its compact to deal only on an advisory basis with pollution control.

The recommendations were made during a meeting between the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission and a committee of the interstate group.

Members of the Potomac commission are conferring with water and health authorities in its four compact states and the District of Columbia to sound out sentiment for increasing powers of the advisory body. The compact states are Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

"Political Trouble" Predicted

WSCC Chief Engineer Harry B. Shaw told the five-man commission delegation he favored expanding the agency's advisory powers to include the fields of irrigation, water supply, conservation and recreation.

"If you try to become an enforcement agency, you'll get into a lot of political trouble," Shaw declared. He predicted that such a move would be opposed in the Maryland Legislature.

The Potomac commission was ordered to look into the possibilities of broadening its powers at a governor's conference last summer of compact states.

Hyde Urges Police Powers

Rep. Hyde (R-Md) has recommended that the commission be given police powers to enforce anti-pollution measures in the Potomac.

Pennsylvania sanitation officials last week advised the committee to take steps aimed at giving the commission anti-pollution enforcement powers.

WSCC members today also went on record in favor of either increasing or eliminating the $30,000 annual ceiling on spending by the interstate unit.

Among those representing the Potomac commission at the meeting were John I. Rogers of Keyser, W. Va., chairman, and George Hazelwood of Cumberland.

Ending Exemptions

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Dec. 27 (AP)—A new move to bring farm irrigation and city water systems under state control if they tap the Potomac River may be made at the 1957 meeting of Maryland General Assembly.

The plan has encountered farm opposition in the past.

Except for farm irrigation and city water systems, users may tap the river water only upon approval of the Maryland Department of Mines, Geology and Water Resources.

Del. Hervey G. Machen (D-Prince Georges) said farm irrigation and city systems are exempt from state control under the state's 1933 water resources act.

He said his legislative council subcommittee is considering asking the General Assembly to amend the water resources act.

Machen is chairman of the subcommittee on the Potomac River basin.

Dr. John T. Singewald, director of the State's water resources agency, said the removal of the exemption of farms and cities is "the most pressing water resources legislation confronting Maryland at this time."

Police Issuing Tags For Bikes From Santa Claus

Business is flourishing at the office of Mrs. Vivian Turley, records clerk of the City Police Department, who is busy issuing license tags to youngsters who received brand-new bicycles from Santa Claus.

Mrs. Turley said yesterday that during the past two days she has issued 45 such tags. She is in her office from 9 a.m. until 4 p. m. Monday through Friday and is urging parents to have their children get the tags as soon as possible.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn pointed out that every bicycle must be equipped with a bell or horn, as well as a headlight for night riding, and a reflector on the rear fender. Brakes in tip-top working order also are required.

ESB To Tour Prospective Office Sites

Five Proposals Being Considered

A number of prospective sites for use as a local branch office for the Maryland Department of Employment Security will be inspected today by members of the Employment Security Board.

Robert B. Kimble, chairman of the board, will be accompanied on the tour of the locations by the two other board members, Joseph P. Healy and Charles H. Borcherding Sr.

Mr. Kimble said the tour is expected to get under way about 9 o'clock this morning.

Five Bids Received

Five proposals have been received and turned over to the department's fiscal management department for tabulation and report.

The decision on a site for the office is expected to be reached soon, according to Mr. Kimble, who said the state agency is looking for a location with approximately 5,500 to 6,000 square feet of first-floor space, located in the vicinity of the busines- center of town and near public transportation.

Parking space is also desired by the department. The department is asking certain services, including heat, light and water and janitor service, beginning on June 30, 1957.

Services Integrated

Bidders were asked to provide a sketch of their proposed building, its location and terms for five and ten-year leases.

Mr. Kimble pointed out yesterday the department is streamlining its facilities by integrating the employment service and unemployment insurance service.

Should a work load become heavy for some employes, others can give assistance. Such a situation could arise if a plant suddenly laid off a number of employes and department personnel would be faced with a work load over and above the daily work.

First Hearing On Road Job Is Conducted

Only five private citizens attended a public hearing yesterday afternoon at the Corriganville Fire Hall concerning the new Mt. Savage Road between the Narrows and Barrelville.

Paul A. Kempter, construction engineer for the State Roads Commission in this area, conducted the hearing, the first of its kind in Allegany County under a new federal act which requires them on all federal aid highway projects.

The only objector at the hearing was R. L. Shaffer, who operates an auto repair shop in Corriganville. He complained about the adverse effect upon his business.

Mr. Kempter explained that the purpose of these hearings is to discuss the economic effect which the proposed road improvement will have upon the community. Consequently, Mr. Shaffer's remarks were considered outside the scope of the hearing.

The Cumberland Contracting Company already has been awarded the contract for the job which will extend for more than three miles. The actual construction is not supposed to get under way until next spring, although some clearing of the right-of-way is expected this winter.

Most of the people at the hearing were pleased with the plan to carry Route 36 south of the community of Corriganville. They believe the bypass of their community will make it safer for their children.

From now on, a hearing will be required for each highway job using federal aid funds.

Jaycees Seek Top Young Man

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce has formulated plans to present an award to the outstanding young man of Cumberland for 1956, according to Bernard Warren, committee chairman.

Candidates, who must be 35 years of age or under, will be selected on the basis of their community contributions, their leadership and business abilities, as well as their personal character.

Blanks have been mailed to the service clubs and fraternal organizations of the city for their nominees. These nomination blanks are to be returned to the Jaycee office, 514 Liberty Trust Building, by January 5.

A judging committee, to be announced later, will select the outstanding young man from the candidates nominated.

ROBERT GARNER

1957 Red Cross Drive Leaders Are Announced

A. J. Klauenberg, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has been named chairman of the American Red Cross drive in Allegany County.

Vice-chairman for the campaign which will be held during March is Robert Garner, commercial manager of the Cumberland office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Chauncey M. Sanner, chairman of the Allegany County Board of the Red Cross, announces that an organizational meeting will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in the local Red Cross office.

The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint campaign leaders with the organization and setup of the drive held early this year. The goal of the 1957 campaign is $35,000 which is the same figure as this year.

A percentage of the funds remains in the county and the balance is forwarded to the national headquarters. About $16,478 or 47.12 per cent will remain in the county while $18,489 or 52.88 per cent goes to national headquarters.

As in the past the drive will be sub-divided into various sections including Advanced Gifts, Classified, Clubs and Organizations, Residential and County Branches with drives in Frostburg, Lonaconing, Barton, Midland, Mt. Savage, Eckhart, Westernport-Luke and Ridgeley.

Since its beginning in 1881, the goal of the Red Cross has been to serve the American people by softening the effects of disaster, suffering and war.

Its primary responsibilities — services to the armed forces and disaster services—have been assigned to the Red Cross by the government of the United States, to be carried out for and in the name of the American people.

They are supported exclusively by voluntary contributions. To these duties, the Red Cross has added a broad range of services responding to community needs.

Rec Plan May Come Before City Wednesday

Mayor Objects To Graciano Contract

Mayor Roy W. Eves predicted yesterday the proposed charter amendment resolution which would allow consolidation of parks and recreation into a single department may come before the council at next Wednesday's session.

The mayor, who strongly favors the consolidation idea, said he understood there were several minor matters to be ironed out in the ordinance before it reaches the Mayor and City Council meeting.

"At present, the park board which is composed of myself, the street commissioner and a city employe, is without basis since it is entirely controlled by the city," Mayor Eves said.

The new amendment would provide for a nine-member park board to handle the management and budget of the city's parks. The board would include the mayor and street commissioner as ex-officio members.

'No Politics"

"The new plan takes the politics out of the management of the parks and the recreation department," the mayor stated.

Mayor Eves, who was unable to attend last Wednesday's council meeting, also went on record as opposing the acceptance of the $4,900 bid of the A. J. Graciano Company of Pittsburgh for cleaning and sandblasting the exterior of City Hall.

The bid by the Pennsylvania firm was accepted and the contract was awarded Wednesday by the council in a 3-1 vote with Mayor Eves absent.

Payment will be made under contract next August and will be appropriated from the next fiscal year's budget.

"This is unsound both politically and financially," said Mayor Eves, "and I agree with (Finace) Commissioner (John J.) Long in his opposition to the contract at this time."

Budget To Be "Tight"

The mayor pointed out that all the commissioners are expected to work on a "tight" budget for the next fiscal year and said this contract was an additional amount which must be placed in the street department's expenses.

He said that when the question of pay raises for city employes was brought up recently, each of the commissioners said budgets could not be increased to meet the demand.

Now, the mayor said, one department adds nearly $5,000 to its budget and another "already has voted pay raises for two of its departmental heads." Mayor Eves here referred to the $50 pe month pay increase granted Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn and Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

No Serious Yule Fires Reported

Cumberland has been fortunate this Christmas holiday season, according to Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, who pointed out yesterday that no serious fires have been caused by decorated trees igniting in local homes.

In recalling the tragic fires of past Christmases, Chief Parker said a tree can go up in flames in a matter of seconds, and he is urging residents to use extra care and caution to avert such tragedies.

With each additional day of the holiday season, trees are becoming more dry and the fire potential becomes more dangerous by the hour.

Chief Parker said that should a fire occur at your house, the first thing to do is get the family outdoors to safety and notify the fire department.

He also said that it is a good idea to take down the Christmas tree and dispose of it as soon after New Year's as possible.

GI Enrollments Exceeding Ten Million Mark

Enrollments of veterans under four federal training programs have passed the 10 million mark, it was disclosed yesterday at the local contact office of the Veterans Administration.

According to W. L. Limburg, regional manager, Baltimore, of which region the local office is a part, the 10 millionth person to start training probably was a Korean veteran, since World War II training programs virtually have passed out of existence.

Of the national 10,000,000 total, Mr. Limburg reports that 124,000 veterans were trained in the Maryland area.

The first program, Public Law 16, vocational rehabilitation for disabled World War II veterans, came into existence in March 1943, during the height of the war. A national total of 612,000 disabled veterans received training under Public Law 15, during the past 13 years. Of this national total, 6,100 received training in the Maryland area.

The largest program of all, World War II GI Bill, was also enacted during wartime (June 1944) and came to an end, with the exception of certain special cases, on July 25, 1956. More than half of all World War II veterans, or 7,815,000, have availed themselves of its education and training benefits. Here in Maryland, Mr. Limburg outlined, 102,500 used the benefit program for education and training.

The third program, Public Law 894, provides vocational training to disabled Korean veterans. Since its enactment, Mr. Limburg said, 44,000 disabled veterans have received training throughout the nation. Of this number 400 represented the Maryland area.

The fourth program, the Korean GI Bill, became law in the summer of 1952. During the past four years, Mr. Limburg explained, a total of 1,645,000 Korea veterans have received GI training. Of this number, 15,000 were in the Maryland area.

Under present law, veterans' training will be part of the American scene until 1968, at which time the program for disabled veterans will end.

Equity Suit Filed

Flood Levee On West Side Is Completed

Work Is Accepted By Engineer Corps

The U.S. Corps of Engineers has accepted the completed work on the West Side portion of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control Project, the district engineer notified the Mayor and City Council.

A letter from Lt. Col. John C. Chapman of the engineering corps to the E. J. Albrecht Company, accepting the completed work of the contractor on behalf of the United States, was forwarded to C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, by Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for this district.

The contract included the relocation of the Kelly Boulevard, extension of the West Cumberland levee from the existing concrete flood wall upstream along the Potomac River to the B&O Railroad tracks, and the completion of the earthen levee and concrete flood wall, the Western Maryland Railway track sheet piling cutoff and appurtenant drainage features in West Ridgeley.

Mr. Dexter said the completion of this contract ends flood control work on the west end of the river. Work is now under way at the downstream end of the concrete wall behind the Loyal Order of Moose home on Beall Street and the new Blue Bridge.

The Kelly Boulevard was raised approximately eight feet to tie in with the earth levee and the B&O tracks beginning at the intersection of the boulevard and Avirett Avenue.

The boulevard was moved nearer the tracks, repaved with concrete, had curbing placed on both sides and a guard fence erected downstream at the levee.

The earth levee in West Cumberland was built from the concrete wall which was erected by the Wright Contracting Company previously. The levee is approximately 15 feet high and braced with stone rip rap on the river side. Grass has been sown on the city side of the structure.

A sluice gate conduit at Lehigh Street was completed and a control manhole and gate was erected.

On the Ridgeley side of the river the earthen levee was extended to the Western Maryland yards, the last 600 feet of the structure being a concrete wall.

This wall has been placed between the river and the railroad tracks which are located too near the river bed to allow an earth levee to be built.

The final portion of the flood wall is composed of interlocking sheet piling which has been driven into the ground at the upstream end of the wall. This piling is approximately five feet lower than the top of the flood wall but is capped by a bituminous base upon which sandbags can be placed to protect the railway tracks in that area.

Mr. Dexter explained that the Cumberland levee is constructed of rip rap on the river side as this type of structure takes less land space at the base. The Ridgeley levee is much wider at the base and is covered with grass on both sides of the levee.

The Ridgeley levee also has been built back several yards from the river bank to get the necessary cross sectional area to handle the expected load of high water should the river reach flood stage.

A sluice gate also was erected in the Ridgeley wall opposite the gate at the end of Cumberland's Lehigh Street. Sewer lines in Ridgeley at that point were somewhat revised as a portion of the contract work and traps were placed in the lines.

Police Continue Probe Of Attempted Robbery

City Police Detectives are continuing an investigation into a robbery attempt on Wednesday in which a woman grocery store clerk was beaten on the head with a soft drink bottle.

Mrs. Myrtle Smith, 59, of 32 Pennsylvania Avenue, received treatment at Memorial Hospital for lacerations of the head suffered in the incident, which occurred at Baldwin's Grocery, 200 Pennsylvania Avenue.

She told police her assailant attempted to open the cash register but was frightened away by her screams.

Deadline For Tickets Set For January 5

The Republican Inaugural Committee of Allegany County is making final plans for the trip by special train to Washington, D. C. for the second term inauguration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower on Monday, January 21, according to Earl E. Manges, local attorney who is chairman.

Mr. Manges said the committee has set January 5 as the deadline for those desiring to sign up for the train that will be chartered.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has agreed to run the train provided at least 200 persons from this area plan to attend the event.

The slightly higher round-trip fare will include a grandstand seat. Manges said as soon as the necessary number definitely agrees to go the committee will purchase a block of grandstand seats.

Persons who are interested in making the excursion to the nation's capital are asked to contact Mr. Manges or any of the committee members. They are Thomas Williams, LaVale; W. A. Strother, city, and Dr. Alice K. Schuster, an instructor at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The special train will depart early on the morning of the Inauguration and will return the same day. Manges said 15 persons from the Bedford, Pa., area have indicated they will make the trip from here.

In 1952 over 200 persons from this section made the trip to Washington by special train.

She is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Evelyn B. Reynolds, 824 Buckingham Road. No charges were placed against the driver.

Mrs. Rakow was reported to have sustained lacerations and bruises as well as brush burns in the accident which occurred about 2:40 p. m.

The 12-week training schedule included drill, bayonet training, physical conditioning, parades and ceremonies and other military subjects.

More Snow Expected Today

More light snow is forecast during the early morning hours today in the northern and western portions of Maryland although the Weather Bureau indicated it probably would be no heavier than snow that swept through the same general area early yesterday.

Early risers yesterday morning were surprised to see about two inches of snow lying on the ground in Cumberland and general area. However those who slept in did not get to see the winter effect, as the snow quickly melted.

Ralph E. Weber, official weather observer at Oakland, said last night that a warm breeze from the southwest "blew the winter away," although patches of snow were still on the ground in that vicinity.

Some sleet fell in that portion of the state yesterday morning but had melted during the afternoon. About four inches of snow fell in Garrett County sectors during the past several days, although it was shortlived with the rise in temperatures.

He said the temperature reading there about 9 p.m. yesterday was 35 degrees and the wind was beginning to become stronger, indicating it might "blow up something" overnight.

Maryland State Police at LaVale said U.S. Route 40 west toward Grantsville was wet in spots but passable. East of Cumberland toward Hancock the highway was fairly dry.

Unofficial temperature in downtown Cumberland last night about 9 o'clock was 8 degrees and the highest reached during the afternoon was 51 degrees, about 2 o'clock.

Estimated Tax Payment Is Due On January 15

The final installment on estimated income tax due the State of Maryland for the year 1956 is due by January 15, 1957, J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller, reminded yesterday.

Stating that notices have been sent to all who filed declarations for 1956 showing the condition of their accounts, Mr. Tawes said that in many instances the notices will show that the estimated tax has been fully paid but the statements have been sent to all, as information may be beneficial in the preparation of individual tax returns.

The comptroller also said that last year many taxpayers apparently were under the impression that the filing of a declaration of estimated tax and the making of payments was all that was necessary.

Consequently hundreds of taxpayers failed to file individual returns for the year, which necessitated writing to them to obtain these returns, he said. He also made it clear that the individual income tax return must be filed showing the taxpayer's actual tax liability. On the returns credit is entered for declaration payments as well as for any tax that may have been withheld.

Mr. Tawes said that under the law if the completed individual return is filed by January 31, 1957, and the balance of tax paid at that time, the final declaration payment need not be made.

"Actually," he pointed out, "if this were done, many refunds would be eliminated."

The Maryland law does not provide for the crediting of tax from one year to another, and because of accounting problems under the state's system of distribution, taxpayers are requested not to credit any overpayment made on the 1956 return to the declaration that may be filed for 1957. Mr. Tawes said all overpayments will be refunded just as quickly as possible.

Soil Supervisors Discuss Goals For Next Year

Five Will Attend State Meeting

Suggested goals for 1957 were discussed yesterday by the Allegany County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors at the final meeting of the year at the office of County Agent Joseph M. Steger in the Court House.
